This Strange World.
Prohibition Much Alive.
Uncle Sam in Wheat.
Those Surprising Russians.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MR. THOMAS, of the British Labor cabinet, says the world's trouble is the sudden end of great buying power.

Four hundred million people in China, 300,000,000 in India, 140,000,000 in Russia, half the buying population of the world suddenly stopped buying.

BOYCOTTING SILVER, which India and China use for money, plus civil war and rebellion are responsible for part of the trouble.

And the United States' boycott of Russia, is responsible for part.

THIS IS AN EXTRAORDINARY world, in which too much wheat, coal, copper, sugar, and even too much money, mean disaster.

Money was lent freely in Wall Street yesterday at one per cent on call, and you could borrow for 90 days at two per cent.

Some financial genius should know how to use unlimited money, plus unlimited raw materials, plus unlimited labor to bring back our vanished unlimited prosperity.

WASHINGTON BELIEVES that President Hoover's influence will be used to keep prohibition conditions as they are, at least until after 1932. The President is said to believe that prohibition should have a further chance to prove that it will work.

Enforcement costs, for actual enforcement employes, about $17,400,000 a year. Needless to say, it costs also what could be a yearly income of $500,000,000 to the government, now changed to an income of several billions to bootleggers.

REPUBLICAN POLITICIANS believe that prohibition will still be a winning issue in 1932. This consideration, which does not influence the President, has much weight with the politicians in his party.

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, wife of an important New York financier, head of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform, says she and her organization have lost all interest in merely changing the Volstead act. It is "repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or nothing," says she.

Ladies at a "victory luncheon" supposed to celebrate the defeat of prohibition applauded this.

If it really is "repeal or nothing," it will be nothing. Unless something drastic and unpleasant happens, you will not get three-quarters of the states to vote for repeal.

PROHIBITION AUTHORITIES in Detroit have seized 12 airplanes used for smuggling in rum and aliens. Eighteen other planes similarly used have been identified.

A plane can carry as much as 40 cases of whisky, which would yield at least $1,000 for a short flight. Smuggling aliens is even more profitable than smuggling whisky.

Hard working aliens from China and European aliens planning a profitable criminal career in America gladly pay $1,000 each for a safe landing on American soil.

THE FARM BOARD has held up the price of American wheat by spending a million dollars a day to buy grain and take it out of the market.

Wheat has been selling at Winnipeg and Liverpool as low as 18 cents below the American price.

This means that other wheat-producing countries have been changing their wheat into money, and sending it where it will be eaten.

THE UNITED STATES has been using taxpayers' money to buy wheat and store it away. Just how that will end is something to think, and perhaps worry, about.

One plan would be to send the accumulations of wheat to the starving Chinese and let them eat it, thus getting rid of the surplus and storing up national credit in heaven.

But, while we can afford 10 billions for nations fighting, we could not afford 90,000 bushels of wheat for people starving.

BUSINESS MEN, expecting "Russia's experiment" to fall flat, are startled by news items that the indefatigable Cyrus H. K. Curtis picks up, right in the heart of Russia.

He finds 10,000 workmen building a gigantic automobile factory near Nijny-Novgorod. American engineers are building a model city around the huge factory, and Russia expects to turn out 140,000 cars a year by 1932.

Stalin's engineers actually talk of building 8,000,000 cars a year later on.

Russia, apparently, doesn't agree with the outside theory that its experiment is already a failure.

REGULAR AIRPLANE travel is planned between Chicago and New York in eight and a half hours or less.

That interests railroad men.

AUTOMOBILE TRAVEL also interests railroads.

Four young people in Buffalo decided to see the Yale-Princeton game at Princeton, N. J. They made the trip in one day in a small automobile. For gas and oil the cost was $4.10. Railroad tickets for the four, not including Pullman, would cost $72.

BOARD SPURS LOTTERY RAIDS

Police Smash Two 'Pools' Near Schools; Equipment Seized and Men Fined

Another alleged "numbers" lottery station, specializing the nickel and dime trade of school children, was hit by Inspector Albert Beebe's police today when they raided a Fifth avenue confectionery across the street from Fifth Avenue High School. "Numbers" paraphernalia was confiscated and William Hays, of 1735 Fifth avenue, was arrested.

Commenting on the raids, Dr. A. L. Lewin, member of the Board of Education, said police had been stirred to activity by the discussion of the "numbers" racket at a recent meeting of the board.

TWO ARE FINED

Raymond Foreman, 35, of 2130 Rose street, arrested charged with operating a lottery opposite the Rose Public School, Rose and Charles streets, were fined $50 with the option of 30 days in the workhouse by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today.

Police testified that complaints had been received of school children spending their pennies for the numbers racket in Foreman's place. Slips for one, two and three cents, and an adding machine, were confiscated, they said.

Foreman denied writing the slips, some of which, police testified, bore his initials. He asked for return of his adding machine but Police Inspector Albert Beebe refused, declaring the police were out to stop fleecing of school children.

DETECTIVES' RAID

County detectives raided an alleged clearing house lottery headquarters, 1230 Pasture street, arrested five men, confiscated three adding machines, books and a sign which read: "Notice—this book positively pays 300 to 1 on triples and doubles—Management."

Those arrested were James Mele, 1230 Pasture street; Vincent Prezioso, 1215 Fifth avenue; James Sarkis, 1312 Whitcomb street; Paul Schrillo, 1609 Wylie avenue; Joe Foglia, 24 Crawford street. All were charged with maintaining a lottery before Alderman George J. Anderson. They will be given a hearing tomorrow.

Flames Damage Arrott Power Building; Traffic Blocked Hour in Penn, Liberty Aves.

Two firemen and a policeman were injured and a battalion chief was rescued shortly after noon today as a result of a stubborn fire that swept several floors of the Arrott Power Building, Scott place, near Penn avenue and Seventh street.

Four alarms called all available firemen from the downtown, North Side, South Side, Oakland and East Liberty districts. Traffic was at a standstill for more than an hour in Penn and Liberty avenues and Seventh street.

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith estimated the damage at $25,000.

CROWDS ATTRACTED

A dense pall of smoke rolled over the downtown business area and large crowds were attracted. Police lines were established and spectators were kept at a distance.

The injured were:

HOSEMAN JAMES LUDWIG, 32, Engine Company No. 4, struck by bricks; attended at the scene and sent to Mercy Hospital with probably fractured pelvis.

JAMES THOMPSON, traffic officer at Smithfield and Carson streets, struck by hose truck as it sped from South Side; taken to St. Joseph's Hospital; condition reported not serious.

EDWARD HEFFERMAN, of No. 33 Engine Company, struck by flying glass while on ladder, cut on hand; taken to Mercy Hospital.

Drive to Popularize Dry Law Starts; Pittsburgh Picked as Center

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. — (AP.) — City by city the Anti-Saloon League is undertaking the enlistment of high-standing business men in a campaign to popularize prohibition.

The objective, as described by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, is to tell by newspapers, magazines, radio and motion pictures what it considers the merits of prohibition, without overlooking a resume of unfavorable conditions in the saloon days.

FOLLOWS ST. LOUIS CASE

The extent of this campaign was outlined by McBride last night soon after Prohibition Director Woodcock had made known his approval of the prosecution in St. Louis of a merchant who sold grape juice which turned into wine.

But Woodcock explicitly said the case was not a precedent for wholesale rounding up of grape juice sellers, so the problem of just how to regard the widespread sale of an innocent beverage des-

SLUMP LIGHTER IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh has passed through the business depression in better shape than many other large cities in the country. This is shown by a survey of the bureau of business research of the University of Pittsburgh, co-operating with the research and statistics committee of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

An indication of the truth of this statement has already been given in surveys showing the large number of Pittsburgh companies which will report earnings equal to those of last year. While it is true that certain industries in specialized lines have made

2 Men Held In Mayview Death

Homicide detectives today arrested two suspects and charged them with the murder of Charles Lappe, whose death in Mayview Hospital of a fractured skull caused a police probe by Public Safety Director James Clark and exoneration of those connected with the arrest and treatment of the prisoner.

The men under arrest were Simon Whaby, 35, of 8 Gilmore way, and Philip Russa, 37, 5436 Dresden way. Detectives arrested the men at their homes and are holding them for questioning by the coroner. Detective Lieut. Frank Ferris refused to reveal what evidence was obtained.

Lappe was arrested November 2 at Bedford avenue and Washington street. He was found suffering with a scalp laceration, and after treatment at the Passavant Hospital, was taken to Center Avenue Police station, charged with drunkenness. Sentenced to jail for 10 days, Lappe was ordered to Mayview by Jail Physician C. J. Ellis, who found the prisoner in a serious condition.

BANKER HEADS DRY WAR HERE

Joseph W. Marsh, president of the Exchange National Bank, named by F. Scott McBride, Anti-Saloon League head, as the Pittsburgh member of a nation-wide committee of business men to popularize prohibition, today said he had accepted the post and that plans already were under way here in the interest of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Prohibition has been justified, Marsh asserted. He said there has been an improvement in law

Summerall Quits As Chief of Staff

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(INS.)—Gen. Charles P. Summerall, of Eustis, Fla., chief of staff for the past four years, closed his active career as a soldier today. Tomorrow Maj. Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has been commandant of the Philippine department since 1928, will be sworn as his successor.

VALE, HEMPHILL AIDE, QUITS JOB

HARRISBURG, Nov. 20. — (INS.)—Maj. E. M. Vale, chief of the bureau of public convenience of the Public Service Commission, today announced his intention to retire from the state service January 1.

The Vale resignation is the first of those who were active in the recent campaign for John M. Hemphill, Democratic-Liberal nominee for governor.

Maj. Vale entered the state service during the existence of the railroad commission which preceded creation of the Public Service Commission on January 1, 1913.

Pitt Bans MacMurdo, Collins

Ineligibility struck the ranks of the Pitt Panthers today when the faculty committee on eligibility barred Jim MacMurdo and Rip Collins, varsity ends, from further participation in varsity athletics for failure to attend classes with any degree of regularity.

The action will keep the pair out of the game with Penn State, the final contest of the season, Thanksgiving Day.

MacMurdo is registered in the School of Education and Collins in the School of Business Administration.

NO MOVE NOW TO CUT TAXES

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—The Treasury plans to refrain from recommending to Congress proposals to suspend operation of the sinking fund next year to enable continuance of the 1 per cent tax reduction granted on income of 1929. The law requires setting aside of some revenue each year in the sinking fund to meet the public debt, which is approximately $16,000,000,000.

It developed today that high Treasury officials feel the question of suspension will be brought up in the short session of Congress, and there would be no need for the Treasury to act until the matter is placed before it by the legislative branch.

The law says operation of the sinking fund can be suspended only in a national emergency. The position of the Treasury is that no such emergency exists.

The debt at its peak amounted to $26,000,000,000. Since the war $10,000,000,000 has been retired, of which $3,200,000,000 came from the sinking fund. The government is $7,000,000,000 ahead of the retirement program.

Second Harvard Captain To Wed Daughter of Day

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—For the second time in two years, a daughter of Joseph P. Day, millionaire New York real estate auctioneer, is to become the bride of a Harvard football captain.

A year ago Pauline Day married Arthur French, captain of Harvard's 1928 team. Today the Day family confirmed news that Laura Pope Day, Pauline's younger sister, is to marry James (Red) Barrett, captain of Harvard's 1929 team. The engagement will be announced formally at the Harvard dinner after the Yale game in New Haven Saturday night.

Laura has three brothers who are Harvard graduates and a fourth preparing for Harvard.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(INS.)—Cardinal Hayes today celebrated his sixty-third birthday. He spent the day quietly at his home.

'Evangelist' Eloped With Wife, Prisoner Charges

With Hartman when arrested, detectives say, were Mrs. Louise Cook, 28, wife of Roy, and their two children, Richard, 8, and Robert, 6.

Cook is said to have written Somerset County authorities that while Hartman was in the workhouse with Cook, the latter told him of his wife and family. When Hartman was paroled, Cook charges, he went to Windber, posed as an evangelist, and persuaded Mrs. Cook to flee with him.

Mrs. Cook today admitted that she had gone with Hartman, according to detectives, giving as an excuse that she and the children were destitute, and she had no choice. The wife and children were left at the Lowell street address to await action by Somerset County authorities.

HOOVER URGES CHILD AID AS CURE FOR GOVERNMENT ILLS

SAFEGUARDS FOR YOUNG PROPOSED

Secretary Davis Addresses Conference; President Sees Health as Boon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—In 10 simultaneous committee sessions, the 3,000 delegates to the White House child welfare conference worked today on behalf of America's boys and girls.

To their meetings, they took the inspiration of an address by President Hoover last night and another by Secretary Davis at this morning's general session.

HOOVER APPEAL

The President's appeal was for a welded, forward-looking program to aid the 45,000,000 children in an age complicated by city congestion and industrialization.

Secretary Davis stressed the past record and future possibilities of the children's bureau which functions under his labor department. He was vigorously applauded when he argued against limiting its scope. He urged rather that the "scattered child welfare activities" or other federal agencies be assembled in the children bureau.

A plan for consolidating under the public health service all public health activities was advanced in a report prepared for the public health service section meeting of which Surgeon Hugh S. Cummings was chairman.

The committee on procedure notified section chairmen each final report should "be free from those topics which are likely to provoke political controversy."

URGES SAFEGUARDS

The President, last night in opening the conference asked for safeguards and services to childhood beyond the reach of the individual parent, which can be provided only by the community, the state or the nation.

Often whimsical in his approach to the complicated child problem on which he set 1,200 experts working more than a year ago, President Hoover brought smiles to his audience of erudite specialists even while he impressed them with the seriousness of their task. He said:

"Our country has a vast majority of competent mothers. I am not so sure of the majority of competent fathers, but what we are concerned with here are the things beyond her power."

REPAIR STORM HAVOC; 19 DEAD

BETHANY, Okla., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Storm-stricken citizens of this Nazarene church colony of 2,000 today assumed the task of burying their 19 dead and rebuilding the some 200 homes laid waste by a tornado that ravaged the eastern section of the town yesterday.

There was little demonstration as the populace drew together the disrupted thread of its existence. W. T. Armstrong, a divinity student at Bethany Peniel College, the town's central institution, lost a hard-worked-for home in the storm, and will have to leave school, but he said:

"It was God's will."

Material aid came quickly from a sympathetic public. It was estimated more than $17,000 had already been received. The Oklahoma Contractors' Association volunteered its services in the rebuilding of homes, waiving profits.

The tornado crushed a path a quarter mile wide through the eastern section of Bethany, flattening homes and injuring scores. At Camel Creek school house, it killed four pupils and injured the teacher and ten other pupils.

Presbyterians Give $12,000,000 to Charity

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—A budget of $12,000,000 has been adopted for the benevolent activities of the Presbyterian Church for the year beginning April, 1931. The figure, decided upon yesterday by the church's general council, is the same as for the current fiscal year.

tined to acquire illegal potency remained up in the air.

GANGSTERS THREATEN

The puzzle was enlivened by the recent reports that gangsters had threatened death to juice men if they invaded their beer baronies, and the apparently well authenticated information that the California grape growers had appealed to the Department of Justice for protection under laws which forbid restraint of interstate commerce. No one in the department so far has confirmed this information, however.

Outlining the education campaign, McBride gave out a list of leading men who, he said, have agreed to take part in guiding the movement. Large groups have been formed, he said, in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Baltimore, three of the cities in the group generally considered outstandingly anti-dry.

The work is under auspices of the league because, he said, it is by far the largest of the dry groups and "is non-sectarian, nonpartisan, is a national organization and has an organization in every state."

McBride gave the league's present budget as approximately $1,500,000 a year.

PITTSBURGHER NAMED

He named the men who have agreed to assist as follows:

Willis J. Abbott, editor of the Christian Science Monitor; Joseph W. Marsh, president, Exchange National Bank, Pittsburgh; P. H. Callahan, president, Louisville Varnish Company, Louisville, Ky.; William F. Cochran, capitalist, Baltimore; M. H. Hoover, president, the Hoover Company, North Canton, O.; Frederick M. Jackson, president, Jefferson City Building and Loan Association, Birmingham; Dr. John Harvey Kellogg, head of Battle Creek Sanitarium, Battle Creek, Mich.; Senator Arthur Capper, Topeka, Kan.; E. S. Collins, lumber operator, Portland, Ore.; Fillmore Condit, capitalist, Long Beach, Cal.; Foster Copeland, president, City National Bank and Trust Company, Columbus, O.; Col. Free N. Dow, retired banker, Portland, Me.; Former Senator Neall Sanders, Chattanooga, Tenn.; Homer C. Selby, vice president, Selby Shoe Company, Portsmouth, O.; Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, Newport, R. I.; Hugh Strange, Neenah, Wis.; Eugene N. Foss, president, B. F. Sturtevant Company, Boston; Dr. Howard A. Kelly, head of Howard A. Kelly Sanitarium, Baltimore; Delcevare King, president, Granite Trust Company, Quincy, Mass.; Henry M. Leland, founder of Cadillace and Lincoln Motor Companies, Detroit; T. H. Maytag, Maytag Company, Newton, Ia.; L. B. Musgrove, coal operator, Jasper, Ala.; Former Senator Robert Owen, Muskogee, Okla.; Joseph M. Steel, president, William Steele and Sons Company, Philadelphia; Horace D. Taft, headmaster Taft School, Watertown, Conn.

2 REPORT CHOICE UNKNOWN

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Dr. Howard A. Kelly and William F. Cochran, of Baltimore, were unaware they had been listed by Dr. F. Scott McBride, Anti-Saloon League superintendent among the principal supporters of a renewed prohibition offensive among business and professional men.

Dr. Kelly said he intended to take no part in the proposed dry drive in business, industrial and professional fields but to confine himself instead to the churches.

Cochran's comment was:

"If it is true that I have been picked as a leader of the movement in Baltimore, I can only say I would prefer that a more outstanding figure in the business and industrial life of the community should be chosen in my place."

BANKER HEADS DRY WAR HERE

enforcement and this will continue. He added:

"The purpose of the plan is to get men of prominence and ability who believe in the maintenance of present laws to take as much interest in supporting prohibition as some others are taking against it.

"Some groups already have been called together here and elsewhere, with the object, principally, of having them pledge themselves, their means and their influence to upholding the prohibition laws.

"There has been a considerable improvement in the enforcement of these laws. There is not going to be any change of national policy on this subject; on the other hand enforcement will be made increasingly effective.

"We believe that any political party that comes out openly for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment or modification of the Volstead act, is doomed to defeat by the people. That was pretty well illustrated at the last presidential election.

"As a manufacturer I have seen the benefits of prohibition. It has absolutely been justified."

Daix Seeks Senate Pro Tem Presidency

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—State Senator Augustus F. Daix, Jr., Philadelphia, expects to be chosen president pro tem of the Senate for the 1931 session of the Legislature, he said at a dinner last night at the Manufacturers' Club to Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, United States senator-elect.

BROWN TO ASK MAIL RATE INCREASE

Kelly Assails Proposal as Unjustified; Congress Opposition Is Held Certain

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Postmaster General Brown has decided to submit to Congress his proposal to raise the cost of letter postage to two and a half cents despite advice from members that it is doomed to defeat, it was learned today.

The recommendation is expected to be considered by postoffice committees of both Senate and House, and strong opposition is indicated.

CALLED UNJUSTIFIED

Representative Clyde Kelly (Rep.), Pennsylvania, member of the house committee, declared Brown's proposal is entirely without justification. He said:

"The Postmaster General's report for 1929 shows a profit of $84,000,000 on first class mail at the present rate. A loss is reported on all other classes of mail. It seems illogical to add $75,000,000 to the cost of first class postage.

"I have contended since 1923, when the first cost ascertainment was made in the postoffice, that it was made on an erroneous basis. There is no such profit in handling first class mail as the postoffice reports. I have suggested that one-half of all postoffice expense be charged against first class mail because it is the primary service of the department.

FIRST CLASS MAIL

"Even on that basis the rate on first class mail brings in revenue to meet the expense of handling it.

"The two-cent rate on letters was fixed in 1883. It is astounding that 47 years afterward with the unit cost of handling mail decreasing, we should now be considering an increase in the rate. Increasing the volume of mail is a far better way of raising revenue.

"I do not believe Congress will act favorably upon the recommendation for the increase.

"We now have bills pending which will bring $5,000,000 additional revenue to the department, through directory service, money order charges and similar minor changes in the department."

Kelly is author of the postal policy law enacted by Congress under which the annual expense of $40,000,000 for handling government mail free is not included in the deficit.

Excluding this, the department predicts a $55,000,000 deficit for the year of 1930.

FIRE ROUTS 4 FAMILIES

Members of four families, dazed by smoke, were forced from their homes on the second and third floors of a building at 835 Braddock avenue, Braddock, when flames swept through a shoe store on the first floor early today. Although the flames were confined to the storeroom, smoke filled the rooms and corridors of the upper floors.

Herman Litman, proprietor of the Eagle shoe store on the first floor, told police that he had just received his Christmas stock and that his loss would reach $20,000. The Denaro jewelry store, at 837 Braddock avenue, was slightly damaged by smoke.

Those forced from their apartments by the dense smoke were William Ragan and Mrs. Ragan, Carl Smith, lodger; Walter Nicholson, Mrs. Nicholson and their four children; James Boyle, his wife and two children, and Mrs Kathryn Ketter, lodger.

WOMAN PLEADS INDIA'S CASE AT PARLEY

Jeweled Begum Asks London Delegates to Support Proposal for Federation

LONDON, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—The voice of Mother India was heard at the round table conference today for the first time when the beautiful Begum Shah Nawaz addressed the assemblage to ask that her country's future government be built along lines of an Indian federation.

The begum came to St. James' Palace garbed in a bright pale blue sari, or shawl, edged with silver embroidery, and presented a striking appearance.

In her hair she wore a four leaf ornament of diamonds, and around her neck a festoon necklace of pearls. Tassels of pearls bobbed from her ears as she spoke and her wrists and fingers glistened with bracelets and rings of oriental splendor.

GREETED BY DELEGATES

Indian potentates, Indian radicals and British statesmen surrounded the little woman from a Moslem family which in generations past always observed the custom of "purdah," or seclusion and the veil.

The begum, at first hesitant, spoke with greater confidence as Premier MacDonald smiled encouragement.

She appealed to the round table delegates "not to sit down in the spirit of ruler and ruled, but as friends to help the suffering masses of the country we love."

URGES GOOD WILL

The begum concluded:

"India is bruised and aching and is looking to us—rather not only India, but the whole world is looking to us—to spread the balm of good will and friendship. Let us not disappoint them. May the Almighty God bless our efforts."

As the chamber rang with prolonged applause, Prime Minister MacDonald, chairman of the conference, hastily wrote her a personal note of congratulation, and the towering bearded Maharajah of Patiala, chairman of the chamber of Indian princes, moved from his seat to whisper words of praise into her jewelled ear.

loss from flames, but water did much damage on the two lower floors.

CAUSE NOT KNOWN

The tenants on the four upper floors included the Nevin Printing Company, the Crescent Bookbinding Company, and the L. D. Caulk dental depot.

Fire Chief Smith said he did not know the cause of the fire and the explosion that followed. He started an investigation as soon as the flames were under control.

After striking Patrolman Thompson, the hose truck sideswiped the auto of R. W. Cranston at Smithfield and Carson streets. No one was hurt, but the machine was badly damaged.

Battalion Chief Spahr was rescued when he was trapped on the fourth floor as one of the heavy fire doors was swung shut by the wind. He attempted to open the door, but it was wedged shut.

CALLS FOR HELP

Groping his way, he picked up a printer's galley, knocked on the door and shouted. Firemen chopped their way through the door and pulled Spahr out of the smoke-filled room, nearly overcome. He was revived and remained at the scene, after being treated by Dr. D. E. Sable, who established an emergency hospital in Scott way.

The fire was fought from the top of the building and from roofs of adjoining structures in Scott way.

Ambrose Rock, 23, pressman for the Nevin Printing Company, on the fifth floor, said he was at work when somebody shouted "Fire!" He saw flames sweeping into the room. He and five other employes dashed for the steps and fled the building.

While the Nevin employes were fleeing, Rock said, he heard an explosion, but did not know in what part of the building it occurred. Firemen carried their lines of hose through the building of the Pittsburgh Cut Flower Company on Seventh street in order to battle the flames in the Arrott Building. Some damage was caused in this structure by smoke.

David Belasco Past Crisis, Doctors Say

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—David Belasco passed the crisis today in his illness from pneumonia. His physician said the 76-year-old theatrical producer was in good spirits and his temperature and pulse near normal. His recovery was believed to be assured.

He was stricken in Baltimore Monday.

Girl Found

SARAH BERKOWITZ, 17

'MISSING' GIRL LOCATED

The object of a state-wide search during the night, following her disappearance on the South Side, Sarah Berkowitz, 17, of 316 Market street, McKeesport, was safe at an uncle's home in Brownsville today, where she sought refuge after attending a party she thought her parents did not want her to attend.

Shortly before noon, her fear-stricken father, Edward Berkowitz, McKeesport butcher, answered the telephone for the hundredths time since she disappeared. Her voice answered him:

"Hello, I'm all right; I'm at Uncle Joe's. I wanted to go to a party last night and I thought you might stop me, that's why I left without saying anything. I'm all right. I'll be home today."

Adolph Tasternack, of 535 Sixth street, McKeesport, a cousin, who had gone with Sarah to the South Side to collect a bill for her father, returned without her, after he had waited for four hours for her to return to the place where she was to meet him.

Arriving at their destination, the girl, after making a brief call, re-entered the machine.

The girl stopped Tasternack as he moved to follow her.

"You wait here. I'll be back in five minutes, so don't you dare leave."

Then she drove away.

Tasternack waited for four hours before making his way back to McKeesport. The girl's parents were at a loss to explain her disappearance.

HERRON SEES LITTLE TAX RELIEF

South Hills Has Been 'Getting Off Easy,' He Tells Carrick Delegation

A delegation of Carrick taxpayers called upon John S. Herron, president of City Council, to protest against the increased tax assessments in their district. The committee first waited on Mayor Charles H. Kline, but he was absent from the office.

Mr. Herron told the Carrick group that city assessors are only seeking to do the fair thing by all of the citizens of Pittsburgh. He said that the South Hills wards have been getting off rather easily and that they should realize this before complaining. The delegation was led by F. A. Sacher.

The committee was appointed at a mass meeting in the basement of St. Basil's Catholic Church, Brownsville road, last night. The meeting originally was to have been held in the office of Edwin C. Koontz, funeral director, but the large attendance made it necessary to find other quarters.

NEW RALLY PLANNED

Another committee was appointed last night to arrange for a mass meeting tomorrow night in the Carrick High School. Last night's gathering was hastily arranged and many residents did not know of it. Joseph Lewis presided. Among the speakers was Ellsworth C. Trott, former burgess of Carrick Borough. Walter Landefeld is chairman of the committee arranging the meeting for tomorrow night.

About 400 more appeals were filed yesterday at the city assessors' office, making about 2,000 which have been recorded from the entire city to date. The crowds coming to the office have been decreasing. The office is open each night until 9 o'clock, and will close finally Saturday at 5 p. m.

Reports of a committee appointed to investigate increased property valuations in Brookline will be submitted at a meeting of the Brookline Board of Trade in the public school there tomorrow night. The report will be read by J. F. Moore, chairman. The board will discuss further plans to oppose increased valuations, which, in some cases, it was said at the previous meeting, ranged from 40 to 200 per cent.

Weather Conditions.

Light to moderate rains have fallen and continue in the Mississippi Valley, eastern plains, while snow is falling on the western plains and in Colorado. Denver reports 12 inches of snow on the ground this morning. It is somewhat warmer in the Upper Mississippi, lower Ohio valleys and portions of the far West and colder in the plains.

Darrow Here, Fixes Details For MacGowan Debate

Clarence Darrow, noted attorney and peppery agnostic lecturer, who appeared here recently in a religious forum, will be heard here in a religious debate January 15.

He will meet the Rev. Dr. Robert MacGowan, pastor of the Bellefield Presbyterian Church, in Carnegie Music Hall. Their subject will be, "Is Religion Necessary?"

Arrangements for the debate were completed last night at the Keystone Athletic Club, where Attorney Darrow delivered a lecture.

Man has nothing to do with his own life, Darrow contended in his lecture. To substantiate his belief he declared he became a criminal lawyer, not through choice, but through circumstances. Experience, he declared, has taught him there is no excuse for prisoners or criminals except ignorance of the people and he placed the blame on the educational system.

He said:

"No boy or girl should be permitted to pass school age without learning to do something useful.

"Instead of teaching useless things like algebra, and how to bound the states, they ought to teach the boys and girls how to be bricklayers and carpenters. The public schools are supposed to be supported by the rich to educate the poor, but it works the other way around for in the end labor pays the bills.

"Poverty is solely responsible for crime. Ninety per cent of what we call criminals, and nobody knows what a criminal is, get in jail because of poverty."

Chicago University to End 4-Year College Course

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—An experiment of widespread interest in higher education was in preparation today at the University of Chicago.

Through a reorganization of its component bodies, President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the university said it had taken steps toward eventual abandonment of the traditional four-year college course and the abolition of long-familiar institutions, such as the undergraduate college and the graduate school.

Besides its professional schools, a university under the reorganization already sanctioned by the trustees and faculty, is to consist of five main divisions—the arts, the humanities, and the social, biological and physical sciences—and the college.

The plan aims to inspire capable students to finish their general college course in less than four years. Advancement is to be by comprehensive tests, not by measure of credit hours. President Hutchins said better co-ordination of teaching and scholarship and a breaking down of departmental limitations which bar students from subjects of prime interest to them was considered possible under the revised program.

Pittsburgh Heads List In Fight to Combat Trade Depression

better showings in a few cities, conditions in Pittsburgh generally are above those in many other cities and considerably above the average for the country.

BANKS SHOW TREND

In summarizing the results of its research work the survey states that bank debits reflect general business conditions possibly better than any other single measure. Checks cashed in Pittsburgh during September were 13.5 per cent under those in September, 1929, whereas Chicago showed a decline of 19.2 per cent, Cleveland 28 per cent, Buffalo 51 per cent, and the United States, as a whole outside New York City, 22.1 per cent. On the other hand, Baltimore recorded a loss of only 8 per cent. In the first nine months of 1930, debits to individual accounts in Pittsburgh show a loss of 8.8 per cent from the same period of 1929, compared to a decline of 18.6 per cent in Detroit, 1[illegible] per cent in Philadelphia, and [illegible].1 per cent in Buffalo. Here again, Baltimore shows a decline of but 0.7 per cent.

BUILDING SLUMP LIGHT

The slump in the building industry has been less marked in Pittsburgh than in most of the larger eastern cities. Construction and engineering projects let in this city, according to the F. W. Dodge Corporation, were 17.5 per cent greater in September this year than last, bringing the total contracts let in the first nine months to a level 26.8 per cent below those in the first three quarters of 1929. Chicago construction contracts in September were 15.4 per cent above those in September, 1929, but during the first nine months fell 64.2 per cent under the total in the same period a year earlier. Contracts in Birmingham decreased 56.2 per cent in September and 67.1 per cent in the first nine months from the corresponding periods of 1929. Baltimore recorded a gain of 27.2 per cent in September and a decline of 52.2 per cent in the first three quarters. Construction contracts in the entire United States during the nine months fell 19.6 per cent below the amount reported in the first three quarters of 1929.

TRADE HOLDS FIRM

Retail trade in Pittsburgh has held up remarkably well in the face of the current business recession. Department store sales were only 6 per cent below those in September last year, while total sales for the year-to-date, also decreased 6 per cent for the same months of 1929. This compares with a decline of 9 per cent and 6 per cent, respectively, for the entire United States. Cincinnati stores made a somewhat better showing. Sales in that city during September increased 5 per cent over those in September, 1929, which brings the volume in the first nine months to a level only 3 per cent under that of the corresponding months of 1929. Sales in Baltimore in September fell 13 per cent under those in September, 1929, but the total for the year-to-date is approximately the same as a year earlier. Total sales for the first nine months compared to those in the first three quarters of 1929 were down 10 per cent in Chicago, 11 per cent in Cleveland, 20 per cent in Detroit, and 14 per cent in Birmingham. From the standpoint of retail trade alone, Cincinnati and Baltimore have done a little better so far this year than has Pittsburgh.

WHOLESALERS ACTIVE

Trade at wholesale in Pittsburgh has declined less than in most other cities and considerably less than in the entire United States. Wholesale sales declined only 1.1 per cent under those in September, 1929, whereas there was a decline of 10.5 per cent in Cleveland, 3.3 per cent in Cincinnati, and 30 per cent in the United States. Compared to the first nine months of 1929, wholesale trade fell off 3.9 per cent in Pittsburgh, 8½ per cent in Cleveland and 0.6 per cent in Cincinnati.

Employment conditions are probably better in Pittsburgh than in most of the other large industrial cities. The number of workers on the payrolls of 90 large industrial firms of the city in September were down 11.9 per cent from the number reported in September a year ago. This compares with a decline of 19 per cent in Cleveland, 14.9 per cent in Philadelphia, 23.3 per cent in Cincinnati, and 25 per cent in Buffalo. Payrolls show about the same percentage declines in the several cities.

9 CHINESE HELD IN DOPE RAIDS

Nine Chinese were being held today following their arrests in two raids by narcotic agents and city detectives in Chinatown last night.

Yee King Lai, 39, reputed head of the On Leong Tong, was arrested at 522 Third avenue.

Seizure of a pound of gum opium and 25 gallons of moonshine was reported. With Lai, the detectives arrested Gee Quick, of Hamilton avenue, and Chew Get, of 522 Third avenue, they said.

The other raid, in the basement of a building at 515 Third avenue, yielded raiders a quantity of opium which they valued at $5,000. Six men arrested were docketed as Yee Lang, 42, alleged proprietor; Loo King, June Hoo, George Sun, Yee Dip and Sah Yau.

At a hearing today before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, in Central Police Station, the prisoners were turned over to federal narcotic agents.

U. S. Clerk Killed Near Home, 2 Held

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(INS.)—Maryland and local police today were investigating the mysterious fatal shooting of Arrvi Nurmi, 26, a clerk in the Department of Commerce, whose body was found in front of his home in Takoma Park, Md., with a bullet wound in the head.

Two men are being held for questioning. They are Henry W. McGuire, 29, also employed in the commerce department, and J. J. O'Brien, of this city, unemployed.

Spanish Strikes End, Men Resume Jobs

MADRID, Nov. 20.—(INS.)—Virtually all of Spain was liberated today from the paralyzing general strikes that spread throughout the country following last week's walk-out in Madrid.

Workers at Alicante and Seville, the latest cities to be affected by the walk-outs, returned to their factories today.

LEADERS FETE TUCKER

Forgetting—for the moment—political and personal differences, political leaders of the stormy Third and Fifth Wards and their proteges attended the Third Ward Voters' League testimonial last night to Walter Tucker, the newly-elected Negro assemblyman of the First Legislative district.

The guest list resembled a "Who's Who" in Third and Fifth Ward politics. Attending were Joseph Englesberg, the recognized political leader of the Third Ward, and Alderman John J. Verona, the uncrowned champion of the Third Ward.

Also present was James F. Malone, defeated candidate for mayor and later defeated for the chair of the Fifth Ward Republicans. His Fifth Ward rival, Harry Feldman, now Republican committee chairman of the ward, was seated near him. Councilmen Michael Muldowney and Robert J. Alderdice and Senator James Coyne were also included.

Inspector Albert Beebe was there, and he reported the banquet was orderly. The speeches, the police official said, were well buttered, and no bad passes were made, as each speaker in turn gave Tucker a glad hand pat on the back.

A good time was had by all.

Rector Mute, His Sermon Given In Sign Talk

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—A congregation which cannot hear a sermon and whose rector cannot speak has laid the foundation for a church building here.

It was that of Ephphatha Episcopal Church. All its members are deaf and many are mutes. The Rev. Roma C. Fortune, the rector, is a deaf mute and delivers his sermons in sign language.

Maimed Lad Rests In Hoover Residence

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Tommy Watson, Boy Scout, who had ambitions to play football for Stanford till he lost a leg in a street car accident, is to recover in Herbert Hoover's home on the Stanford campus. He is a brother of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, Jr.

28 SAVED FROM SINKING SHIP

ABOARD THE S. S. MAURETANIA, Nov. 20.—(INS.)—The liner Mauretania today was plowing through fast running seas to New York, her passenger list augmented unexpectedly by the dramatic rescue of 28 persons, one of them a woman, from the sunken Swedish cargo steamer Ovidia.

Summoned from her mid-Atlantic course by the distressed ship's S O S flashed out at 2:30 a. m. yesterday, the Mauretania began a nine-hour dash under full steam through heavy seas to reach the Ovidia.

Two United States vessels, the liners Endicott and America, also responded to the call for help, but slower progress put them in the wake of the Mauretania, which covered a distance of 216 miles to the sinking vessel in record time.

BULLETS MISS FLEEING PAIR

As Detectives Edward Frank, Joseph Bodnar, Frank Malone and John Burke, with Moody Champ and John Butler, Wilmerding police captains, drew up to Romasko's home, Romasko and Mezeritch, apparently hearing the noise of the machine, darted out the back door, with the officers in pursuit.

Champ emptied both barrels of a shotgun at Romasko at close range and believes some of the pellets struck the fleeing man. Other officers opened fire with revolvers, but the two disappeared in the impenetrable mist.

Word was broadcast to hospitals and physicians of the district to watch for a wounded man.

Romasko is under indictment on 11 counts of highway robbery, detectives say. Five of his accomplices are serving time in the Western penitentiary. He has been sought for five months.

Police believe Romasko and Mezeritch were responsible for several holdups in the district last night and had just returned home when the officers arrived.

Coolidge Urges Old-Style Economy in Government

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 20.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

When prices are high the value of the dollar is low. When prices fall the dollar rises. For that reason it is apparent now how wise it has been to reduce the national debt. It was done when the dollar was low and therefore more easy to get. Now that it is higher it will be more difficult to pay the debt. It takes more products to get the dollar.

Calvin Coolidge

Another advantage is the saving in interest. We have paid about five-thirteenths of the national debt which, with refunds at lower rates, has reduced the yearly interest about a half billion dollars. Otherwise the present decrease in revenues from declining trade would force a heavy increase in taxes at a time when the country can least afford to pay them.

Probably increased taxes can be avoided but apparently debt reduction will be curtailed. Past governmental economies produced a surplus which reduced our debt and taxes and makes it much more easy to handle declining revenues. We may need some more old fashioned governmental economy. Certainly it is a time to save all public money consistent with a policy of giving employment.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Teacher Tells How Tornado Uprooted School, Killing 4

(Mary Proctor is the 24-year-old teacher at the Camel Creek schoolhouse, where four children were killed and the teacher and eight others injured in the Bethany, Okla., tornado Wednesday. Her cool direction of the students may have prevented a much larger loss of life. This is her story as given from her hospital bed.)

By MARY PROCTOR.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—I don't see what else I could have done, but it's terrible!

I know it was stormy—it was so dark the children couldn't see to study, and I had been reading to them.

The lightning was vivid, and it seemed stuffy. I had one of the boys open a window.

Then I heard the terrifying noise and knew what was coming. I had the boy close the window and told all the children to lie flat on the floor.

It would have been useless to leave the building, because there were no trees closer than the creek—a hundred yards away.

Some of the children did not even have time to get on the floor before I felt the building move, realized the roof had been torn off—that the school was being hurled through the air!

I saw children flying in every direction as the school whirled apart.

The next thing I knew I was lying in the creek. Several children were near me.

I lifted the wall from him and took one of the little girls out of the creek. I don't know who it was.

It wasn't long before help came.

This policy is in line with the Executive's plans for "stabilization of employment and business" and with his own road-building policy.

In a telegram to retiring President Samuel Eckels, chief highway engineer of Pennsylvania, read at a convention banquet last night, the President said:

LAUDS ROAD PROGRAM

"I will be obliged if you will express my cordial greetings to the meeting of state highway engineers and officials, and my best wishes for all success in your co-operative efforts to carry forward the road building program which is of such vital importance in the stabilization of employment and business."

Inspection tours of state roads as guests of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways will close the conclave today.

Importance of highway construction in the unemployment emergency was emphasized last night by Porter R. Lee, member of President's Emergency Committee on employment. Lee spoke at a banquet held by the engineering societies of Pittsburgh for the delegates.

OUTLINES OBJECTIVE

"Road building is one of the most important sources of relief for the unemployment situation. Such work goes into every community, providing employment for local labor. The committee is attempting to find the means of diverting additional federal funds for aid in state road projects.

"Another aim of the committee is to stress upon a community that relief means are a local responsibility. It relates how measures are developed by other communities and industries.

"The use of staggering payrolls, whereby all employes are maintained but only worked a part of the regular hours, is proving a success."

DO-X DELAYED AT SANTANDER

SANTANDER, Spain, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Unfavorable weather today caused postponement until Friday in departure of the German flying boat DO-X for Corunna, Spain.

The plane made an unexpected landing here at 1:45 p. m. on its flight from Bordeaux, France.

LA ROQUE DE THAU, France, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Attaining altitude with difficulty, the DO-X, largest airplane in the world, left this village, 25 miles from Bordeaux, at 10:15 a. m. today for Corunna, Spain.

Originally Corunna was designated as the place where the plane last would stop before flying to Lisbon to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight to New York. Now, with growing bad weather and shortened days, the trans-Atlantic flight project virtually has been abandoned and the plane's trip has become just a tour of western European cities.

LEVINE TO FACE FRENCH QUIZ

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—(INS.)—A French commission charged with thoroughly investigating the case of Charles A. Levine, held in jail here in connection with suspicion of counterfeiting French money, was awaited here today.

The Vienna prosecutor refused the plea of the trans-Atlantic flier's attorney that Levine be admitted on bail, but expected to finish his own investigation today.

Levine's lawyer stated his client was without cash immediately before arrest, but New York banks later cabled that all his checks are covered.

The examining magistrate, after questioning Levine today, decided to continue the arrest. The court found the prisoner's property situation unsatisfactory.

Swedish Studied By Sinclair Lewis

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Sinclair Lewis, who will receive a Nobel prize in Stockholm next month, is studying Swedish. He explained:

"Once I learned enough Italian in two weeks to get across Italy on foot, so why shouldn't I learn enough Swedish to get along in Sweden?"

State Fights Self Defense Plea of Officer's Slayer

Attorney Churchill B. Mehard, appointed to defend Dennie Wilkins, Wylie avenue Negro for the murder of Precinct Detective James Hughes, Negro, December 27, today argued a unique defense for his client—that he shot the officer in self-defense, after the latter had caught him following a robbery and made him hold up his hands.

Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk combatted this defense with an argument that any killing connected with the perpetration of a robbery was murder in the first degree, subject to death in the electric chair.

Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff, of Armstrong County, will instruct the jury before it retires to consider the verdict late today.

Wilkins took the witness stand and admitted being one of a trio which robbed a Wadsworth street chain store. He told how Detective Hughes headed them off in their flight and ordered them to put up their hands. He and Charles Ricks, who is to be tried next, complied, but Johnny Franklin dodged behind a pole and began firing at the officer. The latter returned the fire, said Wilkins, and then took a shot at Ricks and Wilkins. The defendant added:

"When he shot at me I dropped my hands and pulled my gun and let loose at him. I thought he was going to kill me."

Gains in House Seats Show Even Census is G.O.P.

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Census gives New York two more Congressional seats.

Pennsylvania loses two without a contest.

Let's hope the sun hasn't kissed them too hard.

Oklahoma gained one seat.

But it's near the door.

Computation is based on pop of 122,000,000 souls, figured by major fractions.

Which makes some of us half-souls.

Delaware lost one. But when the tide goes out it may get it back.

Most of the gains are in Republican states. Why not take another census and include the Democrats?

Our population keeps switching because the center of population is in the back seats of Fords on Sundays.

Alabama lost one. If you want to add Heflin to that, it still makes one.

EXHIBIT OF FISH TO BE OPENED

Members of the State Fish Commission and a number of local persons will be guests at Carnegie Museum tomorrow night at a dinner preceding dedication of a new exhibit of Pennsylvania perch, as the gift of the state to the people of Pittsburgh.

The display, in the fish department of the museum depicts perch in a sylvan pool and shows spawn, seen for the first time in any museum in this part of the country, according to Gustave Link, associate preparator, who created the display after nearly six months' labor, assisted by J. E. Link, O. F. Fuehrer painted wooded backgrounds which grace the setting.

The perch, nine in number, 6 to 14 inches in length, were taken from Pennsylvania streams by Link and his associates.

Each bit of the display was made in the museum here, after the state suggested such an exhibit for the people of Pittsburgh and agreed to pay expenses.

Woman in Hospital From Auto Injury

Struck by an automobile at Jones avenue and Kirkpatrick street, North Braddock, last night, Mrs. Elizabeth Mulhern, 60, of 1625 North street, North Braddock, was in the Braddock General Hospital today with a probable fracture of the skull. Hospitals attaches said the car was driven by H. M. Bernard, of 1 Brinton road, Braddock Township.

Call Money Market Bankers' Meet Topic

The call money market will be discussed by Montfort Jones, of the University of Pittsburgh, at the forum dinner tonight of the Pittsburgh Chapter, American Institute of Banking, at the Fort Pitt Hotel. A discussion of the subject will follow Mr. Jones' talk. John W. Krisko will be an added speaker on "Mental Gymnastics." Paul F. Tessmer will be chairman.

3 FOUND DEAD IN LOST PLANE

BURBANK, Cal., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—The three passengers of the Pacific Transport mail plane were found dead in the Tehachapi Mountain foothills, where the plane had crashed on a sloping plateau. Discovery of the bodies ended a 43-hour search by scores of planes.

The wreckage had not burned. The plane, piloted by F. A. Donaldson and carrying Miss Jean Markow, 18, of Los Angeles, and George Rogers, a mechanic, left United Airport here Monday midnight and became lost in fog, snow and gales over Tejon, 80 miles north.

The end of the ill-fated flight came approximately halfway between Tejon and Antelope Valley emergency airports, the former in the Tehachapi and the latter in the flat at the edge of the Mojave desert.

The 319 pounds of mail the plane was carrying to Oakland and Portland, Ore., was intact.

Dr. Kelly's Speech Follows Communion

Pittsburgh Council No. 491, Knights of Columbus, will hear the Rev. Dr. Michael A. Kelly, head of the language department of Duquesne University, in a lecture in the Cardinal room, William Penn Hotel, after their annual communion mass at St. Mary of Mercy Church. The Rev. Father Daniel Krahe, council chaplain, will celebrate the mass, offered for deceased members of the council.

3 Alarms Sounded For Fire Causing $50 Damage

Three fire alarms from as many different boxes were sounded this morning for a $50 blaze in a pipe-cutting shed of the McDowell Pipe Company at 861 Western avenue. The inflammable nature of material in the two-story structure made such a spectacular blaze for a few minutes that citizens rushed to three different boxes to sound the alarm. Battalion Chief Martin Loebig estimated the damage.

FRANK CROOKS, ARCHITECT, DIES

Frank McCandless Crooks, 50, prominent architect of Pittsburgh and Washington County, is dead in his home at McDonald, where he had lived for many years. He was a member of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association and the American Institute of Architects. He had designed many buildings, specializing in charity homes and asylums.

Among the buildings Crooks had designed were those of Allegheny County at Woodville and the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza. He also designed the county home at Blairsville and the state hospital buildings at Torrance, Pa. He leaves his mother, Mrs. Francis I. Crooks, of McDonald, and a sister, Mrs. Charles Reeder, of Hughesville, Pa.

FREIBURG PLAY STUDY URGED

With the presentation in Syria Mosque of the Freiburg Passion play by the original Freiburg players from Germany, students of drama will find opportunity to study the ecclesiastical form from which modern drama grew, according to the Rev. L. W. Rupp, United Lutheran Church of America committeeman.

He says:

"To students and young people, the Freiburg Passion play, offers a rare opportunity to study one stage in the development of the theater. The Passion Plays had their beginnings in the church services of the Ninth Century, when, 'The church came to use dramatic action to enrich its liturgy and enforce its teachings.' The Freiburg manuscript dates from 1599, the beginning of modern dramatic effort."

Report $60 Window Broken by Youths

GOLF OWNERS MEET SUNDAY

The recently organized Golf Course Owners Association, at a meeting in the Plaza golf course, Penn avenue, yesterday named temporary officers to take charge of the association pending a second meeting next Sunday. They were Joseph Merrul, chairman; M. Friedland, secretary and W. J. Veale, treasurer. At the next meeting a permanent name will be selected for the organization.

Activities for the new body, including the suggestion of a representative of the Tri-State Golf Builders, for a contest or tournament, were discussed at the meeting yesterday.

BISHOP CHOSEN IN HARRISBURG

HARRISBURG, Nov. 28.—(AP.)—The special convention of the Harrisburg diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church elected the Rt. Rev. W. Blair Roberts, suffragan bishop of South Dakota, to succeed Bishop James H. Darlington, first bishop of the diocese, who died last summer.

Bishop Roberts' name was brought before the convention on the fourth ballot, when he received four complimentary votes. After this ballot the names of the Rev. Robert S. Chalmers, of Baltimore, and the Rev. Chauncey E. Snowden, of Overbrook, were withdrawn. Eleven ballots were taken.

Second Divorce Ends 3 Years' Remarriage

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Idell Saffell is asking a second divorce from Alva Saffell whom she married in 1924, divorced in 1926 and remarried in 1927. She alleged mistreatment in her second suit just filed in the Belmont County courts.

WORLD JEWRY PROTEST URGED

JERUSALEM, Nov. 28.—(AP.)—A call to Jewry throughout the world to continue fighting "against the repeated attacks of His Majesty's government" was issued by the Vaad Leumi, or Jewish national council. The call stated:

"Palestine Jewry is dumfounded by the fact the British government and Prime Minister have confirmed in the House of Commons the policy of the White Paper.

"This breach of obligations toward the Jewish people is an insult to our honor and an attempt to frustrate our work in our country."

Train Wrecks Auto Caught on Crossing

ALTOONA, Nov. 28.—Caught on the railroad tracks as the safety gates were put down, Allen Treese, of Horrell, escaped injury when a slow-moving train struck the Treese automobile at the Williamsburg grade crossing. The machine was wrecked.

Profane Parrot Sold By Zoo For $140

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 28.—(AP.)—The St. Louis Zoo's red-headed parrot with a vocabulary said to resemble that of a mule driver, was sold to Jasper Bayne, of New York, for $140, G. P. Vierheller, director of the zoo, announced.

Bayne was one of the 619 persons from all parts of this country and Canada who asked for the parrot as a gift, purchase or trade, after publication of stories relating how the bird had talked itself out of a home in the bird house.

A number of unique trades were proposed. An Illinoisan offered "a nice male wolf," while another man wanted to exchange "a jawbone of an unknown animal" for the parrot.

POLICE SHACKLE MAN TO BED

Rumors that James Laxton of Jackson street, a police prisoner in St. Johns Hospital, would attempt an escape, resulted in the prisoner being shackled to the bed early today. In addition a police guard is being maintained in the prisoner's room.

Laxton was shot November 7 by Detective Sergt. James Rhall when Laxton and a companion attempted to holdup the detective in the Perrysville avenue district. Lieut. Robert McIntosh of the Wood Run station said Laxton had boasted he would escape from the hospital.

Robbed 2 Churches, Pair Sent to Jail

ALTOONA, Nov. 28.—Pleading guilty to robbery at the Episcopal and Lutheran churches at Hollidaysburg, William Wilson, of Hollidaysburg, was given a term of 15 months to 30 months in the Western Penitentiary. His wife, Ruby Wilson, was given six months in the Blair jail.

Tear Gas Bomb Causes Treasury Weeping

Virtually every persons who entered the building from the Fifteenth street side wept profusely while building guards and employes wiped their own eyes.

It was not the prospect of a Treasury deficit or the business depression.

Run Over by Train, Braddock Man Dies

Run over by a Union Railroad train at Port Perry, Charles Mrhalko, 33, of 5200 O'Connell boulevard, North Braddock, died today in the Braddock General Hospital after both legs had been amputated above the knee in an effort to save his life. Mrhalko was rushed to the Edgar Thomson Steel Works Emergency Hospital shortly after last midnight and then taken to the Braddock General Hospital.

MAN BEATS OFF 2 BURGLARS

Two men who attempted to force their way into the rooming house of Angelo Arabatgis, at 703 Wylie avenue, were frustrated early today when Arabatgis fought with them and called for help. The burglars fled.

One of the men struck Arabatgis on the head with a revolver, inflicting lacerations which were treated at the Allegheny General Hospital.

Towboat Gas Tank Blast Burns Pilot

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Nov. 28.—(AP.)—Gail Justice, pilot, was seriously burned when the gasoline tank on the towboat Margaret exploded and the craft was destroyed by fire. Justice, well known riverman and brother of Capt. Charles Justice of the Senator Cordill, was brought to a Sistersville hospital. A second man escaped unhurt.

ONE of the problems of our early American forefathers was their food supply. So, as a natural result, once they could look ahead to a winter of plenty—food enough for all—they set aside a day for Thanksgiving. Plenty of good food is surely reason enough for Thanksgiving, as anyone will admit who is acquainted with the variety and quality of McCann's food. Gathered together in McCann's you have a bountiful harvest of all the good things to eat—cooked or uncooked. You are certain of its quality—you are served quickly and graciously. Many a Pittsburgh housewife is thankful every day for variety of food and inspiration for her meal planning which she finds at McCann's—America's Unique Food Store.

Color must come before the powder

AND POWDER MUST BLEND WITH THE SKIN

THE natural skin tone you hear so much about today cannot be had with bargain counter powder. For in this day and age no sophisticated woman relies on her powder box for color. Color must come first and the powder that goes on top must actually blend with the skin . . . That new Beige powder from Primrose House is the favorite in smart circles today because it is exactly the right shade and texture for that natural effect. So fine, it actually becomes a part of the skin. It does not cake or clog the pores nor does it ever leave the face spotty or hard as do the very light or extra dark shades. Costly? Perhaps. But you can easily learn its worth by buying a dollar's worth of this $3 powder.

At all better class drug and department stores, in boxes, $1 and $3. Primrose House, 595 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

Best baby in county!

Always happy and comfortable; free from colds

OF COURSE every family has a "best" baby in it. But some babies are a lot nicer than others just the same. And that is so largely a matter of health. For psychologists and medical men say that good nature in babies is dependent largely on their comfort. They are too little to tell you what ails them. So they cry. And you have to guess it's a rash, or chafed skin, or a stopped-up nose.

That is, you guess, unless you are wise enough to prevent these troubles with the handy "Vaseline" jar.

For "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly is an essential part of any baby outfit. Apply it to the baby's skin after the bath; to the head too; then take little swabs of cotton on toothpicks, dip it into the Jelly, and very gently apply to the baby's nostrils. This cleanses and lubricates. Tends to prevent colds.

These are easy, safe things to do. Ask your doctor. "Vaseline" Jelly has been used by mothers and doctors and hospitals for half a century.

MARTIN SPEAKS TO AUDITORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—(AP.)—Edward Martin, Pennsylvania state treasurer, in a speech at the convention of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers, predicted taxes would continue to go up because the American form of government is the most expensive in the world. He added, speaking of the inheritance tax:

"It does seem that this form of taxation should be removed as early as possible. The federal government should also retire from this method of taxation."

Saying he favored retention of the present system of government by the nation, states, counties, cities and other municipal subdivisions, the Pennsylvania treasurer also urged adoption by the states of a "pay as you go" policy in expenditure of public funds rather than payment by bond issues by which future generations are saddled with heavy debts.

GATES HOLD UP FINISH OF LOCK

KITTANNING, Pa., Nov. 26.—Final concrete on Lock and Dam No. 8 at Mosgrove will be poured Saturday. The dam is complete with the exception of closing two temporary sluiceways, which will be done this week, and the hanging of the lock gates, which are ready to be brought from Pittsburgh. Shipment of the gates is being held up by fear that a crane of sufficient strength to hoist the gates into position cannot get under the Kittanning Bridge.

The permit for the moving of the old Kittanning Bridge to a temporary site 135 feet up stream has been granted to the State has been granted but the bridge will not be moved until next spring.

Autoist Acquitted In Death of Girl

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 26.—Dewey J. Croyle, of New Kensington, has been acquitted of a charge of involuntary manslaughter and the county ordered to pay the costs. Croyle was charged with having backed his auto into Miss Daisy Jackson, of New Kensington, last May 29 and causing injuries which resulted in her death.

LIBRARY URGED FOR BEECHVIEW

Members of the Beechview Women's Civic Club, together with the members of the Beechview Board of Trade and other organizations, urged creation of a branch library in that district at a hearing before Council yesterday.

They were told to arrange a conference with Councilman C. B. Connelley, of the Library Committee. Two of the spokesmen were the Rev. W. A. Berkey and Henry E. Brecklein.

FIRE DESTROYS SCHOOL BARN

Fire which destroyed the barn of the Tuner Institute, Dorchester avenue, was visible from many sections of the South Hills last night.

Firemen from the city, Mt. Lebanon and Dormont were summoned when the blaze was discovered on the roof of the large frame structure. A short time later the entire structure was enveloped in flames.

The Rev. Dennis Tartar, chaplain, summoned volunteer firemen from Dormont and Mt. Lebanon when city firemen were unable to reach the flames with their hose. A dozen head of cattle were led from the barn. One hundred and fifty pupils in the institute watched firemen battle the blaze. The damage was estimated at $6,000.

THROAT IF SORE NEEDS RELIEF

MUSTEROLE

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Buddy clear—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, among them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, making it normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, try Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

The Extra Cough Help Extra In Power And Price

Creomulsion is a super-help for coughs from colds. It is for deep coughs where you dare not risk a weak help. Seven major helps are embodied in it, including the best known to medical science.

The creosote is blended, emulsified and palatable. It is to soothe the membranes and combat the germs. It possesses the world's best help for coughs of this kind in a pleasant form.

There are white pine tar, wild cherry bark, menthol, ipecac, etc. All the greatest helps in one, but with no narcotic. Despite all its power and efficiency, it is harmless to a child.

Some coughs call for one help, some another. Nobody can tell. So we combine the best in Creomulsion to be safe.

Creomulsion costs $1.25—a little more than lesser helps. But all druggists guarantee it and return the full price to anyone not satisfied.

It may be too good for your cough. A lesser help might serve. But is it wise to take the risk when coughs are danger signals? Anyway, a cough from a cold which hangs on calls for this super-help. Do the best men know, to be sure.

The Best Cup of Coffee in Pittsburgh

We believe we are exceedingly modest when we state that we serve the best cup of coffee at our fountains that can be found anywhere in Pittsburgh—at least that is what hundreds of our patrons tell us. There's a reason for this. The coffee is blended and roasted according to our special formula, brewed in our own special way and served with pure cream. The result is a perfect beverage.

Try a cup—we guarantee you'll come back for another.

16 NEW MEETS WON FOR CITY

Harry Neely, chairman of the convention committee of the Chamber of Commerce, said last night his committee had listed 16 new conventions to be held in Pittsburgh. They will bring about 10,000 visitors to the city, he said.

This number boosts to about 50 the number of gatherings that have been listed for next year. Of the latest list all but two will be held next year. The Pennsylvania Hospital Association will meet here in 1932, and the National Foreign Trade Council in 1933.

New conventions for next year are the Association of Iron and Steel Electrical Engineers, Allegheny Region Advisory Board, American Management Association, Annual Glass Show, Associated Glass & Pottery Manufacturers, Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs, Pennsylvania Industrial Lenders Association, Rotary District Convention, American Association of Museums, Eightieth Division Reunion, Illuminating Engineering Society, Graduate Nurses' Association of Pennsylvania, American Society of Municipal Improvements and the Pennsylvania Homeopathic Association.

TURKEY BAZAR TO AID FUND

Funds for expansion of activities will be raised at a turkey bazar, dance and card party under auspices of the St. Philomena Men's Club in the school auditorium, Beechwood boulevard and Forward avenue, Thanksgiving night.

Zep Ends Season With Expenses Earned

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Nov. 20. — (AP.) — Dr. Hugo Eckener announced the Graf Zeppelin had finished its 1930 flying season. It will be deflated and given a thorough overhauling during the winter.

The Graf has made 155 flights, covered 144,375 miles, has carried 6,278 passengers, 12,000 pounds of freight and 18,000 pounds of mail, and has earned enough to pay for fuel, wages of the crew, insurance and depreciation.

In other words, says Dr. Eckener, it has demonstrated the practicability of Zeppelins for commercial air transport.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germladen phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

NEW CAB LINE DELAYS PLAN

Promoters of the proposed Pitt Cab Company, which plans to operate a line of taxicabs in this city, yesterday withdrew their application before the Public Service Commission.

The applicants informed Commissioner S. Ray Shelby that the application was only withdrawn for the present. The company had sought a certificate to transport baggage as well as passengers and to do a call and demand service. The application was to have been protested by the Parmalee Company interests.

New Downtown Library for Business People

THE UNION TRUST COMPANY OF PITTSBURGH takes pleasure in announcing that the Business Branch of Carnegie Library is now located in Room 247, Union Trust Building.

The Business Branch has achieved notable success in serving the business interests of downtown Pittsburgh. Because of expansion in the City-County Building, the Branch was forced to move, and its existence was threatened. Believing in the importance of library service to the business community, The Union Trust Company was glad to make its space available.

Financial Information: Moody, Poor, Standard Statistics, Brookmire.

Directories: Many large cities and important trades.

The best books on business economics, accounting, advertising, purchasing, office procedure, and other phases of business.

General Reference: Encyclopedias, English and foreign dictionaries, atlases, statistical manuals and technical handbooks.

Daily delivery service and a direct telephone wire from the Main Library bring to the Business Branch information and books not available in its own collection.

The Union Trust Company joins with Carnegie Library in inviting you to visit the Business Branch in its new quarters and see how it can serve you.

CLARK MOVES TO ADD POLICE

James M. Clark, director of public safety, today began a survey of police beats to determine how many are vacant. He also ordered a checkup on street crossings near schools to determine how many such intersections are unguarded by traffic officers.

The surveys are a result of the request made by Mayor Charles H. Kline that the police force be increased 350 patrolmen to combat anticipated crime waves due to unemployment.

Director Clark said:

"The addition of 200 to 300 men to the police force will be a big thing in suppression of crime, but we must not forget that many school crossings are not properly policed and our children must be protected. I expect to assign 100 additional traffic men to such crossing protection.

"There are 250 to 300 vacant police beats in the city and the filling of these posts not only will provide better protection, but aid in relieving unemployment. If all these posts are filled, it will bring Pittsburgh's police quota to the highest point in history—about 1,500 officers."

Clark said the survey will be completed in a week and a report submitted to the Mayor.

SECOND TRIAL FREES VOLPES

John and Louis Volpe, Wilmerding political factors, today were found not guilty in a sealed verdict presented to Judge J. H. McCann, following their trial on a charge of assault and battery.

L. C. Anderson, Wilmerding reporter, had accused the Volpes of attacking him in a polling booth in the borough when he sought to get the result of the vote at the September, 1929, primaries.

At a former trial the Volpes had been found guilty, but were awarded a new trial, because the court had permitted only three witnesses to appear for the defense.

OBITUARY

Joseph L. Miller.

Joseph L. Miller, 53, former burgess of Pitcairn and for some years secretary of Pennsylvania Railroad Y. M. C. A. branches, died in his home at 105 Third street, Monongahela, yesterday. He had lived in Pittsburgh since 1904 until two days ago, when he moved to Monongahela. He was born in Cambria County and moved to Pitcairn 26 years ago. He worked in the Pitcairn shops of the Pennsylvania Railroad until he was made a Y. M. C. A. secretary. He served as secretary of branches on the South Side, at Pitcairn, and at Shire Oaks.

From 1926 until 1930 he was burgess of Pitcairn. He was a member of Knights of Pythias, the Mystic Chain and the M. B. A. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Mae Williams Miller; two sons, Paul and Carl T. Miller, of Monongahela; a daughter, Mrs. Anna V. Kauffman, of Pittsburgh; three brothers, Arthur M. Miller, of Altoona; Edward Miller, of Mountaindale, and John G. Miller, of Tyrone, and four sisters, Mrs. Flora Purdy, of Flemington, Pa.; Mrs. Stella Hopkins, and Mrs. Minnie Clark, of Mountaindale, Pa., and Mrs. Mary Stucky, of Altoona.

Charles C. Bright.

Charles C. Bright, 64, died yesterday at his home, Alder Court Apartments, Alder and Emerson streets. He was born in the old Fourteenth Ward, where he attended the public schools. He entered the employ of A. J. Logan Company in 1886, later filled the positions of secretary and vice president. On account of ill health, Mr. Bright retired from business in 1928. He was a member of B. P. O. E. No. 11. He leaves his wife, Mrs. Clara Bell Bright.

COD LIVER OIL NAUSEATED ME

Now I take it every day in tablet form. No more slimy oil—no more fishy taste—no more colds or sickness!

MANY people who really need cod liver oil can't take it. Its nasty fishy taste just gags them. So they go on suffering from winter colds and other sickness that cod liver oil could remedy.

But today everyone can take cod liver oil. Infants and adults can now enjoy its benefits without the nasty taste. McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets bring you cod liver oil in an easy pleasant form.

To make these tablets we extract all the vitamins, all the healthful properties of finest cod liver oil. Then from these vitamins we make the tablets that doctors so widely recommend.

These tablets taken regularly will build up weight and resistance to colds and disease. The Good Housekeeping Institute has tested them and given us its seal of approval.

Your druggist has McCoy's. Go to him and get a box today. Just remember that for very best results you must take them regularly and faithfully. Today is the day to begin.

Test Your Child's Weight by This Chart

SICKNESS STRIKES THIN BODIES FIRST

Protect your health and salary this way:

THIN PEOPLE with low resistance: build up your weight with McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Extract Tablets now before winter sickness strikes.

McCoy's tablets bring you all the magic vitamins of the liquid cod liver oil. At last cod liver oil has been made available for the thousands who couldn't swallow the fishy-tasting liquid oil.

Many were skeptical at first. It was hard to realize that these tiny tasteless tablets could contain such amazing properties.

But the endorsement of physicians and licensed pharmacists . . . of the famous Good Housekeeping Institute . . . convinced them. Now they have built up to natural weight and health and energy.

Go to your druggist and get a box of McCoy's today. If taken faithfully until results show, new weight, new "pep," will be your sure reward.

McCOY'S COD LIVER OIL TABLETS

Because McCreery's believe that this is the time for facing facts... for action... if ou. less fortunate townsmen, faced with the problem of keeping themselves and their families from want, are to have even some of the necessities of life,

McCREERY'S

WILL GIVE 3%* OF THE ENTIRE SALES
(RESTAURANT INCLUDED)
OF FRIDAY AND SATURDAY OF THIS WEEK
To the Unemployed of Pittsburgh

This movement has received the unqualified endorsement of:*

- HONORABLE MAYOR CHARLES H. KLINE
- MRS. ENOCH RAUH, Director of Public Welfare
- THE CONGRESS OF WOMEN'S CLUBS
- THE JUNIOR LEAGUE OF PITTSBURGH

¶ McCREERY'S have no selfish motive... nor are we in any way bordering on commercializing the present unfortunate economic situation which is responsible for the unemployment problem of the City of Pittsburgh. In order that this may be distinctly understood—

We Will Advertise No Merchandise Whatsoever for Tomorrow and Saturday, and

¶ McCREERY'S have asked the following well-known citizens of Pittsburgh to serve as a committee... to receive and disburse, without prejudice, the sum of money which we shall turn over to them as a result of the business of these two days:—

Mrs. Ralph N. Johnston
Pres. of The Congress of Women's Clubs

Mr. Francis de P. Hyde, Jr.
1st Vice Pres. of the Junior League

Mrs. Enoch Rauh
Director of Public Welfare

James Rae
Pres. of The Chamber of Commerce

¶ McCREERY'S do not offer this as a solution to the unemployment problem nor do we desire to pose as public benefactors. We are simply endeavoring to do something definite to help the situation... and do it at once... it is not all that we would like to do, but we have been assured that it will help materially.

¶ Of course we urge you to buy during these two days and, if possible, to anticipate your holiday purchases... but we only urge you to do this so that you will make it possible for us to contribute a larger amount to this worthy cause... and so that others, perhaps, may be encouraged by our initiative.

¶ Thus by simply buying at McCREERY'S tomorrow and Saturday you will be aiding humanity in this time of dire need. 3c out of every $1.00 you spend will go to the unemployed of Pittsburgh.

This may not seem to be a large amount, but a few thousand dollars go a long way with folks that are cold and hungry—and, incidentally, 3% is more than three times as much as large Department Stores earned during 1929, according to actual statistics compiled by the Bureau of Business Research of Harvard University.*

COLDS
Break Up in a Jiffy
This Quick Way

Feel Like A New Man Almost Before You Know It

People have found out that new-fangled ideas and notions don't break up colds. So millions have turned back to first principles and use what they know breaks one up in a jiffy. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to trifle with.

The thing to do is to get Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon you'll start to feel like a new person. Things will loosen up, your head will clear; aching go—you'll be back on the job with a wallop.

Get Hill's now. It is a scientific formula made to do one thing well: to knock a cold—not to cure a thousand ailments. Get your money back if it doesn't work with twice the speed of anything else you've ever tried.

IF SINUSES HURT, CLEANSE THE NOSE

Too much mucus in the nose means Sinus Trouble (Catarrh). Then you get head colds and headaches so much. Practice nasal hygiene. Cleanse the nasal passages with SinaSiptec regularly. Get a bottle of it right away. Accept no substitute.

SINASIPTEC IS FINE FOR HAYFEVER

Don't Endure Slipping
FALSE TEETH

Do your false teeth drop or slip when you talk, eat, laugh or sneeze? Don't be annoyed and embarrassed a minute longer. Fasteeth, a new powder to sprinkle on your plates, holds teeth firm. Gives fine feeling of security and comfort. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Get Fasteeth today at Liggett's, Mayflower, Dow Drug Co., or any other drug store.

TWINS MAKE 13 IN FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Welsh, of Millvale, are the parents of twin boys, 4 weeks old . . . and nine other children. They never have to go to the neighbors to find enough children to make a baseball team, for there are enough at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Welsh were married 13 years ago, and one year later a little girl was born. They called her Agnes. Today there is a Stella to keep Agnes company, and also an Alice, Bernard, John, Robert, Leo, Vincent, Regis, Raymond and Richard.

Cheerfulness is the by-word of the Welsh household, and there is probably less trouble with all the confusion that 11 children can make than in some homes of two or three. Mrs. Welsh said:

"To most people 11 children seems like an awful lot and a big responsibility, and it is, but I wouldn't be without one of them. Some day there may be an even dozen, maybe a baker's dozen."

Col. Young Advanced To New P. R. R. Post

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company today announced the promotion of Col. Charles D. Young to assistant vice president in charge of purchases, stores and insurance. Col. Young, a graduate of Cornell University, started railroad work as a special apprentice on the Panhandle division here in 1900. During the World War, he served as lieutenant colonel in the transportation corps of the United States Army. He was later superintendent of the Schuylkill division of the railroad and general purchasing agent.

ASK RAIL MOVE AS JOBLESS AID

In order to help the unemployment situation, the Montour Railroad Company, owned by the Pittsburgh Coal Company, yesterday made application to the Public Service Commission for permission to straighten out some of its line. The railroad wants to shift the road approximately 7,000 feet in the vicinity of where the present line crosses the Ewing's Mill road leading from Coraopolis Heights to Pine Hollow road, in Moon Township.

The railroad would be moved approximately 300 feet from its present location there. The change it was testified, would be advantageous. No objections were offered. Examiner W. E. Best heard the testimony.

Ushers Lead 1,000 From Movie in Fire Scare

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 20. —(AP.)—Averting a possible panic, ushers in the Strand Motion Picture Theater led more than 1,000 patrons to safety while fire flared through an adjoining building. Smoke seeped into the theater and someone cried "fire!" As the audience leaped up, the ushers quieted patrons, formed lines and marched them from the building. The theater was vacated in six minutes.

TROLLEY HITS WAGON, 1 HURT

Alphonso Inzerra, 61, huckster, of 2041 Preble avenue, suffered lacerations of the head when his wagon was struck by an Emsworth street car in California avenue, near Perrott avenue, last night, police reported.

Inzerra was taken to St. John's Hospital, where two stitches were required to close the laceration.

GARAGE NOISE PROTESTED

Residents of the Garfield district appeared before Council yesterday in complaint against noise at night in a garage operated by the International Harvester Company in the rear of 5200 Penn avenue.

City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt expressed the opinion that Council had no jurisdiction over what happened inside the building, which was a garage before the present zoning law was enacted. Council will ask the Department of Public Safety to make an effort to guard against unnecessary noises in surrounding streets.

Bogus Policeman Gets Jail Term

ALTOONA, Nov. 20. — Found guilty by a jury on a charge of impersonating an officer, Harry Wiley, former police chief and constable of Bellwood, was sentenced to serve from 60 days to six months in the Blair Jail. Wiley sought to enforce the state dog law without authority. A new trial was refused in the case.

Bow-Devoe Theft Inquiry Postponed

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—The grand jury investigation of alleged thefts by Daisy Devoe from Clara Bow while she was the screen actress' private secretary has been postponed indefinitely.

The district attorney's office said the delay was for the purpose of gathering further information. Miss Bow, however, indicated she was reluctant to appear as a witness against the woman.

If You Are Fat At 45 Here's Good News For You

Yes: I'm forty-five today—built like a race horse, my friends say—and I know I feel 10 years younger than I did three months ago—and I'd hate to tell you how much fat I lost with Kruschen.

I call Kruschen Salts the "magic salts" because when I was fat and wretched, despondent and half sick all the time—it took only one bottle that I bought for 85 cents to liven me up—put ambition and energy into me—make me feel years younger and show me how to lose the fat I was so ashamed of.

Let me advise all fat people not to fail to take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast every morning.

Every drug store worthy of the name in the world sells Kruschen Salts—an 85 cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—not much to pay for buoyant health.—A West Virginia women lost 15 pounds in 2 weeks, and has no more headaches.

Theaters Need Leblang Bargain Basement And Easy Access

By GEORGE SEIBEL

JOE LEBLANG is a name unknown to Pittsburghers unless they go frequently to New York and are familiar with the Great White Way. In the basement of a drug store there's a bargain sale of theater tickets going on all the time—and just half an hour before the curtains begin to rise this basement resembles the stock exchange. You can buy tickets for almost all theaters at half price—and many managers are glad to get it and fill their vacant rows.

George Seibel

The philosophy of Leblang's success and his popularity is summed up by a writer in the current Theater Magazine. It is better to have a full house at half price than an empty house at double price.

But many managers think that if they reduce their prices at the box office, the public would stay away, thinking the attraction was inferior.

There's something in that. The American likes to pay for what he gets—and the more he pays, the better he thinks it is. Up to a certain point, of course, for as money is harder to get, it is harder to part with.

Undoubtedly the economic situation in the country has affected the theaters in two ways. People who suffered from the stock slump have not been spending as much on high-priced amusement. And people who suffer from unemployment cannot spend anything even on moderate-priced amusement.

Yet the theaters are doing pretty well. The Pittsburgh theaters have had some very big weeks, because of some very big attractions.

THE LEBLAND IDEA

It may be that the Leblang idea would not work out in Pittsburgh as well as in New York, but if some mercantile genius can devise an adaptation of it to the Pittsburgh situation, there's a fortune for him. Joe Leblang is one of the richest men in New York. Forty years ago he was a poor emigrant from Budapest. Now he owns blocks on Broadway, apartment houses, and even theaters.

His bargain basement did it—and incidentally saved many a manager and many a play from disaster.

What Pittsburgh should have is a series of combined ticket offices of all theaters, scattered over the various districts of the city and its suburbs.

Somebody in Wilkinsburg or Dormont should be able to buy tickets without coming to town, and without paying any advance on box-office prices. The telephone and a system of duplicate coupons, similar to that in London, might solve the difficulty.

Tickets should be made as cheap as possible, and as easy to procure as possible. That is, if the managers wish to compete effectively with radio, miniature golf and other cheap and handy forms of passing an evening.

ANOTHER SAD HANDICAP

Managers have another sad handicap in Pittsburgh—our unsatisfactory street car service. I know dozens of people who will not come to town to visit theaters unless it is some attraction of tremendous drawing power.

"We won't be jammed into cars like sardines, and we won't wait 15 minutes at a corner to catch pneumonia instead of a car," is the way some of them put it.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company keeps many a dollar out of the box office of our theater—as well as out of the tills of downtown merchants.

Prosperity of a city depends on the circulation of the people. If the blood is clogged, the body suffers in all its functions. Pittsburgh's arterial circulation is clogged. And the theaters suffer from that in very large measure.

Maybe we need both a Joe Leblang and a new traffic system.

Revue Star

Aileen Stanley, singer, is prominent in the new edition of the Shubert's "Artists and Models," opening Monday in the Alvin.

CROWNING OF HAILE IN HEARST NEWSREEL

The crowning of Haile Selassie as Emperor of Ethiopia, "King of Kings" and ruler of the African empire, is shown in all its barbaric pomp in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News. Pictures of the ascension to the throne of the ebony-skinned potentate of Abyssinia, who claims direct descent from King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, shows hordes of tribal chiefs from the mountain fastnesses of Africa at Addis Abada side by side with such notables as the Duke of Gloucester, representing his father, the King of England and ambassadors from every civilized country in the world.

Costumes of the tribal chiefs formed of lions' manes and the pure white robes of the more civilized officials of Abyssinia were in striking contrast to the gay uniforms of the representatives of foreign governments. The spectacle, which cost $3,000,000 to stage, has never been equalled in barbaric magnificence.

The pictures, now being shown 17 days after the actual event took place, were carried 5,000 miles by airplane from the east coast of Africa to France, where they caught a fast steamship to New York.

MUSIC SHOWS, FILMS FEATURE COMING ATTRACTIONS

The musical show, "Ripples," will open Monday in the Nixon. It features Fred Stone and his daughters, Paula and Dorothy Stone.

"Artists and Models" comes to the Shubert Alvin Monday for a six-day stay, with matinees Thanksgiving and Saturday. This latest Shubert revue shattered previous attendance records during its long stay at the Grand Opera House, Chicago, it is stated.

Casting about for a play that will please the young people around Christmas time, George Sharp has found "Daddy Dumplin's," a play with plenty of Christmas joy and happiness, it is said. It is scheduled for the week beginning December 15.

INDIANS IN FILM

More than 725 real Indians were employed in the filming of Raoul Walsh's "The Big Trail," a drama commemorating the American pioneer and his deathless adventure, which comes to the Aldine tomorrow. A cast of over 20,000 is headed by John Wayne, Marguerite Churchill, El Brendel, Tully Marshall and Tyrone Power.

De Witt Jennings, who played the captain of the yard guard in "The Big House," scored so heavily in this that George Hill, its director, gave him the role of the truant officer in "Min and Bill," the film opening tomorrow in the Penn.

Joe Donohue, brother of the famous Jack, has the main supporting role opposite Marilyn Miller in "Sunny," which comes to the screen in the Stanley tomorrow. Ed Lowry will present "Syncopated Menu" on the stage.

WARNER OPENING

Today the Warner will inaugurate its Thursday opening day policy with the presentation of "Renegades," starring Warner Baxter. The cast includes Myrna Loy and Noah Beery.

Among the early bookings for the Fulton are "Sin Takes a Holiday," with Constance Bennett; "Derelict," with George Bancroft, and "Heads Up," with Jack Oakie. Harold Lloyd in "Welcome Danger" is now appearing on that theater's screen.

Evelyn Brent, Louis Wolheim, Joel McCrea and Raymond Hatton claim to be the first to commute to motion picture locations daily by airplane. For four weeks they flew from Ketchikan to Loring, Alaska, for scenes of "The Silver Horde," coming to the Sheridan Square Friday.

OTHER BOOKINGS

Charles Butterworth, Irene Delroy, Jack Whiting and Charles Judels support Winnie Lightner in "The Life of the Party," which comes to the Enright tomorrow. Dick Powell will offer "Happy Landing" on the stage.

A new vaudeville program opens in the Harris Saturday. On the screen Joe E. Brown will be featured in "Maybe It's Love."

American Men Make Best Husbands, Believes Lily Damita

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 20.

American men make the best husbands and she hopes and plans to marry one, says Lily Damita, one of Hollywood's liveliest mademoiselles.

The French star excepts actors:

"They are all right on the screen, but no good in the home," she reveals. "Actors are of a jealous nature, and I would not think of marrying one. Besides," she naively adds, "I should be jealous myself of all the women they have around them."

Lily Damita

"UNCLES" NOT POPULAR

They talk hard times in Hollywood, yet there are only two pawn shops operating in the film colony. Neither of these hoists the familiar three-ball insignia. Up until a few months ago, there were two more shops, but they have faded away.

"JENNY LIND" IN FRENCH

One of the Hollywood stars that American audiences never see has been chosen to play opposite Grace Moore in the French version of the Cosmopolitan production, "Jenny Lind."

He is Andre Luguet, a leading player on the Parisian stage, who has been in the film colony for some time making foreign versions for M. G. M.

ALL A-TWITTER

Returning to Lily Damita, Paramount executives engaged in weighty conferences over the way Gary Cooper must address her in "Fighting Caravans."

In one sequence, Cooper leaps from his horse and cries: "Police."

When the scene was taken, someone conceived the horrible possibility that audiences might mistake this for "Police!" As a result, the director made another "take" in which Gary didn't use the name at all.

Victor McLaglen

The classic mishap of the sort was in Fox's "The Black Watch," when Victor McLaglen's pronunciation of the name "Yasmine" came out of the projection machine as "Yest Minnie."

ATTENTION, PRODUCERS

In two recent period pictures, the dialogue contained up-to-date slang. Considering all the research that was devoted to the background, it seems a foolish slip. Such mistakes destroy the illusion for intelligent play-goers. Witness, a letter received by this department.

I NOTE THAT Lilyan Tashman has her clothes designed here, but sends many of them to New York and Paris to be made up. She says her wardrobe costs her $25,000 a year. . . . Director Tay Garnett and Patsy Ruth Miller, his wife, are holidaying at Jack Dempsey's new Ensenada resort. Incidentally, single rooms in this ultra-smart hostelry are $12 per day. Doubles are from $22 up. . . . Wallace Beery is in bed with influenza. . . . Marie Dressler, his partner in "Min and Bill," also is laid up with neuritis. . . . Ruth Chatterton has postponed her trip abroad to sit in on an original story now being written for her next vehicle. . . . William Powell smarts under press reports that he is high-hat about the stories picked for him. Bill says his five-year contract with Paramount is up January 8, and he has not resigned as yet. This contract gave him no say on stories.

COFFEE DAN'S PLANS TO OPEN NEXT WEEK

Wednesday night, Thanksgiving Eve, Coffee Dan's, sponsored by the manager of the original clubs of that name in San Francisco, Los Angeles and Chicago, makes its bow to Pittsburgh on the Roof Garden of Mayfair Hotel.

Lenny Paige, former master of ceremonies in the Los Angeles Club, will be the M. C. and Melvin Stoltz, veteran theatrical man, who managed the old Duquesne here more than 25 years ago, will be in charge. The club aims to be more or less a theatrical center. All of the employes, from waiters to cooks, will be entertainers. It is announced there will be no convert charge.

A gala opening has been arranged. Many prominent persons will be present and special events will be included in the entertainment.

AMUSEMENTS.

(Being part of WABC talkie.)

Good evening, ladies and gentlemen, and those who simply cannot wait for the guestar to sing. Well, we'll put Miss Ada Ward right on for you. She is the contribution of Connie's Inn, one of the better places in the Bronxskin Belt. You probably have been enchanted by her song deliveries up there or in the "Blackbirds Revue" last season. The critics crowned her with the late Florence Mills' mantle because of her delightful second-chorus waddle-dee-do-dee-doing and I am certain you will concur with the defenders of the dray-ner. (Song here.) Thanks, Miss Ward, for embellishing our brief bill. . . . The current chit-chatting includes the whisper that Dorothy Mackaill and her heart have phfft!! . . . That Mrs. Percy K. Hudson of the upper classes (as they are called between titters) and Larry Benson eloped during the week-end. Well, they certainly had pediculous weather for it.

I said that Vincent Loper' newest heart-thumper was Betty Raymond when I meant to call her Betty Randolph, who has more diamonds than all the pawnshops. . .Betty has been front-paged frequently since a minister wooed her . . . The marital adventures of the A. B. Conkwrights are interesting. This is the 12-year wedded couple who recently decided to let each other do as they pleased . . .It is called "a perfect understanding". . .Well, it wasn't so perfect, I hear. . .Marie Conkwright, who didn't mind it in the least if Conky went out with other baby dolls, revolted when she observed one of her husband's companions wearing her duckiest frocks. . .Then the explosion came, so a judge will decide matters. . .I hear, too, that Mrs. Conkwright's next mate has a mess of what a lot of us haven't.

Speaking of husbands and their headaches, the following scene left some of us in hysterics at Perona's the other night . . . Three Wall St. letter knows frequented the place with their honeys to get away from busybodies . . . Everything ran smoothly until they walked into the place and found their respective wives with other men! For some reason or other all appetites went bleh . . . The Leo Friedes, of the Wall street sector, who are judge-telling it, also have selected their next problems already . . . Leo's Arm decoration is Velma Lewis, one of the prettier models, and Mrs. F. is going places with Edward O'Dowd, one of our nicer rowdy O'Dowdies.

TWO NEW SKETCHES, LANDT TRIO AND WHITE FEATURE RADIO CARD

We Now Present — Who's Who What's What — On the Air

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Two new 15-minute sketches and the return of the Landt Trio and White greet KDKA fans tonight like sunshine in December. Aunt Lulu, a spinster school teacher, inherits a fortune and rebels against the accepted conventionalities of the old maid type in an 8 o'clock program from NBC. First she buys a bright red automobile . . . need we say more? Dick Trevor's final date with his high school sweetheart before leaving for college is keyed to stir passion at 8:30 when "The Campus" makes its debut. One of the cleverest groups on the air—Landt Trio and White—entertain KDKA listeners at 8:15.

Three distinct type of footloose capers by three distinct masters—B. A. Rolfe, WCAE at 10; Paul Whiteman, WJAS at 10:30, and Don Bester, KDKA at 11:30.

"BY THE WAY—"

Jascha Heifetz entertains the broadcasting fold on Sunday night, December 21, as guest of Kellogg Slumber Music . . . Fred Webber, WCAE announcer, is back on the air after an attack of throat trouble . . . KQV stars entertain at Veterans' Hospital, Aspinwall, next Tuesday . . . England's busy after-dinner speaker, the Prince of Wales, does his third hurdle of the Atlantic Ocean on Tuesday afternoon, December 16 . . . Audrey Marsh, with the Beck Brevities, WJAS at 7:00 tonight, played Rose Mary, the leading role in "Abie's Irish Rose" . . . she's only 19 . . . Buy Cooper and his KQV Players have many weird effects for the series of mystery plays to start next Thursday . . . Patrick MacGill, 36, Irish author, speaks on WCAE at 8:00 Saturday night . . . Louise Homer, Anne Case, Floyd Gibbons entertain WCAE listeners next Wednesday night at 8:00.

QUESTION A DAY:

Is it true that radio actors are superstitious the same as theater actors?—A. F. L., Altoona, Pa.

Answer—Quite true. They never read the final or "tag" line in a sketch, which, according to the stage, is a sure omen of bad luck. Radio musicians suspect something too when they find a sheet of music upside down. Many stars carry charms like the reputed magic stone, which Floyd Gibbons showed us when in Pittsburgh. It was given him by a witch in darkest Africa. They tell us Marcella Shields carries an embroidered handkerchief into the studio.

ACID INDIGESTION TORTURE ENDS QUICK

New Prescription ACIDINE Ends Gas Pain After All Else Failed.

"I suffered for months with acid indigestion and gas on the stomach," writes Mr. C. Bedford of Detroit, Mich. "Couldn't eat a meal without being troubled with gas and pain, also dizzy feeling. I tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing really helped until I took Acidine. Got relief from the very start. Now I am entirely well, no pains at all. Have recommended ACIDINE to all my friends."

Thousands are astonished how this new prescription ACIDINE succeeds where other known remedies fail. The reason is that it is entirely different. Contains an effective scientific digestant, Japtase, that promptly liquefies 800 times its own weight of heavy, starchy food, under proper conditions. Five other ingredients relieve burning acid, stop gas and soothe irritated stomach lining. No other known remedy contains this scientific combination to end stomach trouble.

Physicians are prescribing ACIDINE, and thousands have found it the only real relief from acid indigestion and dyspepsia, gas, pain, heartburn, coated tongue, bad taste, dizziness and other troubles from the stomach.

Don't take chances with acidity and gas that may lead to more dangerous illness. Get ACIDINE today and watch how quick pain, gas end. You can smoke, eat and drink what you want if you take Acidine to stop resulting acidity. Results guaranteed or your money back. Get ACIDINE from any druggist today.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, November 20.—Comedy dialogue is rapidly becoming a leading industry of the broadcasters. More and more room at the microphones is being found for those who can evoke the chuckle if not the guffaw of the easy chairs.

The majority of the new comedy teams are wisely refraining from Negro impersonation, preferring to concern themselves with the humdrum activities of blundering and bewildered nafs—such figures as rural storekeepers and urban bologna slicers.

Comedy dialogue is now one of the chief lures to the promised land of swimming pools and basement bars and three-car garages. Its sponsors hope it will attract a second stroke of the Amos 'n' Andy lightning, and perhaps it will if enough emphasis is placed upon naturalness and humanness of characterization and situation.

Without naturalness and humanness, the comedy dialogists might better turn to crooning, for there will be no audience for them. The road is narrow and thorny.

Howard Brothers, Weber and Fields

The best known comedy teams at present on the air, next to those of Amos 'n' Andy and Gene and Glenn, of Cleveland, are those of Willie and Eugene Howard, formerly sharers with Al Jolson of the brightest spotlight of the Winter Garden, and Weber and Fields. On the radio the Howard brothers have resumed their partnership, with Willie in his familiar role of clown and cut-up and Eugene playing straight and voicing the more pretentious balads of Broadway.

Willie is chiefly concerned with bringing to listeners his uncanny stage impersonations of the more successful balladeers, Jolson, Chevalier, Cantor, Jessel—the art of mimicry has long been too obscure on the loudspeakers. He now plans,' the spies report, to devote more of his comic skill to original characterization, supplied for the most part from the pen of his brother Eugene.

The Howards so far have wisely avoided the trapping of wisecracks for the sake of wisecracks. They seem to approach the microphone with a welcome desire to know its technique, to be funny men without trying to be funny. And to be funny without an effort is still the most audible cry of the broadcasters.

It is a sentimental journey that Weber and Fields undertake each week on the radio sea—a journey that evokes dim memories of their music hall glories. In their old parts of Mike and Meyer, they are reviving their familiar massacre of the English language. Much of their old-time banter gathering dust for a generation is heard. "I vill teach you all I don't know about etiket," says Meyer. "Et a ket?" replies Mike. "I ain't et no ket." And so on, while their admirers beam, proud that the radio, if not the stage, still has room for the obvious dialect gags that once rocked the town.

3 Women Delegates Lose $9,000 Jewels

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Three delegates to the general convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy in session here reported to police that jewelry valued at more than $9,000 had been stolen from their rooms in a hotel.

Mrs. W. Herbert Wiley, of Greenwich, Conn., lost a $5,000 brooch set with diamonds and rubies and a $4,000 string of pearls. Mrs. I. D. Lewis, also of Greenwich, who is staying with Mrs. Wiley, said a pair of nose glasses with a pearl clasp and gold chain attached had been stolen from her. Mrs. J. L. Medlin, delegate from Jacksonville, Fla., reported to police she lost a diamond-studded wrist watch valued at $750.

2 Yukon Men Admit Robbery, Sentenced

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 20.—Earl Weaver, of Yukon, was sentenced to serve from two to four years in Western Penitentiary, while John Hails, also of Yukon, received a suspended sentence when the men pleaded guilty in court here to robbery charges.

It was alleged that on the night of September 30 they broke into the home of Henry Berkowich, Yukon grocer, held him up at the point of a gun and then fled after robbing him of $800 in checks and $1.35 in cash.

2 Held for Planting Explosive on Farm

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 20.—When they appeared at the Joseph Bake farm, west of here, today, William King, 30, and J. W. White, 38, Bridgeport, O., were arrested by deputy sheriffs and held in the county jail for questioning in connection with the finding of three gallons of nitroglycerine.

Bake saw two men plant the explosive on his farm and notified Sheriff William Yost. Deputies waited the return of the men and arrested them as they started digging for the nitro.

Robber's Love Note Leads to His Arrest

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—A burglar who penned love missives in German and left one of them in an apartment he looted fell into the hands of detectives.

Karl Sauerschall, 23, a chef, was arraigned for a $1,000 burglary. Police said he had confessed to five breaks near Columbia University, during one of which the robber changed his own clothes for his victim's best suit, leaving in his pocket a letter to his sweetheart. Sauerschall's arrest followed a visit by detectives to the girl's home.

Write to the Doll Lady For Photo of Tickletoes

Dear Little Girls:

I am amazed at the response I am getting to my daily letters to you in the Sun-Telegraph. Yes, I'm just "tickled pink" to think that so many little girls are ready to do something for me to get one of my "Tickletoes" wonder dolls. Here is a letter that I liked particularly. It is from Freda Laeng, 1318 Lindbergh avenue, Etna, Pa.:

I am 12 years old, but I still like to play with dolls. I have a very big doll, but she is very cross-eyed, because her eyes were broken one time. I have a smaller one, but I like more than one good one. That's why I want one of your dolls. Don't think I'm selfish. I hope your plan works out the way you want it to and I think I will close. I am taking up your time. Goodby.

Your very sincere friend,
FREDA LAENG.

Well, I wrote to Freda yesterday and told her how easy it will be to get a "Tickletoes" dolly for a playmate. And here are some more little girls to whom I sent letters yesterday: Ada Bates, Glena Finley, Mary Guinco, Alice Clayton, Clara McIntyre, Dorothy Wagner, Helen Zappia, Ethel Ross, Mary Andrews, Alice Kilgour, Catherine Mayerski, Jane Jacobson, Helen Schwartz and Martha Miller.

I know that every little girl will be delighted with "Tickletoes," who is nearly as tall as this newspaper page is long. She is gloriously dressed in organdie, has brilliant life-like eyes that open and shut, she has a happy smile, dimpled knees and three voices. Pinch one knee and you hear one voice; pinch the other knee and you hear another voice, and she feels so badly about it when you lay her on her back that she goes to sleep. But if you lay her on her face she actually cries. She is unbreakable, and her legs and arms bend naturally.

"Tickletoes" is a DIFFERENT doll than you have ever had before. I am sending all the little girls who write to me a set of pictures of "Tickletoes" in colors. These pictures will show you all the cute things that this dolly can do.

Now if you want a "Tickletoes" all for your very own, and will do the simple things I ask, just fill in and mail the doll lady coupon for me today. You'll get a letter in the return mail telling you just what you have to do. Goodby for today! See you tomorrow, the

Hearty Food Urged to Save Teeth

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

William Pfarr

A Sidewalks spy has rifled two letters from the county files and dutifully turned them over to us. This, the first, was written by a downtown attorney to the legal department of Allegheny County:

"On even date, in the assignment room of the Criminal Court, I sat on a chair and tore a perfectly good pair of pants, spoiling a good suit, which said suit cost me $60. The tearing occurred by the protrusion of a screw from the chair and in which my trousers became caught.

"It is respectfully requested that this matter be investigated and that I be reimbursed for the damages incurred."

And this, the second, in answer, was penned by District Attorney Park to Joe Armstrong, chairman of the county commissioners:

"I feel that any action to be taken by reason of the screw in this chair should be a civil action and not criminal. I am not clear from the letter whether the attorney tearing these pants refers to a suit of clothes or a suit in court.

"If the complainant lost his suit in court by reason of the hole in his pants I feel that I could give him relief. If, however, he is referring to his suit of clothes, any relief he obtains would have to come from Your Honorable Board.

"If any investigation is required by Your Honorable Board I will be glad to have Mr. Murren's department make the investigation for you."

Every newspaper now has its golf expert, but years ago, when golf was a baby, sports writers were puzzled by its intricacies. They knew no more of the game than John People.

However, Francis Xavier Barr, the secretary of the company which published the old Pittsburgh Post, was a golfer, an enthusiastic one. Mr. Barr knew well that low, not high score, wins at golf.

During the early days of the game, Mr. Barr played in a local tournament. The sports writer assigned to cover the event was Jack Dailey, brother of Guy Dailey, the detective.

Dailey cast an eye over the list of scores after the tournament, noted that his boss had rolled up the high score—something like 134—and proceeded to write that Mr. Barr was the winner The story ran for two editions.

The public has little realizations or appreciation of the little tragedies which disturb the semi-private life of a policeman. Take the semi-private life of Jake Fry, the Wilkinsburg policeman. Some time ago the peace of the Fry household was upset by a small flock of pigeons which came to roost in a tiny section under the Fry roof.

Mr. Fry is a humanitarian, as humanitarians go, but when the pigeons began to disturb the slumbers of the Fry family, he allowed two boys from the neighborhood to claim the birds.

The boys divided the pigeons, in a fashion, and all seemed well until one of the new pigeon fanciers felt that he had been outwitted in the division.

Revenge. One night he stole to his partner's coop and released the pigeons.

The pigeons all flew back to the Fry roof.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLEY HILLS, Cal., Nov. 20.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Will Rogers

Bobby has some queer ideas. He thinks that getting money takes away your amateur standing. Then California, to help relieve unemployment has decided as their contribution to charity to take on nine more congressmen. Mayor Thompson, of Chicago, has got the most original idea to help the unemployed, he wants to sell 'em four million lottery tickets at 25 cents apiece, and the one that draws the lucky number gets to eat. Yours.

Cavities Halted, Structure Built Up by Diet, Western Pennsylvania Body Hears

Diet featuring food inclusion rather than food exclusion strengthens teeth even to the extent of halting the growth of a cavity and building a firm base within its structure, Dr. C. L. Drain, of the University of Iowa, asserted in the principal address before the opening session today of the Odontological Society of Western Pennsylvania.

The sessions, marking the forty-ninth annual convention, opened for three days in the William Penn Hotel. Features of the convention included clinics showing the latest technical developments and displays by more than 40 manufacturers.

FETE FOR WADDILL

Dr. Leslie Waddill, of Pittsburgh, will be honored at a testimonial banquet tomorrow night in the Keystone Athletic Club. He has served as secretary for 12 terms, resigning the office during the past year. Retiring officers will be honored on the same program.

Citing the results of nearly seven years' experimental research work on children up to the age of 16 years, Dr. Drain told of necessary foods to assure healthy tooth condition. He said:

"We have proven that existing cavities can be controlled and good teeth kept free from defects through food control. The experiments have even stopped existing cavities from growing larger and built within them firm base and structure. And it is done through a diet that means inclusion rather than exclusion of foods.

FOOD NECESSARY

"The foods every child up to 16 years of age needs and should have every day are one quart of milk, at least one egg, one teaspoon of cod liver oil, two large servings of vegetables, two large servings of fruit, one of which should be fresh, six teaspoons of butter and a serving of meat. These food items will build firm teeth making for a healthy mouth which is necessary for health of body and mind."

ICE CREAM MEN TALK ECONOMY

Trade practices and elimination of uneconomic operations were discussed today before members of the Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, in annual session at the William Penn Hotel.

Eight men who assisted in the formation of the association are attending the silver anniversary. They are E. E. Reick, of Pittsburgh; Porter Walker and Burr Walker, Warren; Morris Lifter, Philadelphia; J. W. Neuman, York; Robert Fickes, Baltimore; W. E. Hoffman, Tyrone, and John Comfort, Philadelphia.

Report of the association's trade practice committee was made by Chairman J. W. Neuman. Speakers during the morning included J. A. Williams, president of the Anthracite Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers; E. N. Hershy, president, Keystone Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers; W. L. Simmons, of Philadelphia; and C. D. Dahle, of State College.

Speaking on uneconomic operations during the afternoon were P. B. Beck, of New York; H. W. Brigham, Rochester, N. Y., and R. C. Hibben, of the International Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers.

Benefit Parties For Welfare Fund

Benefit parties for the welfare fund, organized by the East Pittsburgh borough council, school board and patriotic and civic bodies, were announced today by members of the East Pittsburgh Post of the American Legion who sponsored the plan. A midnight show at the Rivoli Theater by the Fraternal Order of Eagles on Thanksgiving Eve and a dance in Turner Hall by the Slovak Social Club, November 30, have been arranged.

GEORGE L. BOND

TOY MISSION FOUNDER ILL

More than 17,000 Pittsburgh children will be overlooked by Santa Claus this year if the cheery old fellow's chief helper in these parts, George L. Bond, co-founder of the Toy Mission, does not improve in health by the Yuletide season or unless some more helpers are found within the next few weeks.

In his home at 14 Union avenue, Crafton, today he told of the start of the Toy Mission here:

"It was back in 1894 when Maj. R. W. A. Simmons, with whom I was associated in business and church work, suggested that we join together in this enterprise.

"We began in a very small way, collecting broken toys and repairing them, packing them and distributing them to poor children at Christmas time. In 1906, Maj. Simmons went to Alaska to look over some property we were interested in. He made me promise to carry on the work that year alone. I did and every year since then, through the kind help of other public-spirited men and women."

Even though his health may not permit him to take much active part in the work this year, Mr. Bond is anxious that the work be carried on.

STORE TO AID POOR BY SHARE OF SALES

Will Give 3 Per Cent of Two-Day's Receipts; Plan Lauded by Civic Leaders

Declaring this to be the time for facing facts and for action in relieving distress due to unemployment, McCreery's have announced they will give 3 per cent of the entire Friday and Saturday sales in the store and restaurant, to aid those in need.

CIVIC LEADERS LAUD PLAN

The movement has been indorsed by Mayor Charles H. Kline, Mrs. Enoch Rauh, director of public welfare; Mrs. R. W. Johnston, president of the Congress of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. F. DeL. Hyde, first vice president of the Junior League.

Mrs. Rauh, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Hyde and James Rae, president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, have been named as a committee to receive and disburse the money McCreery's will turn over from the two days selling.

In announcing the plan, McCreery's say:

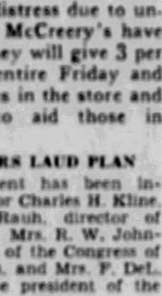
"We have no selfish motive, nor are we in any way bordering on commercializing the the present unfortunate situation which is responsible for the unemployment problem of the city of Pittsburgh. In order that this may be distinctly understood, we will advertise no merchandise whatsoever for tomorrow and Saturday."

Mrs. Johnston

HOPES OTHERS FOLLOW

Commenting on the McCreery action, Mrs. Rauh said:

"I consider the splendid thought and fine spirit of McCreery's, in wishing to help the unfortunate families of the unemployed of the city, an excellent movement. Such initiative will undoubtedly stimulate other business concerns into following their kind and generous deed."



Mrs. Rauh

Mrs. Hyde said:

Mrs. John M. Phillips, County Neighborhood Leader, Speaks at Noon Meeting

Mrs. John M. Phillips, chairman of the County Neighborhood Division, was the principal speaker at the noon luncheon today of workers in the annual Welfare Fund drive to raise $1,520,248 to carry on work for the coming year.

Reports at the luncheon today showed that to date $926,883 has been raised. Today's collections were reported at $47,531.

Music at the luncheon was to be provided by the Red Arrow Quartet of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The luncheon tomorrow will be given over to the City Neighborhood Division, under Mrs. Edward A. Toby.

WOMEN DISTRIBUTE AID

A corps of workers is assisting Mrs. W. E. TRAMP SHOOTS 2 BOYS

The Hill District was being combed today for a Negro believed to be demented who shot two boys as they climbed up the hillside from Bigelow boulevard, near Cliff and Fullerton streets, last night.

One of his victims, Joseph Spagnoletti, 13, of 1018 Gilmore way, shot in the right shoulder is in Mercy Hospital. The other boy, Raymond Boccardi, 12, of 1007 Gilmore way, wounded in the right hand was treated at the hospital and taken home.

Their assailant, a tramp, lived in a cave in the hill, police said. A week ago the Negro chased several boys who taunted him.

Bernard Macullo, 13, of 927 Bedford avenue and Joseph Harvey, 15, of Bustrick way, who were with the wounded boys' ran for help after the shooting.

Pittsburgh Patrons of Art Find Interest Focused On Works of Brooks

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Brook are the cynosure of all eyes turned towards art in Pittsburgh these Indian summer days. Mr. Brook was awarded the second prize at the Carnegie International and also the Lehman prize and purchase.

Unhappily, they cannot come to Pittsburgh to see their exhibits because their little boy is ill of scarlet fever. Pittsburgh, however, may know and enjoy Peggy Bacon through her scalpel-like etching needle.

The daughter of Charles R. Bacon, an artist, Peggy Bacon has habitually written satirical rhymes and illustrated them. This no doubt accounts for the nimble rhythms of her drawings.

NEEDY NEGLECT LAID TO COUNTY

Attorney Harry I. Miller, secretary of the Helping Hand, relief organization caring for unemployed, today assailed county officials for not taking greater interest in the needs of destitute families of the county.

Miller spoke of the Drusin family in particular. Joseph Drusin, the father, killed himself rather than face the charge of stealing a loaf of bread. Declaring the county has millions to spend for airports and political activities, Mr. Miller said:

"In spite of the publicity given the case of the Drusins, not one agency or civic organization, aside from the Salvation Army, which has offered them food, and the County Commissioners, who yesterday appropriated $250 for them, has gone to the family's aid.

"I learned that they are not the only family in Rural Ridge in need. Five other families there are desperately in need of food and clothing.

"It is time that actual help be given. These people cannot live on promises; they need bread and homes."

AID DRIVE OPENS IN M'KEESPORT

McKeesport residents launched a campaign for their own Welfare Fund today, working to raise about $20,000 for local aid in cooperation with Allegheny County's Welfare Fund.

The campaign was opened officially last night with a banquet at the Elks Club, with Mayor George H. Lysle presiding. The principal speaker of the evening was Superintendent of Schools J. R. Richey. The County Welfare Fund was represented by its president, A. K. Oliver, campaign manager, Joseph Dilworth and executive secretary, Wilbur F. Maxwell.

The McKeesport fund will be used in full co-operation with the county fund, according to Lysle, while retaining local initiative and interest. The city stayed out of the drive entirely last year, although the fund provided it with the services of a public health nurse and funds for relief work.

CITY GUARDS AGAINST TRAFFIC TIEUP IN P. R. R. PROJECT

LAWYER POINTS WAY IN REPLY TO RAILWAY

Solicitor Lang Urges Street Car Problem Relief by Substitute Loop Method

Plans can be worked out for rerouting traffic during the construction of the new Pennsylvania Railroad terminal, without serious downtown congestion, in the opinion of Charles P. Lang, assistant city attorney in charge of public utilities litigation.

ANSWER TO RAILWAYS

This was Lang's answer today to statements of officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company before the Public Service Commission yesterday, that if the contract for the building of the terminal, entered into between the city and the railroad, is approved, serious tieups will follow. The railways company and eight other utilities are opposing the contract, because no provision has been made to recompense them for shifting railway tracks, underground wires, and other changes.

Lang said:

"We are bound under our contract with the Pittsburgh Railways Company to take care of traffic movements in eventualities of this kind. All we need to do is to sit down with the traction conference board and work out a plan to shift traffic during the period of constructing the new station, which calls for the vacation of certain streets from Eleventh street to Twenty-first street and the widening of others.

SEES EASIER LOOP

"I think that a way can be found to loop street cars without taking the South Side cars and some of the South Hills cars up to Twenty-third street to reroute them."

Lang was asked if the opening of Grant street through to Penn avenue first, would not obviate the necessity of looping cars at Twenty-third street.

He replied:

"Opening of Grant street through to Penn avenue is part of the street plan proposed. Some plan can be adopted to simplify the movement of traffic. I dare say that the city will grant the necessary permits to the railways company enabling it to shift traffic advantageously."

1,300 VEHICLES AN HOUR

In his testimony before the commission yesterday, M. W. Cook, general superintendent and master of transportation for the car line, said approximately 1,300 automobiles and street cars would have to be passed through the territory each hour. He said a study of traffic had been made. Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president of the railways company outlined the difficulties his line would have to face when work on the new terminal is begun.

CLAIMS MILLION LOSS

C. S. Mitchell, controller of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, testified the company is facing a serious problem as to revenues, this having been pointed out in previous hearings. He stated the road's revenues were $1,000,000 less so far this year, as compared with 1929.

The company claims the proposed changes it will have to make if the contract is approved, will cost $750,000 and will prove a hardship.

Company's Negro Workers to Elect

FALL AND WINTER DIETS SHOULD INCLUDE SWEETS

Desserts, Jellies, Canned Fruits, Candies and Cranberry Sauce Are Appropriate

Winter diets demand fuel food. To disregard this rule leads to lowered vitality, the result of which is sickness.

Food that contains, or is served with refined sugar is good fuel food. Cereal, fresh or stewed fruit, jellies, jams, preserves, sweetened beverages and desserts belong to this class and every meal affords an opportunity to serve them.

At this time of the year, cranberries in some form are appropriate at any meal. Serve them as a jelly for breakfast; as a sauce with meats; in puddings and pies for desserts.

Business people can avoid and overcome fatigue by eating or drinking something sweet in mid-afternoon. There is a wide variety of such snacks available everywhere—candy, cakes, beverages and ice cream. A glass of water sweetened with sugar—the "athlete's cocktail"—will always prove invigorating. In eating and drinking these foods and beverages, the sugar is quickly digested and its energy is immediately available. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with refined sugar. BABY BORN IN CONGO

THE REV. AND MRS. WILLIAM D. HAMMON AND WILLIAM

Congo Missionaries Back With Story of Perilous Journeys in Wilds

After an absence of four years, doing missionary work in the interior of Africa, the Rev. and Mrs. William D. Hammon have returned here, and with them is their 6-months-old baby, William Munganga Hammon, who was born in the Belgian Congo.

The Hammons, members of the Evangelization Society of the Pittsburgh Bible Institute of Pittsburgh, left November, 1926, for Belgium. The Rev. Mr. Hammon studied tropical medical work, and later they left for Africa, settling in Leopoldville, capital of the Belgian Congo. After Mr. Hammon had completed his course at the government laboratory hospital, the Hammons traveled inland.

It took 12 days to complete the journey to Shabunda, where they joined seven other missionaries of the society. The only white people there besides the six women and three men missionaries were a government official and a trader. There were about 1,000 natives in the settlement.

The Hammons, accompanied by a caravan of 40 natives, traveled from the interior to the Congo River, near Stanleyville, a distance of 500 miles, to the nearest doctor. The trip took three weeks, part on foot and part by boat. The baby was born upon their arrival.

The natives were paid 8 cents a day, which includes labor and food. The men walked and the women were carried in hammocks. It took most of the 40 natives to carry the Hammons' baggage. Most of it was carried on their heads. Mr. Hammon shot and killed three buffaloes on that trip.

The Hammons said that they would go back "home," back to their mud huts, after Mr. Hammon receives a medical degree at Pitt.

Mr. Hammon's father, the Rev. W. H. Hammon, of 4255 Bryn Mawr road, who is a director of the Pittsburgh Bible Institute, visited his son and daughter-in-law in the Congo two years ago. The Hammons are now making their home with Mrs. Hammon's mother, Mrs. Mabel M. Black, Hickory road, Bridgeville.

PROMISE EARLY START ON NEW RAIL LINE

Loree Would Begin Work Immediately if I. C. C. Granted Its Approval

L. F. Loree, backed by the estate of the late E. H. Harriman which already has spent more than $700,000 on the purchase of charters and on preliminary surveys, gave assurance in Washington yesterday that he intends to start construction of the proposed New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago Railroad as soon as permission is given by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

DENIES SPECULATION

He emphatically denied he has any connection with any other system, or is proposing to secure a certificate for construction of the line for any speculative purpose.

Loree, who has secured an enviable reputation as an operating executive as president of the Delaware and Hudson, and through previous connections with other lines, in discussing his plans for the future said:

"I believe thoroughly in the economic and financial practicability of the project. I have not gone into it for any speculative purpose, or for any purpose whatsoever except to construct it and to place it in operation in the public service with the least possible delay.

READY TO PLACE ORDERS

"I shall promote every suitable and desirable measure for completing the necessary financing upon a sound basis, placing the necessary contracts for construction, putting the necessary labor at work on the line and in the establishments where materials and supplies will be produced and, finally, placing the entire railroad in operation at the earliest practicable date."

Man Held for Theft Of Toy Automobile

Arrested by police who noticed him in Liberty avenue carrying a large toy automobile early today, Michael McCoy, 37, of 3417 Penn avenue, was being held in the Central Police Station on a suspicious person charge. Police say the toy automobile had been stolen from a freight car in the Tenth street yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Thanksgiving atmosphere has reached Pittsburgh with the first shipment of turkeys being distributed at the produce yards, and poultry men announcing prices will be lower than last year.

The first shipment, 1,100 from Kentucky growers, arrived yesterday with 10 more cars coming from the same source this week, according to Clarence H. Lee, wholesale broker. He declared the supply will be plentiful.

$25 TITLE HUNT PRIZE AWARDED

J. Ralph Fenton, 500 Hamilton apartments, New Castle, is the winner of $25, or the fifth prize in the first Ripley Title Hunt which has just been brought to a close by the Sun-Telegraph. This is his share of the award money which totaled $1,500.

Mr. Fenton

The Sun-Telegraph, greatly pleased with the results of the first contest, has arranged a second to be conducted in the same manner.

Anyone is eligible to enter the contest and the reward is ample payment for the time spent on it.

If you enter the contest today, you will experience the unusual interest which many of those who were in the first contest have acknowledged. The rules are simple and easy to understand. This contest resembles a game, once in —you will not leave, it will fascinate you. The Sun-Telegraph offers the Ripley Title Hunt as an interesting and profitable pastime.

The answers submitted by Mr. Fenton, unique in form, gained the praise of the judges and entitled him to fifth place. He, as well as all entrants, will stand a chance to receive first prize in the next contest. Start now—it will be well worth your effort.

Names of additional winners will be announced tomorrow.

URGES TURBINE TOWBOAT DRIVE

The Pittsburgh Propellor Club, an organization devoted to the study and improvement of river traffic, heard Robert W. Clark, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company advertising executive, advocate the new electric drive for towboats, at a meeting of the club in the Keystone Athletic Club today.

Robert W. Clark

Clark said:

"The turbine electric system of propulsion, although it is new on the rivers, is not a recent innovation in marine engineering. For many years turbine electric drive has been thoroughly tested in all sorts of service that is encountered in the Navy and the merchant marine. It is obvious, through the high regard with which it is held in marine circles, that it has made good."

THE Luxurious FRESHNESS OF THIS Thermo-fresh COFFEE adds 60% more flavor to your breakfast cup

WHITE HOUSE COFFEE has always had glorious flavor . . . but now that flavor is 60% richer, 60% mellower, than you've ever before tasted it.

How do we add 60% more flavor? We don't, exactly . . . Rather, we save it for you, in the new Thermo-fresh tin.

Freshly-roasted coffee, of course, is 100% flavor. But as soon as it cools from the roasting, that flavor begins to escape. It goes with a rush . . . 60% steals away within 9 days.*

But White House Coffee is quickly locked up in the Thermo-fresh tin, fresh from the roaster, deliciously steeped in its own rich aroma. Only when you unlock the tin can it come out, and then all its luxurious freshness goes into the coffee you make.

Your grocer probably has White House Thermo-fresh Coffee. Ask for it. You may find that it costs a little more than the coffee you've been buying, but remember that it has 60% more flavor.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Wilson Will Give Luncheon

A variety of entertainments for debutantes will brighten the social aspect of the coming weeks. There are debutante parties here in town to attend, and events in the south and east to attract others.

Before I tell you about two debutante teas of yesterday, I want to talk about a luncheon I've just heard of, which will take place during Thanksgiving season.

Mrs. John McCalmont Wilson, of Castleman street, will give a luncheon on Friday, November 28, in the Pittsburgh Golf Club in honor of Betty McKay, debutante daughter of the Thomas Jefferson McKays, of Morewood avenue, and of her niece, Ruth Raymond Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Mitchell, of St. Paul. Ruth is the guest of her aunt for a few weeks. She attended the Masters School in Dobbs Ferry, and studied in Rome.

Down in Norfolk, Va., yesterday a Pittsburgh debutante was honored at a reception her mother, Mrs. Thomas C. Nash, and Mrs. Beverly Jones gave in the Jones home. The deb is Eugenia Nash, who was presented Friday night at the first German of the Norfolk season. She is the granddaughter of late Edgar Nashes, of Portsmouth, Va.

Honored In South

The home was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums, pink roses and pink snap-dragons. The hostesses and the debutantes received, assisted by Mrs. Alfred Riddick, Mrs. Leigh R. Powell, Jr., Mrs. Frank George, Mrs. Lawrence Trant and Mrs. B. L. Poindexter, all of Norfolk and Portsmouth. A group of debutantes assisted Eugenia.

At the tea table was Mrs. H. V. McKittrick, assisted by Caroline Jones and Marie Nicholson. And there were more than 300 guests.

The debutante wore emerald green chiffon, embroidered with iridescent beads, and her mother chose a gown of black lace.

Slender, brunette Harriet La Salle Dorrance, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harold J. Dorrance, of South Negley avenue, made her bow to society yesterday at a tea given by her mother in the ballroom of the Twentieth Century Club.

Debutante Presented

The bud's aides included Betty McCance, Neil Stewart Zang, Barbara Irwin, Betty McKay, Helen Tunnell and Martha Leggate. Aiding Mrs. Dorrance were Mrs. Richard B. Baum, Mrs. Benjamin Dangerfield, Jr., Mrs. Edward Coe Dilworth, Mrs. R. Gilbert Dorrance, Miss Bertha Frances Fisher, Mrs. George Harper, Miss Mary A. Graham Mitchell, Mrs. George Reed, Mrs. Stephen Stone and Mrs. William F. Wise.

The tea table was centered with heather, pompons and La Salle chrysanthemums, lighted by apricot tinted tapers in crystal candelabra. Silver pheasants and hot house grapes added a novel note.

Friday, December 19, has been chosen by the G. Harton Singers, of Morewood Heights, for the dinner they will give in honor of Hester Harton Browne, debutante daughter of the Richard Hollyday Semples, of Sewickley Heights and Louisville, Ky. The dinner will take place that evening in the Pittsburgh Golf Club.

Dinner For Deb

The Semples returned only last evening from Louisville. Hester has as her house guest, Mary Jean Curtis, of Grand Rapids, Mich., who will accompany her east tonight for the Yale-Harvard game in New Haven, Conn., on Saturday.

Hester will be formally presented to society, as you probably know, by her parents at a ball the evening of December 22, in the Pittsburgh Club.

A group of the younger society set in Sewickley constitutes the Junior Woman's Club, and is planning to give a show on Saturday, December 13, in the Guild Hall. And a member, Nancy Hamilton, of Sewickley, has written the words and the lyrics for the musical comedy.

Smart Set In Show

Stars in the show will be Mrs. Charles Arrott, Harriet Ramsburg, Mrs. Dudley Livingston, Mrs. Gardiner Woods, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Brainard II, Bennett Edson, John Trimble, Charles A. Woods, Jr., David Chaplin, Thomas A Standish, Jr., Putnam Goldsbury, William Doolittle and Harry Colby.

In the first chorus will be Anne and Margaret Rose, Katherine Collin, Rebecca Doyle, Mrs. Dudley Livingston and Caroline Crittenden.

In the second chorus are Mrs. Gilbert Rafferty, Mrs. James Chaplin II, Elizabeth Miller, Rosamound Fitch, Mrs. Ira Brainard and Harriet Ramsburg.

Aiding Chairmen

Mrs. Dudley Livingston, assisted by Ruby Rose, is in charge of make-up, and Mrs. Foster Robertson of music. Ken Owens, of Carnegie Tech, is directing the orchestra.

Emily Stuart is directing the publicity and advertising, assisted by Maria Leiper, Martha Leggate, Anne and Margaret Rose, Rosamound Fitch, Susan O'Neil, Betty Childs and Mrs. Francis McKnight.

Mrs. James S. Todd, of Sewickley, is in New York for a few days.

Susan Colby, of Sewickley, who appeared with the Sewickley Cot Club players a year or so ago, will be at the Pitt next week, her first professional appearance, where she'll appear in "The Triumphant Bachelor," with the George Sharp Players.

Debut On Stage

JUDGE SARA SOFFEL

Judge Sara Soffel Feted By Woman's City Club At Large Gathering

A large and fashionable gathering attended the reception given from 4 until 7 o'clock yesterday by the Woman's City Club in honor of Judge Sara Soffel. The club quarters in their entirety were thrown open and even the usually staid office took on an air of festivity. Flowers were everywhere in vases and bowls and there were palms and other greenery here and there. The long tea table was strikingly effective with its high centerpiece of bronze and yellow button chrysanthemums and brass candelabra holding black tapers.

Mrs. George S. Baton, the president, wearing green crepe and a small green felt hat, received with Judge Soffel, who was in black velvet. Both wore shoulder bouquets of orchids. Assisting and at intervals pouring were Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, who was in blue and black figured crepe with small blue felt hat; Mrs. James Hay Hammond, in black and white satin; Mrs. James Macfarlane, in black; Mrs. Henry Clay McIldowney, in tomato red crepe and red felt hat; Miss Suzanne Beatty in a green crepe ensemble; Mrs. M. L. Benedum in black crepe, Miss Hannah Patterson in black crepe with cowl and cuffs of pale blue and Mrs. William Watson Smith, who was chairman for the day, and who wore beige and brown chiffon.

A bazar and dinner will be held tomorrow evening by the Loyal Women's Class of the Central Christian Church, Dithridge street.

The Sisterhood of the Tree of Life Synagogue will hold its annual bazar and sale of baked goods today in the vestry rooms of the synagogue. Mrs. Albert Dreker is chairman.

CLUB NOTES

One of the most pretentious affairs the literature department of the Congress of Clubs has ever had was the dinner meeting of last night, quite a departure from the customary luncheon meeting. About 75 members and their husbands attended and heard the very fine program. Dr. M. H. Bigelow gave a humorous and decidedly interesting talk on "Customs and Costumes of the East," illustrating with some of the costumes and with slides. Mrs. Florence Fisher Parry talked on "The Six Most-Asked-for Books;" Mrs. J. Charles Wilson read a number of poems by Congress members; several book reviews were given and the music was furnished by Miss Marianne Genet and James Atchzen, baritone. Mr. Atchzen sang Miss Genet's compositions, one of which was set to words by Mrs. May T. Neff, chairman of the literature department.

St. Agnes Guild, of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, will give a benefit card party on Saturday afternoon at Oppenheim-Collins' auditorium. Mrs. Arthur Ramsdell, Mrs. Robert Craig and Mrs. W. S. Garden are in charge of the affair. Junior Daughters of the King will sell home-made candy.

As a benefit for the national philanthropic project, a kindergarten nursery school in Chicago, the Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi will have its annual bridge party Saturday afternoon in the Congress of Clubs. Mrs. Robert Braun is in general charge.

The second in a series of cultural group meetings of Junior Hadassah will take place at the home of Miss Racille Srolovitz, Beacon street, this evening and Maurice A. Nernberg will present a review of "The Rise of David Lavinsky," by Abraham Cahan.

There will be a meeting of the executive board of the Allegheny Parent-Teacher Association tomorrow afternoon in the office of the county schools superintendent, Dr. C. E. Dickey.

Miss Juliet Knox will speak on her travels in Mexico at Monday's meeting of the Pittsburgh Female College Association in the College Club.

The Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Martin's Church will spend this week-end in Washington.

Chesterton Decries Nobel Prize Award

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Gilbert K. Chesterton believes that Edith Wharton and Thornton Wilder were more deserving of the Nobel prize than Sinclair Lewis. He said so when receiving the degree of doctor of literature from Canisius College. Also mentioning Ford and Edison, the English author said that one of the most surprising idiosyncracies of American life is that men and women who have achieved eminence in one field feel themselves fully qualified to give opinions about other unrelated ones.

Hiccoughing Attack Ends After 10 Days

DETROIT, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Joseph Baskin's 10-day spell of hiccoughs was ended today without recourse to any of the 50 or more home remedies suggested to hospital authorities by persons who read of his illness.

The remedies suggested varied from a grated potato poultice to a "good scare" by glibly remarking in the patient's presence that his wife was dead and his home destroyed by fire.

ROBOT PILOTS PLANE

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—A new-type airplane-piloting "robot" was acclaimed here today after a successful flight from Cleveland to Buffalo with the mechanical contrivance in complete control of the craft except during the take-off and in landing.

Earl P. Ward, operations manager of Colonial Western Airways, and Maj. Gen. John F. O'Ryan, vice president of the Aviation Corporation, made the experiment. The "robot" is the invention of Otto H. Green, of Elyria, O.

Green's device holds a plane in level flight, takes it through glides, climbs, turns and banks. It uses vanes placed between and ahead of the wings to direct the control. The vanes are turned by every variation of air currents.

Army pilots also have made successful experiments with a gyroscopic control, but the gyroscope device will not handle the plane for banks and turns, it was said.

Eczema on Hands Seven Years. Very Painful. Cuticura Healed.

"I had eczema for about seven years. It broke out on my hands in tiny blisters. They were very itchy and I used to scratch them until my hands would bleed. I could not put my hands in water, and could hardly hold anything. They were very painful and it was hard for me to do housework. I could not sleep at night or rest during the day.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. T. Remmel, 636 So. Second St., Chambersburg, Pa., March 25, 1930.

GANGSTER GIRL

By JACK LAIT

CHAPTER XIII.

Before Polack Annie awoke, Silk Freeman had disappeared, as was his custom of prowling and night-owling about.

She stretched and yawned into consciousness, then ordered a lavish breakfast from room-service. After that a cigaret. And then to business.

She was to phone Tommy Gillespie that morning, but it was too late now to make it at the appointed hour. She took a chance, anyway. Tommy was out. Well, she'd stay in and let him call her—she had given him the telephone and room numbers.

He wasn't long doing it. He was agitated. He told her what she knew better than he did—that Alice Schuyler had been kidnaped—that it was the work of the mob muscling in on the Gillespie business, and that he had to do a lot of quick work . . . but he must see her . . . he must!

"How's late t'night?" she asked.

"I'll make it. Midnight—the minnie golf course next to Roxy's—how's that?"

"Check. I don't know how to shoot—that is, with them funny tools—but I'll go through the motions."

"I'll get there as soon as I can. It's open all night. If I'm delayed, play ahead and wait, will you—darling?"

"Surest thing this side o' hell. Take your time. Li'l Annie 'll be there fightin' off the ambitious Johns."

He sent a kiss through the telephone—then a sigh.

Tells About Dope

"Mr. McClosky?" he asked hesitatingly.

"What t'hell of it?" growled Cyclone Tim.

"I'm Benny Morris—Dopey Benny Morris. You've probably heard o' me—we had some dealin's in the past."

"Oh—Freeman's top dope shover on 'Cocaine Row,' eh? You got a hell o' lot o' noive t' come aroun' here."

"I'm through with Freeman," whined the little fellow. "He ain't been doin' me right. He ain't been kickin' in my divvy. An' he says I owe him dough an' if I don' pay I'm washed up."

"An' what t'hell you want me t'do?" and Cyclone Tim downed his liquor without removing his eyes from those of the other. Dopey Benny looked quickly around the room and then in lowered tones said:

"Freeman's landin' a million buck o' heroin tonight—thought you'd be interested. I'll give you the steer straight an' all I want is my split, so's I can beat it far an' away."

Cyclone Tim never moved a muscle of his face.

"Well, spit it out," he shrugged finally. "Where's d' dope?"

Melancholy Spot

"T'anks for d' tip," grunted Cyclone Tim, and he motioned to two men sitting in the little rear room. "Take dis dopey," he ordered, "an' tie him up and watch him close. I'll come back for him later."

"But—" whined Dopey Benny as the two men seized him roughly and dragged him toward the back room.

"You ain't goin' t' put Cyclone Tim on no spot. If you're tellin' d' facts, oke—I'll take care o' you when I get back—if you ain't—huh."

The narrows of Long Island Sound between Fort Schuyler on the Bronx shore and Fort Totten on the Long Island side, a pathway for ocean liners down into Hell Gate, where seven vicious tides rip and whip the waters in continual fury is one of the most melancholy, deserted and unguarded spots within fifty miles of Broadway.

A short distance below this point are the mud flats known as Sunken Meadows, which rise from the waters at ebb-tide like a vast island, a menace to all craft, unmarked by lighthouse or buoy. Farther down is Blackwell's Island, where the scream of the siren in the dead of night tells of some desperate prisoner who had trusted his soul to the dangerous waters in a bolt for liberty.

Between the two, the two drab forts, which one day guarded the narrows from the enemy, and out of the channel of the ocean liners are anchored, on an average, a half dozen boats, mostly sail craft which have fallen into dissertude. These hulks are left to the mercy of the heavy fist of the sea which day by day pounds them to splinters. Their once strong decks crumble into dust of the wind and waves sweep them away, timber by timber.

This ship's graveyard is the scene of shady and nefarious business. These rotting derelicts are used as caches for liquor, dope and every form of contraband during the dead of night. During the day, fishermen row out to them and cast their lines from the crumbling decks. The shore line on the Bronx side is dotted with factories and railroad yards and denticulated with deserted arms of land reclaimed from the sea.

Tim Captures Boat

At 9:30 o'clock on the night of the afternoon Cyclone Tim McClosky was visited by Dopey Benny Morris, two pot-bellied launches, gutted of everything save powerful engines, nosed silently up the narrow channel between Sunken Meadows and the Bronx shore. The boats, one following the other, picked their way carefully up past the silent, ghost-like ships.

When the last of the abandoned schooners was sighted, the engines were cut off and the two boats floated with the outgoing tide. As they neared the hulk a sharp voice came from the fo'c'sle deck:

"Ahoy!"

"Oke—you're a little early—there's a ladder port 'midship."

The engines of the two boats spat out their staccato into the stillness, and both craft were quickly maneuvered to the port side of the schooner. Then came the bellowing voice of Cyclone Tim:

"Let 'em have it!"

Almost instantly from both the launches came in quick succession sharp jabs of fire, the rattling rat-tat-tat of two typewriters broke into the night, and the murderous streams of lead thudded into the decayed wood of the boat. While the machine gun in one launch continued the barrage, the other boat drew alongside, rope ladders were tossed up and hooked to the deck, and a dozen murdering thieves began to scramble aboard. The machinegun fire stopped, and the other boat pulled alongside.

Cyclone Tim was the first on deck. He held a forty-five in each fist, and there was a knife in his belt. As his men gained the deck, they were greeted with a fusillade and there was a splash as one of the stragglers pitched over the side. One bullet stung into the flesh of Cyclone Tim's left arm and he roared in rage.

Dope Is Taken

His machine-gunners had fallen behind two rusted capstans and were sweeping the deck. The dope guard, which Cyclone Tim knew numbered but a dozen men, were concealed in and behind the pilot house, and they were peppering away through door and porthole.

The 24 River Rats found what cover they could. But the fight was short and sweet and bloody. After the first typewriter salvo, which crashed and cut through the ancient timbers, Cyclone Tim bellowed the command to charge.

The River Rats, all well-heeled, swarmed around the pilot house, firing through the wood through the portholes and through the door. The water-logged deck was covered with blood and the night air was filled with shots, curses and groans. With his huge shoulder the giant gang leader crashed in the rotten door and he pitched headlong inside. With his right hand he slashed and cut with a sharp-edged knife and with the left he hit and jabbed with the empty automatic.

When it was over, Cyclone Tim ordered the surviving dope guards tied up, the four dead ones were kicked overboard and the dope, in little square packages the size of shoe boxes, was tossed into the launches. There were three of the River Rats missing as the launches sped back toward Hell Gate and how many of the others came out alive would never be known.

Cyclone Tim stood above the shrinking figure of Dopey Benny in the rear of the Water street saloon. He held a gun in his hand.

"You wuz right," he grinned, as blood trickled from beneath his cap. "Dere wus a million smackers in dope, an' we got it all. An' here's your divvy, you double-crossin' rat."

He put the muzzle of the gun to Dopey Benny's head and pressed the trigger.

Famed Beauties' Poise Disappoints Sensation Seekers, Says Fay King

By FAY KING.

Women like having a peep at notorious beauties they have read about.

But often these notorious beauties prove a disappointment. Not so far as their beauty is concerned, but they are much too demure and quietly charming than the curious had expected.

They find her not as loud and flashily dressed and brazen in action as some of the women in their own set, who delight to be shocking and the "life of the party."

Dignity and class count in every walk of life, and is respected.

You will find among the notorious ladies that the bold and boisterous beauties are always the lesser fry.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

A Dramatic Occurrence Interrupts Shopping Tour

There was as much unconscious tenderness in Mary's voice as she said that the evening gown over the saleswoman's arm was Noel's favorite color that my heart swelled in momentary hot resentment against the young violinist who had betrayed such sulky jealousy at my mention of cadets attending the party I was giving for Mary. That little feature, incidentally, was one that Mary herself did not know as yet, but I was sure that her only reaction would be the natural one of every girl—that a successful "party" needed more boys than girls.

Unless she were goaded by the pain of a supposed defection, as she had been when Noel quixotically had accepted Princess Olina's proposal of marriage, she had no room in her loyal heart for thoughts of anyone save her fiance. If she gave Noel cause for jealousy at the party he would have only himself to blame, I reflected grimly, even as my eyes lightened in appreciation of the lovely dress which the saleswoman was spreading out before us. It was one of those indescribable shaded tulle affair of the new length which has brought back to evening functions a loveliness and grace which we oldsters had thought lost forever.

"Yes, Mary, that's your dress," I echoed her dictum, and turned to the saleswoman.

"Have you anything in evening cloaks that will not detract from this?"

She thought a moment, her finger on her lips, then nodded.

"There is something, a special order, which for some reason was not taken," she said. "I'll just get it now and we can take both into the fitting room."

When she came back Mary caught her breath in delight at the tawny velvet wrap, so near the shade of the orange tulle at the bottom of the dress that it seemed to have been designed to match it.

"Oh, but this will cost an awful lot," she protested.

Secretly I shared her fear, but I set my teeth in the determination that if the wrap and dress were as becoming as I visualized them Mary should have them, no matter what the cost.

"Just forget that part of it," I whispered to her, and then we followed the saleswoman to the fitting room and Mary was put into the exquisite gown. If there had been any question of recompense for my gift, I received it in full measure as I saw Mary's glowing face and starry eyes reflected in the big mirror before which she was standing, her head tilted to one side, her hands at her waist smoothing an infinitesimal wrinkle. There may be more attractive sights than a beautiful girl taking unaffected delight in the reflection of herself in a new and becoming gown, but I do not know any which do more than rival it. And when the saleswoman seized the psychological moment to lay the gorgeous tawny velvet wrap around the girl's shoulders I caught my breath at her loveliness.

"Oh-h!" Mary breathed, and then again, "Oh!"

"I don't thing we need to look any farther, do we dear?" I asked, smiling.

"I never saw anything so heavenly in my life," she said softly. "I can't believe that they are for me."

"You would better start believing it pretty soon," I told her, smiling, "or you won't wear them naturally."

There was a shining look in her eyes which told me that but for the saleswoman she would have flung her arms around me in her usual impetuous manner. But she only said softly: "My fairy godmother!"

I flushed, and there fled from me my last twinge of compunction over the depleted bank balance which I foresaw at the end of this Christmas season. At that moment I felt oddly grateful to Philip Veritzen for the liberal salary he was paying me.

"Will you see if there are any alterations?" I asked the saleswoman.

She looked the dress and wrap over critically. "I can't see a thing. Can you?" she said.

"Then we will take them," I said, showing her the little metal disc which identified my charge account. "Please see that they are delivered tomorrow morning. And now will you please send a stock girl with me? I want to take these to the shoe, glove and hosiery departments. Everything must match, you know."

The saleswoman's acquiesence was prompt, and as soon as Mary was in her street clothing again we followed the stockroom girl to the elevator. Mary was squeezing my arm rapturously, but suddenly her grasp tightened into a vise-like grip.

"Auntie Madge! Look! Just sneaking around the elevator!"

CORRECT MANNERS

By Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman

Co-operation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We are a young married couple and both work. My husband contends that it is a wife's duty to do the cooking and general housework. Ordinarily, he is willing to help but always contends that it is the wife's duty and that he is helping me. My point in the matter is—as we are both bringing an income into the home, I believe it is his duty to share in the work, as well as mine, and that it is not a privilege extended to him. C. M. A.

Right you are. Under these circumstances, when the work of the day is shared, the tasks of the morning before going to work and the tasks of the evening, after the day's work, should be shared, as a mutual and delightful pleasure. All of this may be a duty, or it may be privilege, but it certainly should be a mutual one, not one reserved for the wife, as it would more naturally be if the wife had the day in which to do the housekeeping.

However, why not throw away both the rather frigid word duty and the word privilege, and not think of it as a buoyantly high-hearted mutual pleasure?

The Matter of Wearing Hats

At a local entertainment given by a mixed chorus in the evening, some of the women came wearing hats, which they wore during the singing. What was correct, to wear a hat or not to wear a hat? LEE.

If the occasion were the informal one that I judge it was, it would have been appropriate for the women to wear hats.

Tell It to Sally

By SALLY MARTIN

Should Hubby Cease Admiring the Gentler Sex Just Because He Is Weighted Down by a Ball and Chain?

She's contemplating suicide—

With maybe a little preliminary murder—

For why?

Because her husband admires pretty ladies!

No.....he hasn't threatened to elope with any of them. In fact, so far he's been devotion itself to the Missus—except for a wandering eye and a quick appreciation of tripping heels.

But Stella thinks that is Big Trouble, and is about to wreck her marriage. Maybe you believe she's right. But my hunch is that she's the one who is rocking the boat.....

Here's the story—

"My Dear Miss Martin:

"My mind is just one big mess, and all I am doing is worrying over the way my husband does. I am so miserable I don't know what to do.

"Can you help me? I have tried and tried to get used to it, but I see nothing but failure ahead of me. I am always thinking of running away from it all, but my dear baby has kept me from it so far.

"My husband is the cause of my heartache, because wherever he takes me, he looks at all the other girls, and often kids them and flirts with them, and that makes me feel as if I weren't wanted, although I know he does love me, and he insists he doesn't mean anything by the way he does.

"Why, when he walks on the street with me—or even alone—he looks at every girl on the street, and he actually has the nerve to tell me what a nice shape he thinks this or that one has, or how good looking she is, or what bright eyes she has. He has almost stopped his machine to look at them . . . and with me, with my poor little baby, sitting right next to him. Imagine how I felt! It was like somebody had hit me!

"Please, please, Sally, hurry and tell me what to do about this, for I know I won't be able to stand it much longer. I am going to be in the grave before long, if Tommy doesn't stop this. I am so worried and jealous that I don't know what to do.

"Don't tell me to talk to him about it. I have . . . a dozen times. And he just laughs and says, 'You're jealous'—which I admit I am.

"Oh, what can I do? What would you do, if you were in my place? I am nearly frantic. I feel that the end must come soon, if I can't find some way to stop him from acting this way. Please, please help me, before I go mad.

"STELLA."

What'll you do, sister? First off, sit down and take a nice long drink of ice water. And then, if you have the sense that God gave a goose, you'll stop this weeping and agonizing, and admire 'em right along with him!

You can't expect him to put on blinders and put his imagination in pickle, merely because he fell in love with you, and married you. . .nor is he necessarily falling out of love with you because he casts a glance of general, pleased interest on other attractive objects.

The fact that he married you doesn't prove that you have a monopoly on all the admirable qualities in the world, and if he has an alert, intelligent, healthy mind, he will go on admiring beauty and wit and charm, wherever he finds them, all his life—in male or female.

And such admiration is good for both of you. It will keep him young and you hustling. You won't be half so apt to slump down and take things easy, if you know you have a lot of competition.

And by "competition" I don't mean love affairs. I mean competition in the big job of being a delightful, attractive experience to the man you love. It isn't enough to make weeping, desperate efforts to hold a man's love, Stella. You have also to hold his interest. And you'll lose Tom's mighty pronto, if you keep up this wailing and nagging at him . . . if you try to tie his imagination down, instead of ranging with it.

So can the tantrums, kiddo. They won't buy you a thing but misery. Stop thinking that marriage means enjoying life your way, and realize that it means enjoying life his way too. Learn to laugh with him, and admire with him.

Walking beside him like a jailor with a sour visage and a sharp tongue, is the quickest way in the world to lose him.

Love won't last if you try to shut it up in a prison—

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

These Modern Lovers

It is getting so, that an ounce of enthusiasm in a man's love-making is worth a pound of practice.

Sometimes, the dogged persistence which succeeds in winning a woman's love, before marriage, turns into the "pig-headedness" which kills it, after marriage.

Every modern bridegroom should have a little hope chest all his own. He'll need a thimble and thread, a lot of bachelor's buttons, and a few aprons to wear when wiping the dishes.

If you find it hard to wax romantic about the Boy Friend in his new derby hat, just remember that your grandmother loved your grandfather, in spite of a full beard, suspenders and red flannels. Love is like that!

One reason why honeymoons always end, is that the average man can see no more sense in keeping up the role of Romeo, after marriage, than a small boy can see in "being good," after Christmas.

An "old fashioned girl" is one who would rather get her hair rumpled and her face scorched hanging over a gas-range for a young and attractive husband than get her marcel spoiled and her rouge rubbed off trying to gold-dig a middle aged playboy. And, happily, most girls are old-fashioned!

Even when it comes to inanimate things, like a mirror or the bathroom scales, a woman prefers those that soften the truth, and are more flattering than dependable.

When love dies, a woman likes to give it a beautiful burial; but a man always spoils it by bringing the "next woman" to the funeral.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, November 21

A day crowded with enterprise and adventure is presaged by the very active congeries of stellar forces. There is sign of sudden change of radical force and far-reaching effect, calling for change of environment and travel. New plans and agreements are in order, some favorably aspected, but calling for wariness and keen insight.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of large opportunity and thrilling adventure. The energies will be highly stimulated and the tendencies toward fresh and untried fields of endeavor. Elderly persons and institutions may prove helpful and personal popularity should be effective.

A child born on this day should be clever, versatile, energetic, original and personally popular.

Tune in on Station ——— tomorrow — 5:00 to 5:30—for the Tetley Tea-time program.

EACH FRIDAY from five to five-thirty Station KDKA will broadcast soft and friendly music — and a widely traveled adventurer will tell you of the romantic history of tea-drinking. Interesting and restful, is this Tetley radio program. You will like it.

You will like also Tetley Tea — morning, noon, and night. Made from choice leaves from the age-old gardens of India and Ceylon, it brings you a breath of the Orient.

Brew a pot of Tetley Tea in this old English way: Scald a china pot with boiling water. Put in a teaspoonful of tea for each cup — one for the pot. Add boiling water. Steep for five or six minutes. Serve promptly with milk or cream. This recipe will give you a wealth of fragrance and flavor.

Constipated Get REAL HELP from DOCTOR'S Prescription

TRAIN your bowels to be regular; to move at the same time every day; to be so thorough that they get rid of all the waste. Syrup Pepsin—a doctor's prescription—will help you do this. When you take this compound of laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other valuable ingredients, you are helping the bowels to help themselves.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the sensible thing to take whenever you are headachy, bilious, half-sick from constipation. When you have no appetite, and a bad taste or bad breath shows you're full of poison.

Dr. Caldwell studied bowel troubles for 47 years. His prescription always works, quickly, thoroughly; can never do you any harm. It just cleans you out and sweetens the whole digestive tract. It gives those overworked bowels the help they need.

Take some Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin today, and see how fine you feel tomorrow—and for days to come. Give it to the kiddies when they're sickly or feverish; they'll like the taste! Your druggist has big bottles of it, all ready for use.

HOW TO KEEP WELL
By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

DR. COPELAND

The artist possesses a vivid color sense, because the eye is trained to fine distinctions. Workers in dyes and those who engage in such professions as interior decoration and other forms of art, must have a highly developed sense of color.

One who cannot distinguish between different colors is said to be "color-blind." Perhaps most of us are more or less color-blind, certainly when it comes to distinguishing between the many shades of many colors. Most persons can distinguish only a few of the many hues found in the universe. Men particularly are more or less afflicted with color-blindness.

Something which will be of general interest is the recent report from the Technical College of Berlin. It states that Prof. Franz Weidert has invented a glass to be used in spectacles for the color-blind. The glass contains certain chemical elements which aid in detecting colors by those who suffer from lack of the normal color senses.

Certain colors of the spectrum are taken from the light rays passing through this glass. The colors which are absorbed are chiefly those which range in tones from orange to yellow lying between the reds and the greens. The spectacles make it possible to distinguish between colors by increasing materially the contrast between them.

To the color-blind red and green are the two most troublesome colors. Thus a glass such as this would seem to be a valuable contribution to many afflicted persons. With such an aid to motorists afflicted with poor color sense there will be little excuse for them to disobey the red and green signal lights and the flashes of the traffic cop.

Persons who are in posts of responsibility anywhere on land or sea should have frequent tests of the eyes, both for failure of vision and for color-blindness. Many an accident can be averted by this precaution.

LOUGHRAN GIVES LEVINSKY REAL TEST

SINCE THE FIGHT game moved indoors the topliners have been active to such an unusual extent as to give promise of an eventful winter. Mickey Walker, Maxie Rosenbloom, Al Singer, Tony Canzoneri, Young Stribling, Jimmy Slattery, Fidel La Barba, Kid Chocolate and Jack (Kid) Berg are only a few of the champions and near-champions who have been seen in action already. One world title has changed hands within the last week, that in the lightweight division; the featherweight crown will be at stake on the outcome of a bout slated for December 12, and competition in the other classes bids fair to be more than ordinarily brisk through the cold months.

King Levinsky

While not involving any championship honors, two more feature numbers of general interest are on the card for tomorrow night. In Chicago, King Levinsky, the newest heavyweight sensation of that city, will try to continue his advance in a 10-round tilt with Tommy Loughran, and in New York Jimmy McLarnin, the knockout specialist, will tangle with another hard puncher, Billy Petrolle, in a contest scheduled for the same distance.

LEVINSKY, A FISH peddler not long ago, has come to the front rapidly. In 34 fights he has scored 23 knockouts, 11 of them in the first round. His most notable kayo was marked up just a few weeks back, when he stopped the sturdy Leo Lomski. Then, to prove that he had something more than a sock, he took a decision over Jimmy Slattery, though that verdict brought a vigorous protest from the Slattery followers. The Loughran bout will be his real test.

There was a time when Tommy would have been looked upon as a sure winner, but he hasn't looked so good as a heavyweight since Jack Sharkey knocked him out. He didn't impress as of old in his bouts with Ernie Schaaf and it is said that his former ambition is lacking and that is no longer a matter of much concern to him whether he wins or loses. Possibly, those interested in Levinsky figured Loughran had lost something or they might not have let the King take such a chance at this time. Still Tommy has enough left to make him a tough trial horse, at least, and if Levinsky beats him it will be the best evidence of real class the Chicago socker has yet produced.

M'LARNIN, IN THE opinion of many the world's best fighter at or near his poundage, looks to have a clear edge over Petrolle. It is a season of fistic upsets, but as far as the dope may be trusted it favors McLarnin beyond a doubt.

Billy Petrolle

Petrolle is a strong right-hand puncher and is not easily hurt, but McLarnin is faster and quicker and beyond doubt the hardest hitter among the welters. Besides, Jimmy will have a slight weight advantage, and all around shapes up as the probable winner.

ANOTHER OF THE famous old Baltimore Orioles has passed on to join Hughey Hughey Jennings, Willie Keeler, Frank Kitson and others in the beyond. From Cebu, in the Philippine Islands, comes the announcement of the death there of Dr. Arlington Pond, once a pitcher for Ned Hanlon's immortal team that won the National League pennant in 1894, 1895 and 1896 and that is still rated by some veteran baseball men as the greatest club of all time. Pond hurled for the Orioles in only one of their champion years, that of 1896, but remained on the staff team during 1897 and part of 1898.

AS A PITCHER for the famous club of which John McGraw and Wilbert Robinson, present National League managers, were members, Pond had as slab mates such noted pitchers as Joe Corbett, Bill Hoffer, Sadie McMahon, Jerry Nops, Charley Esper, Al Maul, Doc Amole, Jay Hughes, Jimmy McJames, Gus Weyhing, George Hemming, Frank Kitson and others.

Pond followed baseball as a means of completing his medical education. He studied medicine and earned his degree while pitching professional ball. During the Spanish-American War, Arlie enlisted and was sent to the Philippines. After the war he remained to make his home in Cebu, where he accumulated a fortune.

NEXT SPRING FOR the first time a big league baseball club will be found doing a part of its training in Cuba. The Brooklyn Robins will go there from Clearwater, Fla., to play five practice games as part of their preparations for the pennant race.

Rick Ferrell

The success of the Cuban trip made last month by two clubs managed by Jewel Ens and Dave Bancroft led the Brooklyn club officials to book the series. The games are expected to draw unusually well on account of the presence of Adolpho Luque, Cuban, and Alfonso Lopez, Spaniard, on the Robin squad.

IT WILL NOT be the fault of the management of the Cleveland Indians if that club does not present a battery of brothers next year to be added to such similar combinations of the past as Will and Jim White, Mike and John O'Neil, and Milt and Alex Gaston. Efforts are being made to swing a deal with the St. Louis Browns for the services of Rick Ferrell, crack young catcher of that outfit, who is a brother of Wesley Ferrell, star pitcher of the Indians.

IT IS HARD to see how the Browns could afford to let Ferrell go, as he has been the club's regular first-string catcher since the departure of Wally Schang after the 1929 season, but Cleveland is reported to be making a determined effort to get him, nevertheless.

If the Indians get him at all, however, which is doubtful, they'll probably have to fatten up their bid not a little. The rumor is that they have offered to trade First Baseman Lew Fonseca and Outfielder Bib Falk for Ferrell and Pitcher Sam Gray. That proposal is not likely to receive much serious consideration in St. Louis.

THOUGH BENNY FRIEDMAN and Harry Newman, quarterbacks of the past and present at Michigan and the best two forward passers the Western Conference has had, cannot be classified as tall men, a Buffalo's International Hockey League pace-setting Bisons, who have scored twice as many goals as any other team in the circuit and who have not been scored upon in three games this season, will attempt to add to their impressive record at the expense of Roy D. Schooley's Yellow Jackets at Duquesne Garden tonight.

The visitors, who have been playing together longer than any other team in the loop and whose teamwork is almost perfect, may achieve their aim, but they will not make off with the decision without a fight. The local puckmen were handed some severe body bruises as well as 15 penalties in accepting a 7-0 defeat at the hands of these same Bisons at Fort Erie last Saturday night, and they are eager to get revenge. Furthermore, President-Manager Schooley has announced that several of his present Jackets either will show greatly improved form or be "fired" to make room for new and more experienced talent, so the local stalwarts will be battling to save their berths.

M'CURRY MAY PLAY

A new Jacket candidate with a wealth of experience arrived on the scene yesterday in the person of Duke McCurry, who was at left wing when the Yellow Jackets of a few seasons ago were winning amateur titles for Schooley. Duke has been promised a tryout, and he will be signed if he "makes good." He has been working out with the Toronto Maple Leafs for the last few weeks, and appears to be in top form. As a Pirate Duke also played defense, and he may get into the lineup tonight.

Cliff McBride, who shapes up as the locals' best one-man attack, and Art Berlett, 195-pounder, who has shown improvement in each fray, are likely to get the call over Yankoski and Green at the starting defense points. Starting front line changes are indefinite.

POWERFUL DEFENSE

Bogardis, Huard, Roth and Godin, Bison forwards, are running a close race for individual scoring honors, but it is his defense that is Roach's pride and joy. Taugher, his goalie, allowed fewer goals than any net guardian in the league last season, and Lederman and Murray, at the points, are capable aids.

The opening game here attracted a crowd of close to capacity proportions, and another big turnout is expected for this second home battle. The probable lineup:

Pittsburgh.		Buffalo.
Fisher	G.	Taugher
McBride	D.	Lererman
Berlett	D.	Murray
Fields	C.	Huard
Proudlock	W.	Bogardis
Greer	W.	Godin

Spares: Pittsburgh, Yankoski, Green, Red Moore, Halliday, McCurry, LaRoche, Oullette, Buck Moore, Smith, McIntyre. Buffalo: Voss, Cain, Roth, Martin, Johnson, Gross.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: A PRISONER GAINED 40 POUNDS IN THE DEATH HOUSE—The murderer who gained 40 pounds awaiting execution, pending his emperor's confirmation of the sentence, was Mombe, of Epinal, who was convicted of murdering his wife and infant. He was executed in 1869. The bizarre physical effect on him of the Death House was related in a paper read before the Eighth International Congress of Penitentiaries in Paris, 1910, by Dr. Douglas Clayborne. THE IRON PILLAR—The Iron Pillar, which I sketched in the Mosque of Kutbul Islam, Delhi, is one of the most curious antiquities in India. It is a solid shaft of wrought iron, more than 16 inches in diameter and 23 feet 8 inches in length. According to tradition it was Anang Pal, the founder of the Tomar dynasty, who erected the pillar in Delhi after its removal from Bohar in the ancient country of Magadha, Gupta Empire. Its inscriptions date back to 400 A. D. It has been exposed to the elements since that date without rusting, due to the pure content of the iron. Analysis of its material shows that it is 99.72 per cent pure iron.

TECH-W. & J. BOXES SOLD TO NOTABLES

By JESS CARVER.

If the sale of seats for the Carnegie Tech and Wash-Jeff game continues as it has started, there will be none but box seat holders present a week from Saturday afternoon as the Tartans and Presidents battle in their benefit game here in the Stadium.

J. Rodgers Flannery

No less than 62 prominent Pittsburghers have ordered box seats, in batches of from four to 10, already. Graduate Manager Overend, of Tech, has been kept busy doing nothing else than nursing his lumbago and filling orders for this game. Ordinarily just another football game, the charity angle has had its effect, and now it appears as though an exceptionally fine crowd will watch the tussle between the Scotch and the Presbies.

The list of Pittsburghers who have purchased box seats so far is headed by Mayor Charles H. Kline, J. Rodgers Flannery, a leading figure in the city's sport world; Frank J. Lanahan, chairman of the Carnegie Tech Athletic Council; E. V. and R. L. Babcock, M. L. Benedum, A. P. Brill, B. G. Follansbee, A. L. Humphrey, Howard Irish, H. C. McEldowney, John McSorley, John L. Porter, J. C. Trees, E. R. Weidlin, Homer D. Williams and G. E. Peabody.

Trojan Falsifies Name; Is Fired

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—H. C. School officials said Kirkwood admitted his real name was George Spencer Purvis and he played football at the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Wash., two years before entering Southern California as a freshman in 1929.

Alabama Invited To Play on Coast

ATLANTA, Nov. 20.—Coach Wallace Wade of the University of Alabama has announced he had received a semi-official invitation to play Washington State University in the Rose Bowl tournament at Pasadena, provided Alabama defeats Georgia at Birmingham Thanksgiving Day.

If the Crimson Tide beats Georgia and accepts the invitation it will be the second trip to the West Coast in four years for the team under Coach Wade. Wade goes to Duke University next year to begin a long term as coach of the Blue Devils.

WILLOW CLUB BOXERS WIN

A fine card of six bouts marked the amateur boxing show of the Young Men's Hebrew Association last night. The event marked the first appearance of boxers trained under the direction of Phil Goldstein. There were no knockouts, and one bout, between Jack Randa, Willow Club, and Mendel Grossman, Y. M. H. A., went four rounds before the Willow Club boxer was given the verdict. The Willow Club copped five of the six frays. The summary:

118-pound class—Vincent Sarnoe, Willow Club, won from Louis Leon, Y. M. H. A., three rounds, decision; George Cuppaneli, Willow Club, won from Adam Pailey, unattached, three rounds.

Hanley Asks Team For Irish Victory

EVANSTON, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Coach Dick Hanley, of Northwestern University football fame, was 35 years old yesterday. He asked his Wildcats to give him a victory over Notre Dame Saturday for a birthday present.

Until last fall, Coach Hanley's football teams at Haskell and Northwestern annually came through with a victory during their coach's birthday week. Notre Dame, Saturday's rival, ended the string last year by defeating the Wildcats, 26 to 6.

"We'll give Coach Hanley a double birthday party Saturday by beating Notre Dame," one of the Wildcats promised.

BROWNS GET CATCHER

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—(AP.)—The St. Louis Browns, of the American League, have obtained Catcher Russell Young from the Milwaukee Club, of the American Association, it was announced today. In return the Browns have released four players, Catchers Manion and Hungling, Pitcher Holschauser and Outfielder Metzler, to the Milwaukee farm.

Sport Vignettes

Comes a sour note from a reader who wants to know how Pitt can consider its football season a success when it has lost two games and tied one. . . . Well, any time a team plays nine games, seven of which are major contests, and it is necessary to keep the players up there at their very peak almost continually you can supply your own answer . . . . The Pitt team was "dead" on its feet against Ohio State last Saturday, a natural condition following a siege of four successive tough games against Syracuse, Notre Dame, Nebraska and Carnegie Tech . . . . The only other defeat was by Notre Dame, and you haven't noticed any other team taking that Irish outfit, have you? . . . . The scoreless tie at Nebraska really was a moral victory.

The only soft spots in the Pitt schedule were the opening game, with Waynesburg, and the third game, with Western Reserve, West Virginia being played in between. Penn State winds up the card on Thanksgiving Day. . . . In the eight games played so far, the Panthers have been scored on in only three. . . . Back in the old days, when Pop Warner was in his heyday at Pitt, not more than five hard games dotted the schedule.

If you ask us, brother, the Pitt season has been a howling success. . . . Few teams the length and breadth of the land have been undefeated, and in any walk of life a bozo who can turn in five wins and a tie and take it on the chin only twice in eight starts is considered, if not a champion, a high-powered serious contender for any laurels that may be lying around loose.

The Boxing Commission finally comes to life with a belated half-hearted, salving apology for its orgy of bad decisions, after which, perhaps, it will not be asking too much to expect it to eventually get around to the point of doing something really constructive to correct the situation other than to admit that these decisions are the best its staff can make and must be accepted and tolerated as such. . . . If its officials say they "think" Jim Whoozis won, when, as a matter of fact, he had the life lambasted out of him, that is to be considered not only official, but final, and any reporters who disagree with them are guilty of lese majesty and should have their heads chopped off, the commission, in effect, says. . . . This writer is one who does not straddle the issue and thinks it is about time the commission and its collection of hit-or-miss officials did the same thing.

The next time you feel like jokingly asking the score of St. Olaf College, bear in mind the fact that the Northfield (Minn.) college has been undefeated and untied in eight games this year and last year won six out of seven starts and has run up some terrific scores and also has held the Minnesota State Conference basketball and baseball titles for the last two years . . . B. E. Bergeson, Jr., is the authority for this information, and he adds that MacAlester College is so spelled and not McAlester, as it often appears in print . . . Last Saturday, by the way, St. Olaf defeated Augsberg, 58-0.

Knute Rockne picks his all-Western Conference football team for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph in the issue of November 28 . . . The all-Pacific Coast team to be selected by Pop Warner appears December 1; the all-Southern team of Coach Bill Alexander, of Georgia Tech.

HOYLES READY FOR ELKS

By JULIUS LEVIN.

The W. U. Hoyles, of the North Side, runners-up in the light first-class division of the A. A. U. tournament, will open their season tomorrow night when they oppose the crack Tarentum Elks on the Perry High School floor.

The Hoyles, strengthened by the addition of several prominent players from the North Side district, hope to make this season one of the best in the history of the club. They have been practicing for more than five weeks and will send a smooth-working machine on the floor against the Elks.

Floor Notes

The Y. M. H. A. will meet an old basketball rival on the Y. M. H. A. floor tonight when it engages the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. passers. The reserve teams of the two institutions meet in the preliminary game at 8 o'clock.

John Gailys, manager of the Red McMahans, who will play preliminary to the South Side Falcons in the West Penn League, is ready to book games for his club at home and abroad. Call Hemlock 9130.

The Allegheny Silents will use the floor of the Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf at Edgewood as their home court this season. Teams desiring games at home and abroad write Roy Ludovio, 442 Pearl street.

The P. N. A. Five, of the South Side, is open for a game at home tomorrow night. Call Hemlock 9005 and ask for Al.

The Favorite Knits of Cleveland are planning an invasion of the Pittsburgh district this winter. Teams interested in booking this attraction write Edward Harris, Favorite Knitting Mills, 1388 West Sixth street, Cleveland.

The Allegheny County League members will play on a percentage basis this season, the home club taking 75 per cent of the receipts. Heretofore the visiting club did not receive any money.

The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad quintet, champion of the C. & I. League last winter, are booking games at home and abroad. Call Court 3201, line 265, and ask for Cleminson.

The Central Post Office will have a strong team on the floor this winter and will include in its lineup Spotty Morrow, Dave Wilder, Izzy Mandell, La Casio, Fiandro, Aiello, Beckert, Parisky, Clark and Sleasinger. Teams seeking games call Court 4930 and ask for Morrow in the dispatching department.

SCHOOL TEAMS POLISH OFF FOR TITLE FRAY

WESTINGHOUSE PRIMED FOR SOUTH HILLS

Westinghouse and South Hills High School football eleven will wind up preparations this afternoon for their City League championship, scheduled for the Pitt Stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Westinghouse's prepping for the game has been light, as the powerful Silver Lakers are in fine trim physically, and have merely polished up their offense this week. The Westinghouse team rules an almost prohibitive favorite to take South Hills tomorrow.

The Hillmen, however, have been working overtime this week in an effort to get in shape for the battle. Coach Mazeski was sadly disappointed with the showing of his team in the final contest of the regular season last week, when Carrick held it to a scoreless tie and came close to winning.

MUST REPLACE FIRRELL

The big task that has confronted the Tunnelite coach has been to find a halfback to replace the injured Jim Firrell, who was rendered hors de combat for the remainder of the year in the game with Oliver three weeks ago.

Field, who goes well on the attack, but who is lacking in defensive ability was used against Carrick. His play was not up to snuff, and Coach Mazeski has been working with Regan, Augustino, an end, and Bryant this week. Regan appears to be the best bet, and may start tomorrow.

BURTON SET

Otherwise, the lineups will be the same as started for the respective elevens in their last games. Coach Burton, of Westinghouse, will use Mayberry and Bigler at the ends; Manella and C. Sullivan at the tackles; J. Sullivan and Hayes at the guards and Deremer at center.

JACKETS PLAY BUFFALO

into defensive formation and repulsed a series of desperate Pittsburgh charges. The belated attempt of the visitors to score brought on the wildest milling of the night. At one time in this crazy-quilt third period the puck was picked up for a face-off directly in front and a stick length out from the mouth of the mesh.

The Stars jammed in on Fields' attempt to flip it into the net and another face-off was called out to one side in less dangerous proximity.

LOCALS SHOW FIGHT

The Jackets came out for the third period in rapid fire fashion and quickly pressed the homesters back of center ice. As the steam of this furious sortie eased off, the Stars suddenly leaped in on the attack and started a flashing offensive. Brown darted in from the side and went whipping down the center with nary a Pittsburgher but the goalie to halt him. When he reached the net he shot so quickly Fisher was unable to protect himself. Holmes scored Syracuse's first goal.

Whitey Fields and Scotty McLeod were the leaders of the Jackets. Fields played a cool and steady game at center and scored his team's goal in the second period.

Late in the third period McLeod was heavily body checked and went down with a thud. He was unable to rise for a minute or so and then he hobbled off the ice with what appeared to be a knee injury. The lineup:

Gray	G	Fisher
Hoffinger	R.D.	McBride
Paddin	L.D.	Berlett
Holmes	C.	Fields
Markle	R.W.	Gregg
Lauger	L.W.	Proudfoot

Referees—Meeking, Smith.

Berlett, 195-pounder, who has shown great improvement, and McBride, who shapes up as the locals' best one-man attack, are to supplant Green and Yankoski as defensemen in the starting lineup when the Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets hockey team meets the Buffalo Bisons at Duquesne Garden tonight. The previous starters, with Moore lending a hand, will play relief roles.

OWLS NEXT FOE

While they are selling bushels of seats for the charity game, the football team is being whipped into shape for the game this week in Philly with Temple University's once defeated Owls.

Temple has dropped one game this year, losing by a single point to Villanova, and has won over Wash.-Jeff, Thiel, St. Thomas, Wake Forest, Miami and Lafayette.

The main cog in the Owl machine is its brilliant triple-threat star, Swede Hansen. Hansen kicks, passes and runs. His main forte is running the ball, and he is said to be a honey on skipping off the tackles. He's credited with being a fine defensive player. He'll have to be Saturday.

The Skibo squad will entrain for Philadelphia tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, arriving in the Quaker City about eight hours later. The game is to be played at Franklin Field, and is the first of two benefit tussles to be played there, the second being booked for next week between Villanova and the champions of the West Coast, Washington State.

Duquesne's outlook for the game with West Virginia Wesleyan and Cliff Battles here Saturday has brightened no little. The chances are that big Kass Kovalcheck, the powerful line plunging fullback, will be back and ready for action. With Kass in there, the Duke attack becomes vastly more potent.

Kovalcheck and Battles should present a rousing duel for the faithful who attend Saturday's ball game. Kovalcheck isn't the open field runner Battles is, but he is every bit the equal of the Bobcat star as a line bucker. With Battles snorting and tearing around the ends and through the tackles, and Kovalcheck battering the center of the line, the game will not lack for thrills, no matter which way its fortunes may swing.

The Tipoff

Geneva's forward passing attack is in its most serious opposition as the Covenanters face Allegheny at Beaver Falls Saturday. The Gaitors have shown themselves to be very formidable when it comes to breaking up aerial attacks this fall. Bob Gerhard, Nick Verano, Bill Anderson and Walt Berger are smart dudes when it comes to playing that secondary defense.

Beside, Geneva is going to see possibly the best kicker in the section in this fellow Anderson. He boots 'em as they should be booted. Anderson isn't much of a ball carrier, and is just a fair blocking back, but he is worth using in any backfield because of his powerful punting.

Westminster needs to beat Bethany and beat Bethany bad to make up for some of the setbacks that dot this year's Titan record. The United Presbyterians can't get very close to the Tri-State Conference title, even if they do beat the Bisons, but if they can hammer out a more decisive triumph than Thiel did, they'll have something to talk about around Andy McDonald's stove this winter. This game will be played at Bethany.

You don't hear much of Gallaudet hereabouts, but the Washington deaf mutes always have a tough ball club and are certain to give St. Francis a very serious argument Saturday afternoon. St. Francis isn't so very tough, not as tough as the boys figured to be earlier in the season. Davis-Elkins softened 'em up and they were deeply disappointed over the Armistice Day defeat by St. Vincent's.

West Virginia is in a tough spot. The Mountaineers have to meet Washington Saturday and then get ready to go to Chicago for the Shriners' benefit game with Oregon State Thanksgiving Day. Either game would be tough enough, and now that the Presidents have shown such defensive strength in holding Bucknell, the battle Saturday takes on a much more serious aspect.

The Mountaineers have a fine pair of ends in Gene Joseph and Joe Sortet, but good as these chaps are, they are going to have a lot of trouble in stopping Wash-Jeff's halfback pair, Armstrong and Rush, especially if the latter is in shape. Stewie Wilson figures to kick on an equal basis with Eddie Bartung, the lanky Mountaineer ace. The game may develope into a kicking duel, and will be worth while watching if it does.

Waynesburg doesn't figure to have much of a chance against Davis-Elkins and St. Vincent's will have to open up to beat St. Bonaventure. Bonny is always tough to beat, and holds an edge in its series with the Saints.

W. VA. DEFENSE UNIMPRESSIVE

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Coach Ira Rodgers and Little Sleepy Glenn, an assistant, took places in the B backfield yesterday to put on W. & J. plays for the varsity. Glenn was labelled "Wilson," Wash-Jeff fullback, and he threw all passes left handed like the real Wilson.

The varsity appeared unimpressive in its defensive work, and Rodgers again left the field seeing little hope for victory against the Presidents Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Washington and Jefferson's gridders are displaying a wholesome spirit as rehearsals progress in preparation for the West Virginia game. There is no scrimmage on the program for the practice sessions, but Coach Bill Amos is working on new formations and seeking to perfect his squad's passing game. Several regulars came out of the Bucknell game with bruises, but they are expected to be ready for work against the Mountaineers.

Cotton Tierney To Manage Blues

Pittsburgh friends of James A. (Cotton) Tierney, former Pirate second baseman, who managed the Joplin Club of the Western Association this year, will be delighted to learn that Cotton has just been appointed assistant manager of the Kansas City Blues of the American Association.

Tierney's Joplin Club won the first half of the flag race in the Western Association, but his team was defeated in the playoff with Independence. Tierney's home is in Kansas City.

KISKI BEATS ARMY PLEBES

Brown, for the Army ran 65 yards for a touchdown. Brinkley went over the Plebe goal line for Kirki's touchdown. The Plebes missed their try for extra points, but Spezick ran around the Army end for the extra point for his team.

Long's Sport Comment

Middle West observer finds that in selecting passers football coaches prefer gridders above average height. Tall men have an advantage in looking over the spreading defense. They can more readily pick the proper spot for a forward fling.

A small man, with defense players rushing at him, it is pointed out, often finds the view ahead totally obscured. He cannot look over the big forwards who are closing in on him, and frequently he is unable to get the ball away and goes down for a loss of from seven to 10 yards.

Laverne Fator

IN THESE DAYS when great jockeys are scarce, it's hard to imagine such a star as Laverne Fator looking for a job. That's what he's doing, however, because he wants a position of a particular kind, a kind that he has desired for a long time. He wants to ride only for a non-betting stable. After 12 years, Fator has severed his connections with Harry F. Sinclair's Rancocas Stables, and though within a few hours four jobs for next season were offered to him he turned them all down because none was of the kind he desires. He says that salary is no object to him now; that what he wants is peace of mind; that he is weary of straining his body and brain and nerves to win on heavily-backed horses, and tired of being criticized for honest mistakes made because of his eagerness to win a race. So a job with a non-betting stable is the kind that he seeks and the only kind that he will accept. For five straight years prior to 1930, Fator led the winning jockeys on New York tracks, and for five years before that period he was a contender for top honors with Earl Sande and Linus McAtee.

BIG SANDLOT TILTS SUNDAY

GAMES SUNDAY.

Chicago All-Stars vs. Magnolias (Bridgeville Speedway).

Burns A. A. at West View.

By TOM BIRKS.

Sandlot fans are getting warmed up to the possibilities of three big out-of-town aggregations showing their stuff here Sunday. From the Rubber Town of Akron comes the famous Awnings to do their stuff for the second time this season against the Olympics, and despite the fact both managers are proclaiming many injuries, fans feel a battle will ensue at Rainbow Gardens.

At the Bridgeville Speedway folks will see the famous Negro all-star team of Chicago, headed by Fritz Pollard, probably the greatest Negro football star in college ranks. His alma mater is Brown.

At West View, Burns will be on display in a keen conference game. Burns is in the race because anything might happen to the Majestic and Olympic teams when they meet. West View is having its troubles with crippled players.

The East Pittsburgh conference team is looking for a game abroad Sunday. Call Tommy Connelly, Valley 9809. The Pleasant Valley Smilers are also looking for a game abroad on Sunday. Call Johnny Dunsky, Everglade 0726.

Basketball Next For St. Vincent's

LATROBE, Pa., Nov. 20.—With practically all of his last year's varsity lettermen back again, Coach Clem Crowe expects to develop one of the strongest quintets in history at St. Vincent's College this winter. Following the close of the football season Saturday, a call will be issued for basketball next week.

St. Bonaventure, Thiel, Kiski and Canisius are among the stronger schools on the Bearcats schedule this winter. The complete card of 18 games follows:

December 15, Indiana, away; December 16, California, away; January 12, Felder Club, at Jeannette; January 17, Thiel, at home; January 20, California, at home; January 23, Slippery Rock, at home; January 31, Canisius, at home; February 3, Kiski, at home; February 6, Youngstown, away; February 7, Canisius, away; February 8, St. Bonaventure, away; February 9, Slippery Rock, away; February 14, Youngstown, at home; February 22, St. Francis, away; February 26, St. Francis, at home; February 28, Kiski, away; March 3, Thiel, away; March 4, Butler Paulists, at home.

LAYDEN RADIO SPEAKER

Elmer Layden, Duquesne University football coach, said that he would rather be a player than a coach in a radio talk on behalf of the Welfare Fund drive, broadcast by station WCAE last night. Layden said that coaching is all work, and playing is all fun. John P. Egan, dean of the Duquesne law school and football official, also spoke.

Eddie Gordon, of Los Angeles, was a visitor in town yesterday with Young Harry Wills, similar Negro welterweight of the coast, and Battling Balthus and Sergio Siakus, Filipinos, whom he is taking to New York to racquelize. He is anxious to return here with the trio for bouts.

Matty Matto, New York welterweight who showed to such good advantage against Jimmy Desmond here last season, is due back in Pittsburgh again shortly. He has been on the suspended list ever since his only bout here.

Joe (Kid) Duffy, of the Phillips A. C., will box Young Pete, of the Hogan A. C., and Johnny Abegner, of the Hogan A. C., will meet Billy Wilson, of the Homewood A. C., in two of the amateur bouts at Washington Hall, North Side, next Tuesday night.

The opening amateur boxing show of the Capt. F. P. Shiver Post No. 21, Veterans of Foreign Wars, originally scheduled for tonight, will be held next Tuesday night instead.

Pete Abate reports that matchmakers are having a tough time getting opponents for Allen Beatty, Negro welterweight of McKeesport, who is willing to box anybody in the division. Abate also has under his wing Chet Johnson, Olean (N. Y.) heavyweight, who has beaten Stanley Simonds and Bumbo Meyers, among others.

Seven amateur bouts make up the smoker card listed at St. Boniface Lyceum, North Side, tonight. Sandy Seifert and Frank Novak will box a special exhibition.

OLYMPIC BODY IN HARMONY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—On the scene of the "Battle of Washington" of four years ago between the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the two organizations buried their differences yesterday and unanimously elected Avery Brundage, head of the A. A. U., to the presidency of the American Olympic Association.

In an atmosphere of harmony and concerted effort that augured well for the success of the United States in the 1932 Olympic games, the A. O. A., in quadrennial session, laid all the groundwork for America's participation at Los Angeles and Lake Placid.

A new constitution framed with the co-operation of the presidents of the A. A. U. and the N. C. A. A. was adopted without a dissenting voice.

Unanimity was the keynote of the occasion, in striking contrast to the last meeting of the association, here in 1926, when the leaders of the N. C. A. A. resigned and walked out of the meeting after a losing battle with the A. A. U.

Cochran Holds Big Lead Over Hoppe

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—Continuing his great play to win the sixth block in succession, 300 to 75, last night, Welker Cochran, of Hollywood, Cal., took a lead of 1,800 to 884 over Willie Hoppe at the half-way mark in their 12 block match for the world 18.1 balk line billiards championship.

Cochran won the afternoon block, 300 to 239, ending it with an unfinished run of 33. Last night he carried the cluster to 84 before he missed. The block went only eight innings as Cochran made a high run of 100 and wound up with an unfinished run of 75. Hoppe never could get started and had a high run of 19.

TAD JONES ON AIR

Tad Jones, member of the All-America Board of Football, will make his farewell radio bow in the East on the Wrigley Columbia Hour at 10:30 p. m. tomorrow. He will be interviewed by Christy Walsh, also a member of the All-America Board. Next week Jones will leave for Los Angeles to help select the All-America team with Coaches Rockne, Warner and Alexander.

Fight Results

At New York—Mauro Del Reyes defeated Tommy Barredo, 6 rounds; Luis Marcello knocked out Frankie Constable, 4 rounds; Sammy Chernoff defeated Sammy White, 8 rounds.

MY FIFTY YEARS IN BASEBALL

By CONNIE MACK,
Manager, World Champion Philadelphia Athletics

INSTALLMENT NO. 64

As we approach the thirtieth year of the existence of the American League, I can look back to its early days, when it struggled desperately for existence.

Many decried it as a most visionary scheme that would meet the same fate that the Brotherhood had 20 years earlier. These skeptics forgot that business brains were in back of the American League and that the country had grown.

Connie Mack.

The American League grew into a lusty adult, and, since its birth, an unending parade of ball players has marched before the eyes of baseball followers and then passed out of view.

Some of the most illuminating figures that have flickered on the diamond in baseball history have fought under American League colors.

Outstanding players on the Athletics team in the early days were Lajoie, Waddell, Plank, Topsy Hartsel, Harry Davis, Lave and Monte Cross, Osee Schreck and Chief Bender.

Bender, a full-blooded Chippewa, was the first Indian to become a star over a long term of years. Sockalexis, who preceded him, did not last long.

PARADE OF STARS

Early comers on the Cleveland team were Flick, Bradley, Joss, Clark, Turner, Stovall and Bay. Some Red Sox pioneers were Cy Young, Bill Dinneen, Lew Criger, Chic Stahl, Hobe Ferris, Freddie Parent and Buck Freeman.

The White Sox blossomed forth early with a mighty array of players in Nick Altrock, Ed Walsh, Doc White, Billy Sullivan, Jimmy Callahan, Fielder Jones and Isbell. And don't forget that Nick Altrock, the inimitable comedian, was one of baseball's greatest pitchers.

Some of the early Detroit stars were Sam Crawford, Bill Donovan, Herman Schaefer, Bill Coughlin, Schmidt and Davy Jones.

The Yanks, known as the Highlanders in their early American League ventures, had such topnotch players as Willie Keeler, Chesbro, Williams, Elberfeld and Conray.

Washington in the budding days had Ed Delehanty, Patton, Lee, Orth, Kittredge and Jake Stahl.

Since those early days a constant stream of new faces has flowed before the public.

THE NEWER CROP

In later years, the Athletics acquired Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, Stuffy McInnis, J. Franklin Baker, Jack Coombs and Wally Schang u, to the present-day players, whom it is not necessary to name.

Ruth, Lazzeri, Gehrig, Dugan, Meusel, Combs, Hoyt, Pennock and Pipgras came in recent years to make the Yanks stand out.

Washington rejoiced in the acquisition of Walter Johnson, who followed a notable career as pitcher by becoming the successful manager of the Senators; Milan, Hughes, Foster and more recently Goslin, Stan Harris, Judge, Bluege, Rice, Ruel, Peckinpaugh, Cronin, Manush, Marberry, Jones, Hadley and Crowder.

The heyday of the Red Sox's career came when they had the matchless Speaker, Lewis and Hooper as their outfield, a garden trio that for batting, fielding and throwing I do not think ever was equaled in baseball.

At the same time, they had Heine Wagner, Bill Carrigan, Larry Gardner, Joe Wood and Ray Collins and still later on such notables as MacFayden, Morris, Russell, Rothrock, Regan, Webb and Berry.

COBB HEADS TIGERS

The White Sox pioneers were succeeded through the years by Schalk, Faber, Eddie Collins, Lyons, Thomas, Falk, Kamm, Reynolds, Cissell, Watwood and McKain.

A galaxy of stars always represented Detroit. The greatest of all Tigers, of course, was Tyrus Raymond Cobb, who for two decades was the outstanding figure on the team and one of the greatest players baseball has known.

Bush, Moriarty, Veach and Dauss followed up until recent years, when Blue, Heilmann, Gehringer, McManus, Johnson and Whitehill came to captivate Detroit followers.

The wings of time also brought new faces to Cleveland and the earlier players were replaced by Coveleskie, Chapman, Speaker, Burns, Wambsganss, the Sewell brothers and Jamieson, up to such present-day luminaries as Ferrell, Fonseca, Morgan, Averill, Hudlin and Uhle.

A moving film of players passed before the review of St. Louis fans, Sisler, Burt Shotton, Pelty, Hamilton, Austin, Pratt amid now, today, Kress, Melillo, Schaulte, Gray, Stewart, Blaeholder and Ferrell.

THEY COME AND GO

The list is never-ending. Players come and go like the snows of winter.

In my years in the major leagues, I could not attempt to count the number of players I have seen bud from wistful bush leaguers into stardom, and, after eight to 15 years before the public, finally vanish to be heard of no more.

STOCK PRICES GAIN HIGHER LEVELS

Push Through to Fresh Tops for Recovery as Sales Show Increase

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(AP.)—The stock market took on a tinge of bullishness today, as prices pushed through to new high ground for the recovery which began 10 days ago.

Few gains exceeded a point or two, but the volume of trading increased moderately. Trading appeared to be largely professional, and operations for the advance appeared in the motion picture, merchandise and motor groups.

The day's news included General Motors' October sales report, showing sales to domestic consumers of only about half those of the like month a year ago.

COPPER PRICES

One first hand copper dealer was said to have offered the metal as low as 10½ cents a pound, while large producers still held to their price of 12 cents. Advices from Amsterdam contradicted recent Wall street rumors that a move was under way to restrict production of the Dutch East Indies.

The wheat market maintained its improved tone, and Chairman Legge, of the Farm Board, expressed the opinion that the wheat situation was working out satisfactorily.

Corporate news included special dividends of $6 and extras of $1.50 on both classes of stocks of the Alabama Great Southern Railroad.

STOCK DIVIDEND

Grand-Silver Stores announced a stock dividend of 1 per cent. Standard Oil of Kentucky announced an extra dividend of 20 cents, and Atlantic Coast Line ordered the regular semi-annual extra of $1.50. Underwood-Elliott reported October exports 50 per cent above September. Murray Corporation reported current operations at full time, 30 per cent over October.

Cigaret production for October showed a decline of more than 2 per cent. Preliminary census figures indicated that cotton spinning was at about 77 per cent of capacity during October.

Credit remained abundant. Call money was available in the outside market at 1 per cent, and time loan rates were shaded a little.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Higher bidding here on the part of Farm Board allies helped to a material extent to strengthen wheat values early today. Bids from government-sponsored agencies were lifted ½c a bushel, as compared with quotations at which future deliveries of wheat here have recently been taken under the auspices of the Farm Board. Opening ½c off to ⅝@⅞c up, Chicago wheat futures later showed some advance all around. Corn started at ½@⅞c gain, and subsequently rose further.

Finance World Now Becoming Less Nervous

—By B. C. FORBES—

IT WILL INTEREST the business world to know that Wall Street is losing a little of its nervousness. After advancing five consecutive days last week, it was entirely natural—perhaps even desirable—that it should recede at the opening of this week. Monday's selling, which caused a fairly sharp setback, carried over until into the first part of Tuesday. After a spell of intense illness, the upward movement was resumed.

Mr. Forbes.

The market's action yesterday was unusually ratifying. There was an utter absence of excitement. It was significant that the trend was upward when trading reached low ebb.

Whatever the future may hold in store, the market lately has given indications that, when left to itself, it creeps upwards. This is a different condition from that formerly ruling. It suggests that liquidation has been most thoroughly completed and that nothing but a terrifically vicious bear attack, forcing quotations lower than ever, would force new public selling.

The writer still believes the stock market will lead business recovery rather than vice versa. Let us hope that Wall Street will treat the country to pre-Christmas cheer.

"The Southern California Edison Company has added substantially 1,000 horsepower of new business every day this year."

That's like a breath of spring. When I asked Miller to give me unvarnished facts of conditions in the 10 counties in Southern and South Central California covered by his company's operations, he replied:

"We find that while the manufacturing load is off about 18 per cent, almost every other load has increased. Real estate, for the time being, is down. The oil industry, one of our greatest, is having its problems, but it solving them in an orderly manner—they are mainly those of over-production. Orange, lemon and grapefruit growers, lettuce, melons, walnuts, lima beans and other products of the soil are having one of the best years ever known. The great grape industry, thanks to co-operative marketing, has proven an asset this year.

"Notwithstanding that within the last year we have made voluntary rate reductions amounting to more than $1,500,000, and have paid $285,000 more in taxes than we did in 1929, we shall do approximately as well with the common stock this year as last, despite the fact there is approximately $7,000,000 more outstanding than last year which in accordance with our policy was issued through rights to stockholders last spring."

ADVERTISING OF THE right kind can do the trick even in these sluggish times. Stanley Resor, scholarly head of the J. Walter Thompson Company, is legitimately proud of the fact that of their clients manufacturing or distributing food products, 85 per cent are ahead of last year, that in the baking field all their clients are ahead, that the same record has been achieved by clients in the drug line and that "of all our clients whose sales positions are reasonably dependent upon advertising," three out of every four are ahead even of last year without extraordinary appropriations.

Yet some shortsighted concerns are reducing advertising and other sales efforts at the very time they are most needed. Then they wonder why things are going poorly with them!

WILLIAM H. RANKIN, advertising agency head, reports that billings are running in the largest volume in 10 years. He explains:

"It is because we have worked hard to make this so."

DALLAS, AMONG THE most up-and-doing cities in Texas, solved unemployment by putting several thousand men to work on a $20,000,000 Trinity River reclamation project, which is reclaiming 10,500 acres of land for industrial, boulevard and playground purposes. Dallas needs the additional industrial sites because of its rapidly increasing importance as a key distribution point to the Southwest, where economic history is quietly being made.

GREAT DAYS these for capitalizing brains!

Rubber Curtailment Rumors Are Denied

DAILY TRUE STORY

Weather-Vane Mind?

"Oh, dear," murmured Edith Horton.

She snapped off the vacuum cleaner current and went to answer the insistant ringing of the telephone bell.

"Yes?" she said. She was late with her housework and disliked being interrupted. It would take her all day, without interruptions.

"Tom there—Mr. Horton there?"

It was the voice of Bert Young. Edith Horton scowled, but managed an unruffled tone.

"Oh, no, Mr. Young."

"What time do you expect him home, Mrs. Horton?"

"Why, I—I couldn't say."

"It's a half holiday, you know, Mrs. Horton, so Tom will likely be home for luncheon."

"I suppose so."

"Well, then, will you tell him I'll call around for him at two?"

"I'm afraid he is going to be busy, Mr. Young."

She meant that she intended to keep him busy. There were screen windows and doors to be taken down.

Bert Young laughed at this.

"Don't you worry, he won't be too busy to go up to the White Birches with me. We've got a foursome to play and some of the crowd is coming up later—just tell him I'll drop around about two to take him up to the 'Birches.' Tom Horton is never too busy to run up there with the boys, you know that."

Edith Plans

She went back to the vacuum again, but she was thinking and planning.

Tom Horton was the best of husbands — Edith was sure of that. At the same time, he was popular and enjoyed being out with his friends. If he went up to the White Birches with that Bert Young for some golf, she knew what would happen. Bert Young had told her some of the boys were coming up later. That would mean a session of poker. Then it would be too late for Tom to get back for dinner, so he would telephone some nice excuse. This done, he would have dinner and more cocktails than would be good for him—and more poker.

She glanced at the clock, put away the vacuum cleaner, hurried up and put on an attractive dress. She fixed her hair and fussed around with cosmetics at her vanity table.

When she came down she was an entirely different appearing young woman from the dust-capped, aproned, tired looking Edith of a short time before.

Tom Pleased

The hasty luncheon she intended to heat up was set back in the ice box. She prepared some potatoes for lyonnaise, she prepared tender lamb chops and a crisp bit of salad.

When Tom Horton drove in and entered, whistling, he smiled in appreciation.

He did, full justices to the luncheon.

"I am in two minds, Tom—I really ought to have you drive me downtown to pick out a new hat—just an inexpensive one—but there's so much work to do here and all the screens to come down and be stored away—you'll have to get out the ladder and do that—so I really hadn't ought to waste time getting a hat when there's enough to keep both of us busy until dark."

"Yeah? Now listen, Edith—you need a new hat. Those screens will keep. Why slave so hard all day? I'll run you down town and see that you get the nice new lid."

She hurried. It was five minutes of two when they drove out. Edith glanced about furtively. She hoped they wouldn't run into Bert Young.

They didn't.

This pleased Tom Horton, at first.

She tried on hats.

She tried to decide between an orange and a tan.

Edith explained she would decide later. They went out and to another hat shop.

It was the same in three more hat shops.

Tom Horton wandered to the door for a breath of air. Right next door was a men's hat shop.

Tom had an idea. He stepped into this shop.

"Give me," he said, "a light gray hat, size 7¼."

He put it on, nodded, had his other hat put in a black paper bag, paid for the new hat and wore it back into the shop where his wife was trying on still another hat. She hadn't missed him.

"How do you like—". She paused and stared at her husband's new hat.

"Why, Tom, where did you get that?"

"Bought it—stepped into a store, told the man what I wanted, put the hat on, paid him and came back. It took me exactly one minute and ten seconds."

"Sorry, I can't find what I want." Edith said. She went out with her husband.

"Well, there are other shops, let's do them all. We can go to the automat for dinner and shop for your hat until they close at midnight."

"Don't be sarrastic, dear. And come to think of it, I don't need a hat. I'd forgotten my snuff-brown one I got last week."

Destroys Note

"For love of Pete!" Tom goaned.

At home Edith ran into the house while Tom put up the car. She hurried through to the front door and found what she expected, a note slipped under the door. She tucked the note into her glove until she could get a chance to read it.

When she could read it, she smiled. It was:

"Step in the old bus and step on it—old bunch up at the club tonight—nineteenth hole well stocked and seven of us for an all-night session with Mister Jack Pot.—Bert."

Edith smiled and destroyed the note.

They had a splendid dinner, with the Ashfords over. Edith could shake up a satisfactory cocktail and play keen bridge.

During the game Tom related the story of his wife's shopping and how he bought a hat in a minute and ten seconds.

"Edith is a dear," he said, "even if she does have a weather-vane mind when it comes to selecting a hat."

Ashford thought it was amusing.

Mrs. Ashford fairly howled with laughter, but then she was in the "know." Edith Horton had told her just how it happened that Tom was safely at home having a splendid evening, instead of being up with the "gang."

Unwarranted Timidity

Informal remarks by business men at a committee meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday confirmed what every person who has given any thought to the matter must have already realized—that the number of unemployed workers in the city is relatively small. Taken by themselves, they may seem like an army; but when compared with the entire number of wage earners they shrink into unimpressiveness.

The fact is, of course, that an overwhelming majority of the workers not only are still on the payroll, but have every assurance that they will continue to draw their usual wages.

There is good reason to believe that whatever industrial depression does exist is in large part due to the unreasoning and unwarranted timidity of these steadily employed persons who have no cause for apprehension.

The loss of purchasing power by the unemployed accounts for only a comparatively small part of the recession in mercantile business. It is the "buyers' strike" of the employed that is mainly responsible. For some queer psychological reason people who are well able to make their usual purchases have changed their manner of living and are dispensing with many of the useful and pleasant things that they formerly enjoyed.

Instead of maintaining their customary standard of living, multitudes are practicing an entirely uncalled for self-denial, and depositing in the banks the money they save by their privation. Savings deposits have reached an unprecedented figure.

Let every wage-earner who is still on the payroll resume his normal expenditures, and there will be a marked improvement in business.

Railroads' Selfish Plea

Argument Against New Line, If Carried to Logical Conclusion, Would Block Progress.

With the completion of the plea of L. F. Loree for permission to build a $177,000,000 railroad which will achieve economies unmatched by any existing line, the Interstate Commerce Commission is faced with an interesting problem—a problem which bears a striking resemblance to cases before the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission.

In substance the problem is this:

Loree, who has an outstanding reputation as a railroad executive, wants to build a line from Etna to Easton, Pa., which will bring the Pittsburgh district 75 miles closer to New York and which will operate at lower costs than any existing line because of lighter grades and the application of modern engineering principles. The Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio and other competing roads object to the new line because it may take business away from them. They state that they have been providing service through this territory for many years and that their position ought to be protected.

The argument is much like that of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, which says that buses ought not to be allowed to operate at less than a 25-cent fare because they might take passengers away from the street cars.

It is remarkably like the claims of the Parmelee Company, which objects to someone else being allowed to try to give this city better cab service.

The answer to the problem was given in a few words by H. T. Newcomb, attorney for the proposed New York, Pittsburgh and Chicago Railroad, who told the commission:

"If there had been a public authority in the field of illumination exercising power like that now exercised by this commission in the transportation field when Thomas A. Edison first devised the incandescent lamp, undoubtedly the manufacturers of petroleum products would have appeared as protestants. And if such an authority had adopted the theory urged by the protestants, it would have declared that Mr. Edison must not be allowed to manufacture and sell his great improvement over the kerosene lamp, but that that privilege must be reserved for John D. Rockefeller, who had already occupied the illumination field."

Good Work

Bureau of Mines Has Been Doing Many Things to Make Life Safer and Pleasanter.

The annual report of the Bureau of Mines, issued today, is of more than ordinary interest to Pittsburgh because so many of its activities are carried on from its Forbes street laboratories. We are familiar with the part the bureau plays in mine rescue and accident prevention work, but it is engaged in many other activities with which the public is less familiar but which are also worth the public's attention.

A remarkable feature of the bureau's work is that it has to do with situations that are often in the news in a spectacular way.

Fresh in mind is the sensational dash of the bureau's rescue car to the scene of the recent mine disaster near Athens, O. We are reminded of the disaster of the British dirigible in France not long ago—a disaster which might have been avoided had the craft used helium—by the bureau's report that helium production has increased in the United States and the cost has declined.

Undesirable Aliens

Roundup of Narcotic Ring Should Speed Up Machinery of Deportation.

If the federal government is ever going to rid this country of undesirable aliens, a recent roundup by federal agents in New York City of what they believe to be a two million dollar narcotic ring ought to speed up the machinery of deportation.

This particular ring is alleged to have been distributing $50,000 worth of narcotics every week, which they smuggled in from Turkey and Greece with the aid of sailors on foreign freighters.

Of 25 prisoners taken in this raid, only nine were found to be citizens of this country. Twelve were aliens. The status of four were not ascertained. All the aliens are suspected of having entered this country illegally.

All aliens, convicted of other than capital crimes should be deported by the federal government as soon as they are sentenced. That will save the expense of their imprisonment from being paid out of the pockets of American citizens.

All aliens convicted of smuggling or peddling habit-forming drugs are the worst kind of criminals, a menace to the whole human race.

If this administration at Washington is really in earnest in this matter let it call upon the Congress next month for all the authority and money required to rid this country of all undesirable aliens as fast as they can be caught, and to register every alien as a first step to that end.

Ten Years' Growth!

By Nelson Harding

"I knew him when," recalls the Dry,
"He was afraid to bat an eye,
And was small and timid, too,
He'd run away if I said boo!"

I used to bully him around,
But now he's grown to such a size,
Discretion, for me, may be wise."

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Nipped by Prosperity

Most encouraging news is that Wall street is recovering from its last healthy reaction.

We were one of the boys who was nipped by prosperity. Something like that Georgia darky who lost $11 in a bank crash.

He had heard about banks crashing. But this was the first time one had ever blown up right in his face.

We weren't in there very strong. But once over lightly is tough enough when the barber is using pumice for lather.

A small operator is just as nervous as a big manipulator. An ant that climbs to the top of a toothpick can consider himself the Shipwreck Kelly of the insect world.

There ain't much fun building castles in the air when your broker keeps hollering for more mortar. We certainly carried many a hodful of misinformation up the ladder of mistakes.

But it's over now. It will be a lesson to us. There is only one kind of prosperity and that's the kind you work for.

There is one thing the economists haven't figured out. Looking around for the cause of that financial headache they forgot we have just finished a 15-year spree on European money. It takes a nut to tell them that.

The European money is back in Europe again. And we are once more at sea level without our water wings.

That foreign gravy started pouring in here in 1914 for powder, shells, cannon, boats, motor cars and anything that would make a noise or frighten a man.

The tide has turned and the gravy is sluicing out through the kitchen door. Fortunately, we don't need it anymore than a traffic cop requires two whistles.

Wall street is the pulse of America. We admit that we have been wearing our pulse warmers on our ankles for some time. But we're on the mend now. And even though we came out the small end of the megaphones, that's the way to meet Rudy Vallee.

We'll be back in Wall street again as sure as a cruller fits a cup of coffee.

Only this time we don't intend to use a fever chart for a road map. We are going to invest our money in a raccoon coat so big that people will think we are a forest ranger in a government bird sanctuary.

NATURE OF THE STARS

By Archibald Henderson

Among the miracles of modern science, none are more remarkable than the achievements of astrophysicists in determining the temperature and constitution of the stars.

Surely it is an amazing achievement to be able to measure, with remarkable precision, the temperature of stars, tens of hundreds of light years away from us.

Three remarkable instruments employed in these investigations are the bolometer, the radiometer and the spectroscope. The public associates the name of the late Samuel Pierpont Langley with his brilliant but ill-fated experiments with heavier-than-air flying machines. But it was Langley who invented the bolometer, the extraordinary little instrument which measures the sun's varying output of energy.

The bolometer is actually an electrical thermometer, with two hair-like ribbons of platinum, as long as one's finger nail, blackened with lamp-black, one of them fitting behind a metal plate.

As the rays of the solar spectrum fall upon the exposed one, it warms it above the temperature of its hidden neighbor. The tiny temperature difference, even if less than 1-1,000,000 degree, suffices to alter the electric current balance of which the two ribbons form parts, and a little mirror, smaller than a pinhead, is turned by the electromagnetic impulse which the current-change produces.

A tiny shaft of sunlight reflected by the mirror moves across a photographic plate, and so records the warming or cooling of the exposed ribbon of the bolometer.

There is a clockwork mechanism and a photographic plate, and the solar spectrum is moved back and forth across the sensitive wires, making a permanent record of what Langley called "solar-energy spectrum curve," or "bolograph." This record shows not only the energy of the spectrum itself, but also records heat far beyond the ends of the spectrum visible to the naked eye.

This instrument, and also another, similar one, the radiometer, have been brought to a great degree of refinement. An especially sensitive instrument was employed by Nicholls and Hull in their experiments. This instrument was capable of evaluating an amount of energy equivalent to that which would be received from a candle 20 miles distant. The bolometer measures the total energy of the solar radiation, and not merely that associated with the visible rays.

Most remarkable of all the instruments is the spectroscope. It has succeeded, for example, in telling us that there are to be found, on the sun, 66 of the elements already found upon the earth.

The spectroscope likewise gives us much valuable information about the constitution of the stars, although the problems connected with them are much more difficult because of their great distance. The rays from the stars have to travel so far that they reach us in a weakened condition.

One class of stars is given the name "helium stars," because the spectrum of helium is so conspicuous. Another class of stars is denominated "hydrogen stars," because their outer atmosphere and possibly their deeper structure as well, is filled with that element. Iron is found in many stars; and titanium, an element rare on the earth, is rather surprisingly frequent in its appearance among the stars.

Many of the largest and most brilliant stars, as Williams points out in The Great Astronomers, are of excessively tenuous structure—some of them composed of gas of such extreme rarefaction that it is the equivalent of what in the terrestrial laboratory is called a high vacuum!

-:- LISTEN, WORLD -:-

By Elsie Robinson

Sir Ellis Hume Williams, famous divorce court lawyer, of London, says that "WOMEN ARE LESS FAITHFUL THAN MEN."

This statement will probably make chivalrous American blood boil. For, according to our romantic tradition, Woman is so much purer and finer than Man that she makes any male look like a dirty deuce. And our divorce records would seem to confirm this opinion. If one believes such files, no lady is ever responsible for the wreckage of her home. It is always the man's fault—the man's cruelty, laziness, faithlessness or desertion of responsibility. Not once in a thousand times is the Missis sued or brought to bar for her shortcomings. And if she is, a few nice, wet tears will fix things pretty.

Now this may be Polite Practice, but you know as well as I that it's the Bunk. Women are quite as much to blame for divorce as men. Indeed, I suspect that we are more to blame. When a man marries he generally does so because he wants a home. That home once established, he's inclined to stick to it—given the breaks. Nor does he deserve too much credit for such "faithfulness." For, after all, domesticity cramps a man's style very little. He can be a husband and still circulate, almost as freely, as an individual. But this is not true of the woman.

Marriage DOES cramp the modern woman's style and she is apt to find it monotonous. It is no longer the only occupation open for her, as it was for her grandmother. There are hundreds of other jobs which give larger financial returns and much more leisure and excitement. Usually the bride has held such a position before marriage. She has known the stimulation of varied interests—and varied men. She exchanges this for the dull routine and confinement of housework and the constant companionship of one man. If her heels begin to itch after a few years of that program, who can blame her?

SENTIMENTAL THEORY TO THE CONTRARY, IT REQUIRES MUCH MORE SACRIFICE FOR THE MODERN WOMAN TO STICK BY HER HOME THAN IT DOES FOR THE MODERN MAN.

Many wives have sufficient love and patience to make that sacrifice—all honor to them. But many haven't. And all the pretty palavering of the divorce courts can't hide the fact that Restless Wives are raising Cain with the status quo. A restless woman automatically becomes a discontented woman—a naggy, self-pitying woman. And presently it's dollars to doughnuts that she has spotted some new male Who Understands her Better and who will give her, once more, the sense of adventure which she lost when she married.

Are women more faithless than men? And, if so, is that why they are? Think over, honestly, the marriages you know. Go thoughtfully through the hotel and movie lobbies in the afternoon and study the faces of the women over 30—the women with boredom and rebellion in their eyes and wedding rings temporarily packed in their vanity cases. What's YOUR conclusion?

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Earth Has Its Splendors

Earth h.. its splendors; every eye may dwel'
Upon cool fountains of the rising moon,
Whose sprays f light in upward glory swell
While sweet night winds their wistful music croon.

An' there are April days with silver rain,
White stars that swing above the desert sands
Who, seeing these, could not forget his pain

Foolish and futile are the ways of grief
And all who wander there pay useless toll;
As shadows, cloud-cast by the sun, are brief,
So cares should swiftly leave the shining soul.

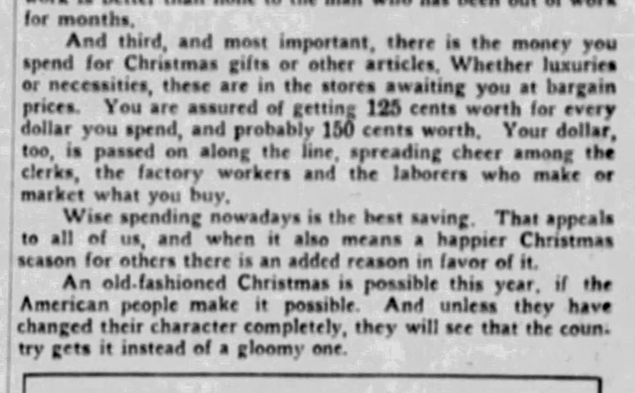
What the Country Needs

An Old-Fashioned Christmas.



Whether this shall be a Merry Christmas or a gloomy one for the United States and its people depends largely on YOU.

By "you" is meant the average man or woman, with a business or a job that pays enough to live on and a little more.

What you do at this season will settle the question, one way or the other.

First, there is charity—the sharing of a part, no matter how small, of what you have with those less fortunate. This may take the form of a cash contribution to some charitable organization or the gift of old clothes to a relief agency, or personal aid to personal acquaintances who are temporarily "up against it."

Second, there is the aid you can give by giving a job. It may be only a job for a few days, but whatever it is, it will be a welcome straw at which somebody will clutch. Even a little work is better than none to the man who has been out of work for months.

And third, and most important, there is the money you spend for Christmas gifts or other articles. Whether luxuries or necessities, these are in the stores awaiting you at bargain prices. You are assured of getting 125 cents worth for every dollar you spend, and probably 150 cents worth. Your dollar, too, is passed on along the line, spreading cheer among the clerks, the factory workers and the laborers who make or market what you buy.

Wise spending nowadays is the best saving. That appeals to all of us, and when it also means a happier Christmas season for others there is an added reason in favor of it.

An old-fashioned Christmas is possible this year, if the American people make it possible. And unless they have changed their character completely, they will see that the country gets it instead of a gloomy one.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—New York has several spectacular champ life insurance solicitors reputed to do a combined business of many millions a year. Each is an apostle of rugged action. Not perhaps in the same manner as the Northwest Mounted, but as effectually they get their man.

One is George Coxey, who specializes in angling for writers, cartoonists and figures in the sporting world. He angles for new business through a free press clipping bureau. His readers clip, file and index articles about his especial list of prospects.

Coxey rarely makes a personal or telephone call. Instead, from time to time he mails a clipping or a batch of clippings to those o list. He merely inquires if they have seen the printed matter and expresses a hope they are enjoying life. A policy is never suggested.

Yet when those favored think of insurance they naturally think of Coxey and once approached he is a dead-shot salesman. A clipping fro an obscure paper in the Orient about Tex Rickard resulted in the contact which sold a huge policy to the fight promoter.

Perhaps the most successful of all is the self-effacing—Vash Young. He is from Salt Lake City—and a desc ndant of Brigham Young—and seems to make the selling of l insurance a mere side issue to the business of helping the other fellow. Most of his time is spent befriending the friendless, yet he sells some of the biggest policies in New York.

Another hustler is Elmer G. Leterman, with an office in Times Square and a large clientele among theatrical and movie people. A few years ago he was a poorly paid city salesman with no particular ambition. Today he is one of the well-dressed men about town and a chronic first nighter.

His closest friend is A. E. Lefcourt, the millionaire builder who began life as a newsboy on Broadway and reached maturity before he could read and write. It was Lefcourt who wisely advised Leterman the way to make "important money" was to have a business of his own.

No dusky damsel has yet succeeded in taking the place of the sepia comedienne, Florence Mills. Adelaide Hall has personality and charm and so has Ethel Watters, but Florence Mills with those limpid clear eyes so incalculably remote, seems a wistful sprite coming but once to a generation.

* * *

In creek bottom of my little town were tin-shantyites we called "swamp angels." A red-eyed, pock marked and bow-legged "swamp angel" bore the poetical name of Algernon McGregor Dalila, a lesser Victorian whose job was carting away slop to hogs.

* * *

There is the spirit of the 1930 "servant mind" about the waiter of a Fifth avenue club who, dismissed, retorted: "I belong to a better club than this myself."

* * *

The swan song of a little Seventh avenue cafe is caroled in a card on its closed entrance: "Our customers do not want food any more. They only want liquor."

More horological horror. A desk clock that went completely haywire several months ago suddenly began loudly to tick today. The desk had not been joggled or the clock touched. It is all right, but if any doors begin mysteriously to open, up goes a sign: "Flat for rent cheap" and the first stop will likely be Pittsburgh.

And in a little eavesdropping today—you know, pretending to adjust a picture near the crack in the door—I heard a writing man's wife tell my wife all writers should be left completely alone for two months a year. "Leave them flat!" she counseled, and was so convincing I spent the rest of the day tip-toeing around, and have been only out of the coop once for a little air.

"Did you ever think of writing as a career? asks a letter from a writing college.

I had a whack at it, but gave it up for this.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

A word to you married persons:

What young couple are you watching as an example in your life?

Those who start out to take up life's burdens together are usually associated with other young couples who are beginning at the same time.

In choosing a course of action as homekeepers, are you entirely dependent upon what your friends do?

If you are wise, you will not spend so much time trying to find out what are the other couple's problems as you will trying to solve your own.

No two incomes are identical.

Wages or salary may be the same, but each couple is subject to aids or hindrances—drains on the income which cannot be readily estimated at first.

They can't be wise and live along, putting in the bank and letting it stay there, because Mr. So and So gave his wife, or Mrs. Some Other Name entertained her card club so lavishly. Thus savings vanish.
